Algiers Rioters Cheer Ben Bella

Army Leaders' Demonstration Call Backfires

ALGIERS (UPI)—Thousands of Algerians rioted in the capital Thursday, but later cheered as strongman Ahmed Ben Bella outlined a socialist program for putting the new country on its feet.

"Are you for the (political) bureau?" Ben Bella asked 15,000 cheering persons from a balcony overlooking Algiers Forum.

"Are you for reconversion (of the national liberation army)? Are you for order and against disorder?"

"Yes," thundered the crowd to each question. The response seemed to indicate Ben Bella was well on his way to winning the popular support he needs in his battle to bring Algeria's dissident military chiefs into line.

The riot erupted during a demonstration called by the military leaders to protest the rally scheduled by Ben Bella's Political Bureau.

There were no reports of casualties. But about 6,000 screaming, shouting Algerians were involved in the rioting.

At one point, the mob broke into the Government-General Building in the Forum, shattering its glass doors with stones.

Mohammed Khider, Ben Bella's right-hand man and secretary general of the Political Bureau, warned the crowd that Algeria was in the grip of a new crisis for power.

Then Ben Bella spoke. "We are not come to make miracles," he said. "We are in an economically very difficult situation, inherited from the past."

He outlined a program to get workers back on the job and for distributing land to the country's farmers. Each point brought enthusiastic cheers.

Berlin Rights Not Affected, Kremlin Told

Unilateral Move Doesn't End Russ Responsibilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Three refused Thursday to recognize the Communist move to replace the Soviet commandant in Berlin with an East German military chief.

In a joint declaration drafted by ambassadorial representatives in Washington, the United States, Britain and France stated:

1. Russia is still fully responsible for its obligations in Berlin established by World War II occupation agreements among the four occupying powers, and its responsibilites "cannot be abolished by the Soviet government without the consent of the three Western powers."

2. The four-power kommandatur for Berlin was established by four-power agreement and cannot lose its responsibilities because of "the announced abolition of the office of the Soviet commandant."

Allies Reaffirm Rights

3. "The United States, the United Kingdom and France will continue to exercise their full rights and discharge their full responsibilities in Berlin." The Western powers will hold Russia responsible for the consequences of any attempt to damage Western rights.

4. "Berlin remains a single city" in the Western view, despite the "illegal" Communist wall and Red "brutality" against escapees, and "no unilateral action by the Soviet government can change this."

The 600-word Allied declaration said the only way fundamental occupation responsibilities for Berlin can be ended is by a peace settlement with Germany as a whole.

No Basis For Soviet Claims

"The Soviet assertion concerning the alleged sovereignty and independence of the so - called GDR (East Germany) and the nonexistence of the four-power kommandatur is without foundation."

What practical impact the Communist move and the Western refusal to recognize it would have remained to be seen.

The Western powers have steadfastly refused to deal with the East German regime, which they do not recognize.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap made plain the United States does not intend to deal with the newly installed East German commandant in East Berlin.

East Germans Name Berlin Commander; Russ Protest Escort

By LYNN HEINZERLING

BERLIN (AP) — East German guards with machine guns shot a young railway policeman at the Communist wall Thursday night as he fled to the West. He managed to stagger 15 feet into West Berlin, then collapsed and died.

The shooting, second at the wall in six days, climaxed a day of multiple developments.

The East German regime named one of its generals to take over in East Berlin from the Soviet commandant whose job was abolished by Moscow Wednesday. The obvious Soviet intent is to force the Western Allies on a course toward dealing with the unrecognized East German regime.

The United States, Britain and France jointly served notice that Russia cannot end four-power rule of Berlin without their consent.

Latest Victim 19 Years Old

The new victim of the wall terror was said by police to be 19 years old, one year older than Peter Fechter, whose slaying by East German police last Friday touched off a wave of demonstrations that plunged Berlin into the current crisis. Fechter lay dying for nearly an hour before East German guards carried him away. West Berliners were enraged at the Communists for shooting and embittered at the Americans for failing to assist the dying youth.

Three East Berlin soldiers brought down the young railway policeman, Hans Dieter Wesar, with a bullet in the head and another in the stomach as he tried to flee over a barbed wire fence from the Bornholmerstrasse railway station where he was a guard.

West Berlin policemen heard the shots, but were hindered in finding the victim in the darkness. East soldiers extinguished all lights at the station after the shooting.

Brandt Helps Calm Crowd

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin arrived soon after the shooting and helped to quiet the crowd. It eventually dispersed.

Maj. Gen. Helmut Poppe, 35, was named by East Germany to command both army units and border guards in East Berlin.

Refusing to recognize him, the three Western powers declared that they "cannot acquiesce in any impairment of their rights or in any encroachment threatening the life of Berlin. They will consider the Soviet officials as responsible for carrying out their obligations regarding the Soviet sector of Berlin."

In the dispute over escorts, three Soviet armored cars carrying guards to the Red war memorial in West Berlin were held up for nearly four hours at

Two More Ike Aides May Face Stockpile Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two more Eisenhower administration officials—John Hay Whitney and Robert B. Anderson — may be drawn into the Senate Stockpile subcommittee's investigation of nickel contracts, a subcommittee source said Thursday.

R. C. Coburn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, said the investigators probably would conduct hearings on contracts granted firms in which the two men held interests.

Whitney was the Eisenhower administration's last ambassador to Great Britain. Anderson was treasury secretary, succeeding George M. Humphrey whose role in another nickel contract already has been under study by the subcommittee.

Involved are cases where private firms signed contracts with the government to expand the production of nickel or furnish it to the national stockpile of strategic goods. The stockpile was created to give the government enough vital ores and minerals for a war emergency.

Whitney, now editor-in-chief and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, held an interest in the Freeport Sulphur Co. which in 1957 signed a government contract to provide 271 million pounds of nickel and 28.8 million pounds of cobalt to the stockpile. At that time Whitney was ambassador to Britain.

Anderson entered the picture because he was an officer and held stock in Ventures, Inc., whose Canadian subsidiary had a nickel contract with the U.S. government. The government negotiated contracts with the subsidiary, Falconbride, Ltd., and another Canadian firm, International Nickel Co.

Space Center Workers Going Back To Jobs

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Electricians started trickling back to their jobs at the Marshall Space Flight Center Thursday, ending a walkout that has hampered the nation's moonshot program for 10 days.

"The electricians who reported for work Thursday were spread over a number of projects and it's impossible to gauge the effect in specific terms," said a spokesman for the space flight center. "But I can say this: They are effective in our efforts to resume operation."

The spokesman added: "We're certainly optimistic about our chances of being back at full force, or near it, tomorrow."

The back-to-work movement of the electricians started with the opening of Thursday's shift after two orders Wednesday, one from a federal judge telling them the work stoppage bordered on national suicide and another from the president of their union.

U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood made permanent his no-picketing order issued last week and added tougher wording in his directive to union officials.

Shortly before the judge's action Gordon Freeman, president of the AFL-CIO International brotherhood of Electrical Workers, announced in Washington he was directing members of the local to return to work. His statement came on the heels of an appeal from Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Disabled Vet Pension Hike Voted By Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate voted Thursday to increase monthly payments to disabled veterans an average of 9.4 per cent at a first-year cost of $98 million.

The bill was whisked through without opposition on a voice vote and sent to the House for action on Senate changes.

Just before the final vote, the Senate adopted an amendment by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois, making the increases retroactive to July 1, instead of going in effect two months after enactment of the law.

Senate Passes Drug Safety Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday night passed a bill to give the government increased powers to protect the public against the sale of dangerous and useless drugs.

The measure, given a high priority tag by President Kennedy, now goes to the House where committee hearings are being held on a similar bill.

The Senate passed the bill 78 to 0 after killing by a 53-28 vote an amendment offered by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., to provide for compulsory licensing of drug patents where there were price markups of 500 per cent or more.

Kefauver contended his amendment was necessary to reduce what he called the "outrageously high" prices for prescription drugs. But opponents argued it would destroy the incentive for manufacturers to invest in research for the development of new drugs.

Under the measure the Food and Drug Administration would for the first time have to pass on the effectiveness of drugs before they can be placed on the market. It now is required to approve them only for safety.

Another key provision of the measure would empower the welfare secretary to remove a drug from the market immediately when he found an imminent hazard to the public health in its continued use.

No hearing would have to be given beforehand, but the bill requires that a manufacturer be afforded an opportunity for a prompt hearing afterward.

Administrative Lapse Blamed In Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—An ousted official blames an administrative breakdown—rather than corruption—for Billie Sol Estes' success in manipulating farm aid operations to his own advantage.

Emery E. Jacobs, forced out of his Agriculture Department post because of his association with Estes, told Senate investigators Thursday that to his knowledge no one in the department was in favor of or believed in the transfer of cotton allotments in the way it was done.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee is focusing its attention on the 1961 transfer of more than 3,000 acres of cotton-acreage allotments to Estes-controlled lands in Texas. It is trying to determine whether the Texan enjoyed improper influence within the department in obtaining the allotments.

Jacobs dismissed as meaningless big talk a threat by Estes to retaliate against the Kennedy administration if the department's investigation of his deals was not dropped. Jacobs said he thought so little of it that he didn't even discuss it with Estes when he met with the Texan last October the day after the reported threat was made.

Jacobs, dismissed last April 13 from his post as deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, through his hours of direct testimony did not make any accusations against any individual in the department.

Instead, he said: "I still feel the administrative procedure in the Department of Agriculture broke down at some point, and that therein lies the story of Estes' successes."

Hercules Plant Explosion Kills Three Workers

BACCHUS, Utah (UPI)—Three men were killed Thursday when 3,000 pounds of solid fuel propellant, the type used in Minuteman and Polaris missiles, exploded accidentally.

The blast in a rocket motor "curing shed" at the Bacchus works of Hercules Powder Co., 15 miles west of Salt Lake City, rocked Salt Lake valley. Windows rattled 20 miles distant.

The three victims were taking five experimental engines, each loaded with 40 pounds of propellant, from the shed for removal to a storage area.

In the shed were other developmental engines, weighing 10 to 40 pounds, loaded with an additional 2,800 pounds of fuel.

The victims, all from nearby Utah towns, were Edwin G. Peace, 26, Layton; Stanley G. Page, 23, Camas, and Eldon R. Jacklin, 21, Lehi.

Three other men working on other assignments in the "chemical propulsion area" were slightly injured.

Attempt To Kill De Gaulle Stirs Security Check

PARIS (AP)—An agonizing reappraisal of security measures for President Charles de Gaulle was under way Thursday after a machine-gun assassination attempt — blamed on the Secret Army — that missed by a scant two inches.

There was no official comment from heads of security and intelligence departments after Wednesday night's street corner ambush of the president. But the anxiety of the man in the street was reflected by the Paris press, which asked in almost every edition Thursday: "Why was De Gaulle so lightly guarded on his drive from the Elysee Palace to an airfield in a Paris suburb?"

Submachine gunners crouching in dim twilight sprayed at least 150 .38-caliber slugs at the presidential motorcade speeding to the airfield. The lead sedan carrying De Gaulle, 71, his wife and son-in-law was hit by at least 10 bullets as the car flashed through the ambush at 80 miles an hour.

The presidential car was raked on both sides. Two tires were hit and the rear window shattered. Ballistics experts reported one bullet hole indicated a slug passed within two inches of De Gaulle's head.

JFK Tells Amvets U.S. Must Be Kept Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy told a national Amvets convention by telephone Thursday that the major goal of his administration was to protect free nations and that U.S. armed forces must be kep strong.

"In this endeavor, we must not fail," he said from Washington in remarks opening the Amvets' 18th annual meeting, due to run through Sunday.

Some 1,000 members of the group, the American Veterans of World War II and Korea, and their families heard Kennedy over an amplified circuit.

Senate Approves 'Constitution Day' As Legal Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate unanimously approved a bill Thursday which would make Sept. 17 each year a legal holiday to be known as "Constitution Day," commemorating the signing of the U.S. Constitution.

The bill which now goes to the House, was introduced by Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., who believes that no date exceeds that of Sept. 17, 1787, in its impact on the nation's growth.

If enacted, it would increase the number of legal holidays to eight.

Kennedy Voted Trade Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has voted President Kennedy another victory in his fight to keep Congress from hamstringing his efforts to woo Poland and Yugoslavia away from the Kremlin through economic means.

The committee Thursday, in its first vote on the trade bill, eliminated a House-approved section that would have required Kennedy to deny most-favored nation treatment to imports from those two Communist nations.

The action, however, was by voice vote and Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said it was tentative. It, and other changes being made in this key administration measure in the step-by-step committee work on it, will be subject to final formal votes, he said.

In wiping out the House provision, the committee voted to restore the language of present law which permits the President to accord favored-nation treatment to Communist nations if he finds it to be in the national interest.

Hoot Gibson, Early-Day Western Hero Of Films, Dies Of Cancer At Age Of 70

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cowboy star Hoot Gibson, who faced death with blazing sixguns in a generation of Western movies, died Thursday in bed, at 70, of cancer.

He had made a fortune and spent it. He had survived horse spills and plane crashes with arrogance, enjoyed fame, and suffered its loss, was married four times, and divorced thrice.

His wife of the past 21 years, Dorothy Dunstan, was at his side when he died at the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital, a home and hospital for old actors and actresses, in Woodland Hills. He had been hospitalized since Sunday.

Hoot Gibson came to Hollywood in 1910 when Hollywood was young and the West was newly won. For 10 years he made a living as a stunt man, hurling himself from galloping horses for $2.50 to $5 a fall.

Then, in 1920, he became a leading man. With Tom Mix, Ken Maynard, Buck Jones, Rex Bell, Tim McCoy and William S. Hart, Gibson was a top star on the Western ranges of the silent screen.

Gibson was a hellraiser, off-screen and on.

He had learned to ride on his father's ranch at Tekamah, Neb., where his boyhood prowess as an owl hunter earned him a lifelong nickname. His real name was Edmund Richard Gibson.

He hit Hollywood with a traveling rodeo, learned he could get $5 fo spilling a horse, and stayed. Even among the tough movie cowpokes, some of whom were old enough to remember fighting Indians, Gibson's fearlessness was legendary.

A director once asked him if he would make a particularly hazardous fall from a galloping horse for $5. Said Gibson, grinning: "Make it $10, and I'll let him kick me to death."

His career lasted longer than that of any of those of his Western contemporaries. He retired from films in 1944 after making 200 silents and 75 talkies. He tried to break into television in 1950 and failed. He tried to make a success of a big dude ranch near Las Vegas, Nev., and it failed.

Until a few years ago he was working as a greeter at Las Vegas' Last Frontier Hotel. He lived in a modest home in Las Vegas, watching television Western and complaining about inaccuracies in today's movies.

New Quakes Rock Stricken South Italy

Sixteen persons had died and more than 200 were injured in the quakes which hit the area southeast of Naples beginning late Tuesday.

FDA Warns Thalidomide Pills Still In Many Homes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Large quantities of the baby-deforming drug thalidomide still are on medicine shelves across the nation, the government warned Thursday, and families should quickly dispose of any pills they cannot identify.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said its warning was based on findings in a nationwide survey of physicians who received and distributed thalidomide for use in clinical investigation.

Of 1,168 doctors interviewed by inspectors, the FDA said, 410 had made no effort to get in touch with patients to whom they had given the drug in containers bearing only directions for use.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick, citing the danger that thalidomide might be mistaken for other drugs, said:

"People would be wise to follow the advice given by the President at his press conference two weeks ago and check their medicine cabinets. If they have medicines left over from a previous illness or any unidentified drugs, the safe thing is to dispose of them by flushing them down the toilet."

FDA investigators said they also had learned that six doctors gave thalidomide to religious groups for charitable distribution overseas. These tablets have not been tracked down so far.

To date, abnormalities have been reported in three American infants whose mothers took thalidomide during pregnancy. The drug has been ruled out as a factor in one, and the other two still are under investigation.

BACCHUS, Utah (UPI)—Three men were killed Thursday when 3,000 pounds of solid fuel propellant, the type used in Minuteman and Polaris missiles, exploded accidentally.

The blast in a rocket motor "curing shed" at the Bacchus works of Hercules Powder Co., 15 miles west of Salt Lake City, rocked Salt Lake valley. Windows rattled 20 miles distant.

The three victims were taking five experimental engines, each loaded with 40 pounds of propellant, from the shed for removal to a storage area.

In the shed were other developmental engines, weighing 10 to 40 pounds, loaded with an additional 2,800 pounds of fuel.

The victims, all from nearby Utah towns, were Edwin G. Peace, 26, Layton; Stanley G. Page, 23, Camas, and Eldon R. Jacklin, 21, Lehi.

Three other men working on other assignments in the "chemical propulsion area" were slightly injured.

Senate Approves 'Constitution Day' As Legal Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate unanimously approved a bill Thursday which would make Sept. 17 each year a legal holiday to be known as "Constitution Day," commemorating the signing of the U.S. Constitution.

The bill which now goes to the House, was introduced by Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., who believes that no date exceeds that of Sept. 17, 1787, in its impact on the nation's growth.

If enacted, it would increase the number of legal holidays to eight.

JFK Tells Amvets U.S. Must Be Kept Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy told a national Amvets convention by telephone Thursday that the major goal of his administration was to protect free nations and that U.S. armed forces must be kep strong.

"In this endeavor, we must not fail," he said from Washington in remarks opening the Amvets' 18th annual meeting, due to run through Sunday.

Some 1,000 members of the group, the American Veterans of World War II and Korea, and their families heard Kennedy over an amplified circuit.

Refugee, 19, Falls Inside West Berlin

East Germans Name Berlin Commander; Russ Protest Escort

By LYNN HEINZERLING

BERLIN (AP) — East German guards with machine guns shot a young railway policeman at the Communist wall Thursday night as he fled to the West. He managed to stagger 15 feet into West Berlin, then collapsed and died.

The shooting, second at the wall in six days, climaxed a day of multiple developments.

The East German regime named one of its generals to take over in East Berlin from the Soviet commandant whose job was abolished by Moscow Wednesday. The obvious Soviet intent is to force the Western Allies on a course toward dealing with the unrecognized East German regime.

The United States, Britain and France jointly served notice that Russia cannot end four-power rule of Berlin without their consent.

Latest Victim 19 Years Old

The new victim of the wall terror was said by police to be 19 years old, one year older than Peter Fechter, whose slaying by East German police last Friday touched off a wave of demonstrations that plunged Berlin into the current crisis. Fechter lay dying for nearly an hour before East German guards carried him away. West Berliners were enraged at the Communists for shooting and embittered at the Americans for failing to assist the dying youth.

Three East Berlin soldiers brought down the young railway policeman, Hans Dieter Wesar, with a bullet in the head and another in the stomach as he tried to flee over a barbed wire fence from the Bornholmerstrasse railway station where he was a guard.

West Berlin policemen heard the shots, but were hindered in finding the victim in the darkness. East soldiers extinguished all lights at the station after the shooting.

Brandt Helps Calm Crowd

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin arrived soon after the shooting and helped to quiet the crowd. It eventually dispersed.

Maj. Gen. Helmut Poppe, 35, was named by East Germany to command both army units and border guards in East Berlin.

Refusing to recognize him, the three Western powers declared that they "cannot acquiesce in any impairment of their rights or in any encroachment threatening the life of Berlin. They will consider the Soviet officials as responsible for carrying out their obligations regarding the Soviet sector of Berlin."

In the dispute over escorts, three Soviet armored cars carrying guards to the Red war memorial in West Berlin were held up for nearly four hours at

Kennedy Voted Trade Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has voted President Kennedy another victory in his fight to keep Congress from hamstringing his efforts to woo Poland and Yugoslavia away from the Kremlin through economic means.

The committee Thursday, in its first vote on the trade bill, eliminated a House-approved section that would have required Kennedy to deny most-favored nation treatment to imports from those two Communist nations.

The action, however, was by voice vote and Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said it was tentative. It, and other changes being made in this key administration measure in the step-by-step committee work on it, will be subject to final formal votes, he said.

In wiping out the House provision, the committee voted to restore the language of present law which permits the President to accord favored-nation treatment to Communist nations if he finds it to be in the national interest.

Hoot Gibson, Early-Day Western Hero Of Films, Dies Of Cancer At Age Of 70

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cowboy star Hoot Gibson, who faced death with blazing sixguns in a generation of Western movies, died Thursday in bed, at 70, of cancer.

He had made a fortune and spent it. He had survived horse spills and plane crashes with arrogance, enjoyed fame, and suffered its loss, was married four times, and divorced thrice.

His wife of the past 21 years, Dorothy Dunstan, was at his side when he died at the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital, a home and hospital for old actors and actresses, in Woodland Hills. He had been hospitalized since Sunday.

Hoot Gibson came to Hollywood in 1910 when Hollywood was young and the West was newly won. For 10 years he made a living as a stunt man, hurling himself from galloping horses for $2.50 to $5 a fall.

Then, in 1920, he became a leading man. With Tom Mix, Ken Maynard, Buck Jones, Rex Bell, Tim McCoy and William S. Hart, Gibson was a top star on the Western ranges of the silent screen.

Gibson was a hellraiser, off-screen and on.

He had learned to ride on his father's ranch at Tekamah, Neb., where his boyhood prowess as an owl hunter earned him a lifelong nickname. His real name was Edmund Richard Gibson.

He hit Hollywood with a traveling rodeo, learned he could get $5 fo spilling a horse, and stayed. Even among the tough movie cowpokes, some of whom were old enough to remember fighting Indians, Gibson's fearlessness was legendary.

A director once asked him if he would make a particularly hazardous fall from a galloping horse for $5. Said Gibson, grinning: "Make it $10, and I'll let him kick me to death."

His career lasted longer than that of any of those of his Western contemporaries. He retired from films in 1944 after making 200 silents and 75 talkies. He tried to break into television in 1950 and failed. He tried to make a success of a big dude ranch near Las Vegas, Nev., and it failed.

Until a few years ago he was working as a greeter at Las Vegas' Last Frontier Hotel. He lived in a modest home in Las Vegas, watching television Western and complaining about inaccuracies in today's movies.

FDA Warns Thalidomide Pills Still In Many Homes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Large quantities of the baby-deforming drug thalidomide still are on medicine shelves across the nation, the government warned Thursday, and families should quickly dispose of any pills they cannot identify.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said its warning was based on findings in a nationwide survey of physicians who received and distributed thalidomide for use in clinical investigation.

Of 1,168 doctors interviewed by inspectors, the FDA said, 410 had made no effort to get in touch with patients to whom they had given the drug in containers bearing only directions for use.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick, citing the danger that thalidomide might be mistaken for other drugs, said:

"People would be wise to follow the advice given by the President at his press conference two weeks ago and check their medicine cabinets. If they have medicines left over from a previous illness or any unidentified drugs, the safe thing is to dispose of them by flushing them down the toilet."

FDA investigators said they also had learned that six doctors gave thalidomide to religious groups for charitable distribution overseas. These tablets have not been tracked down so far.

To date, abnormalities have been reported in three American infants whose mothers took thalidomide during pregnancy. The drug has been ruled out as a factor in one, and the other two still are under investigation.

Soblen Ruling Expected Today

LONDON (AP)—Britain's attorney general told the High Court Thursday the case of Dr. Robert A. Soblen is unique in British history but the government has the power to deport him to the United States.

Justice John Stephenson expects to rule Friday on whether Soblen should be returned to New York to begin a life sentence for passing wartime secrets to the Russians.

Atty. Gen. Sir John Hobson conceded that Soblen is suffering from leukemia but told the court he is in no immediate danger of dying. The prisoner looked better than usual on this third day of the hearing.

Hobson blocked an attempt by the bail-jumping spy to have confidential exchanges between the U.S. and British governments on the case brought before the court.

Soblen's attorneys have challenged the validity of the Home Office's deportation order specifying that Soblen must go back to the United States.

But it is for Home Secretary Henry Brooke, not Soblen, to nominate the destination, the attorney general said.

If this were not so, Hobson argued, a deportee might ask to be sent to Tibet or some equally remote destination.

Soblen, 61, a phychiatrist, sat through most of Thursday's hearing showing little sign of illness. He left the court four times to rest. When the court recessed for the night he was driven back to Brixton Prison.

The psychiatrist was convicted in a New York State federal district court in August 1961. When appeals were exhausted, he jumped bail of $100,000 and fled to Israel.

Israel expelled him as an illegal immigrant. But on his way back to the United States aboard an Israeli El Al jet, Soblen slashed his abdomen and a wrist with a steak knife. He was landed at London for emergency treatment.

Gasoline Price War Over At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore area motorists are grumbling. The gasoline price war apparently has ended.

The price of gasoline, which dipped below the 18-cent per gallon level at the peak of the war, was back up to the 30-cent level Thursday.

Earlier this week, most standard brand stations in the Baltimore area sold gasoline at prices under 23 cents. Some off-brand stations were near the 20-cent mark.

The price war started last December and has waged hot and cold since that time. While past truces in the war have failed, major firms are attempting this time to maintain a normal price level by reportedly refusing to back dealers who cut prices.

Syracuse, N.Y., Paper Charged With Contempt

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The publisher of the Syracuse Post-Standard and three editors were charged Thursday with contempt of court for publishing an article, which the indictment said was "false and grossly inaccurate."

The charges, (misdemeanors,) were in indictments opened in Onondaga County Court.

Named were the publisher, Henry H. Keller; managing editor, Mario Rossi; city editor, John N. Whitney, and the news editor, Loren Bailey.

Defense attorney John Kinney was granted an opportunity to study the charges. No pleas were entered and the defendants were paroled in Kinney's custody for hearing Sept. 5.

The indictment accused the defendants of publishing July 19 "a false and grossly inaccurate report of the proceedings of Onondaga County Court."

The indictment said the story quoted a man charged in a grand jury probe of jail conditions as saying he had been beaten by Sgt. Thomas Sardino, an investigator of the district attorney's staff.

The accused man made no such accusations "in the official minutes of the proceedings," the indictment said.

The newspaper said a story which appeared in its early editions July 19 was withheld from the final edition when a question arose as to its accuracy.

On subsequent days, the newspaper said, explanatory stories appeared in all editions of the Post-Standard. In one of them, an officer whose name had figured in the original account declared, "I extend my thanks to the Post-Standard for their fairness in helping to clarify this matter."

House Stuck Two Hours On Bridge

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A house was stuck for two hours Thursday on the Alexandria approach to the Woodrow Wilson Bridge over the Potomac River.

Cranes and hydraulic jacks were used to lower it the necessary two inches so it could squeeze under the South Washington Street overpass. Meanwhile, two traffic lanes were tied up.

Before it was lowered, the house, mounted on wheels, stood 16 feet, 8 inches high. The 50-foot long and 19-foot wide Army surplus structure was being moved from Ft. Belvoir, Va., to Brandywine, Md., for conversion into an apartment.

EAL Jet Fleet Back In Service

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With all striking employes removed from the payroll, Eastern Air Lines put its entire jet fleet back into service Thursday with full-scale operation slated for Sept. 13.

In each cockpit's third seat was a pilot-engineer, a new breed of flyer trained for both jobs.

Eastern said mounting costs forbade putting three pilots and one engineer in the cockpit and combining the jobs was the solution.

As a result, the Flight Engineers International Association struck June 23, grounding the planes for weeks.

Eastern's action short-circuited the strike, although a New York flight engineers spokesman, Donald Byrne, said: "As far as we are concerned, this strike started today. It was a lockout up to now. Now the fight will really start."

Five Integrationists Request Jury Trials

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Five persons charged with trespassing or disorderly conduct after demonstrations against racial segregation asked for trials by jury Thursday.

The cases were referred to the Dorchester County Circuit Court, which will open its next term the fourth Monday of October.

The FBI meanwhile investigated, at the request of one of the five, a charge of violation of civil rights. The FBI said its report would be furnished to the Civil Rights Commission of the Justice Department.

The five were Arnold Goldwag, 24, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Nancy Makl, North Woodbury, Conn.; Enez Grubb, 19, Cambridge; Thomas Kennedy, 19, Wellesley Hills, Mass., and Allison Turaj, 24, Providence, R.I. All are white but Miss Grubb.

Railroad Rate Policy Dispute Marks Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hearing on the proposed Pennsylvania-New York Central railroad merger erupted Thursday into a labor-management dispute over rate-making policies and monopolistic price-fixing.

The principals in the lively session before two Interstate Commerce Commission examiners were Albert D. Brandon, lawyer for the AFL-CIO Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, and James W. Symes, board chairman of the Pennsylvania.

Cross-examining Symes during the fourth day of the hearings, Brandon blamed the sagging finances of the two railroads on "extremely high rate increases" set up by their managements through an industry association known as a Tariff Bureau.

"My theory is, in fact, that the cause of the eastern railroads' difficulty is the existence of the eastern railroad official territory Tariff Bureau," Brandon declared, "and I want to proceed on this line to show just how much of the difficulty of the eastern railroads is caused by monopolistic price-fixing, in effect."

Railroads are exempt from the price-fixing prohibitions of the anti-trust laws. In fact, the Interstate Commerce Commission, in line with its responsibility to see that the nation has enough transportation facilities for national defense and public necessity, is required to prevent any price competition which might knock out of business a carrier essential to defense or public need.

But Brandon, attacking the practice of freight rate agreements among eastern railroads, said it was responsibile for the loss of traffic to trucks and other competing modes of transportation.

Symes vigorously defended the Pennsylvania's post-World War II across-the-board rate boosts. He admitted that each increase usually drove some business into the hands of non-rail competitors, but said the railroad made enough on its remaining business to surive the immediate emergency necessitating the increase.

Truck Kills Insanity Case Figure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frederick C. Lynch, whose case was a landmark in Washington insanity law, died Thursday under the wheels of a truck on the St. Elizabeth's Hospital grounds.

Homicide detectives Edwin C. Copphage and John Cannon said the 45-year-old former Air Force lieutenant colonel apparently threw himself in front of the truck.

Lynch faced a hearing in district court Friday in an aftermath to his case, which went to the Supreme Court. His presence at the hearing, however, was optional.

In the Lynch case, the Supreme Court said that the District of Columbia's mandatory commitment law does not apply to defendants who disclaim the insanity defense. Lynch claimed such a defense was forced upon him in a municipal court trial.

Of all the Englishmen who drink gin... how many drink Gordon's?

Most of them. And it's been that way for years. To be blunt about it, Gordon's is England's biggest selling gin—as it is America's and the world's. Why? Probably because we have always refused to tamper with a good thing. Gordon's still harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula—conceived in London 193 years ago—so its distinctive dryness and flavour remain unchanged and unchallenged to this day. Ask for Gordon's by name at your favourite tavern and package store.

DeMolay Mother-Son Dinner Program Planned

Cumberland Chapter, Order of DeMolay formulated final plans for its first annual mother-son banquet at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

It is to be held September 12 at 6 p.m. at the Temple. Entertainment will be provided by members of McKinley Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, featuring a skit. The program is to include several vocal selections by Paul Hendrickson. A short business session will follow. Ronald Burkey is chairman for the party.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the chairman at PA 2-2226. Reservations will not be accepted after September 8. The Salisbury steak dinner will be prepared by Mrs. Dorothy Ringler.

The chapter decided to have obligation classes and examinations regularly. At the meeting a group was examined on the DeMolay obligations by Raymond Shipley. It consisted of Ronald Burkey, Charles Ridgeway, Stewart Schepacaro and Douglas Jones.

Obligation classes will be held on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

Fred Shank was congratulated on his success as chairman of the splash party which was held Saturday at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Approximately 60 young people attended. Following the swimming, there was dancing in the memorial room. Music was recorded by Paul Hendrickson and refreshments prepared by Mrs. June Burkey, Mrs. Hazel Bobo and Mrs. Margaret Thomas.

Kiss Wind Entered In State Fair

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Nierman of Cumberland again, will have an entry in the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Societies Horse Breeders' Show to be held in conjunction with the Timonium Fair.

Mrs. Susan Ryan Nierman's Kiss The Wind, registered half-Arabian yearling filly, will represent them in the show scheduled for August 29. Shown earlier this month at the Eastern All Arabian Show at Quentin, Pa., Kiss The Wind, by Crystal Voyager (Royal Crystal x Nerina) out of Helen Dear, placed second in the large weanling class last year and was presented the trophy and ribbon by Governor J. Millard Tawes.

This year all Arabian horses again will be judged on Governor's Day, each day being set aside for the different breeds of horses: August 27—4-H Showmanship Classes; Tuesday, 4-H Ponies; Wednesday, Arabian Horses; Thursday, Thoroughbred Horses and Horse Pulling Contest; Friday, Equitation Show and Horse Pulling Contest; September 1—Pony Club Games; Sunday, Showing and Fitting; Monday, Quarter Horse Show; Tuesday, Shetland Ponies; Wednesday, Welsh Ponies and Thursday, Cross-Bred Ponies.

Expansion and reconstruction of the State Fair facilities has been a major objective during the recent year with the new Farm & Garden Building and the new and expanded horse show and pony ring.

The Maryland State Fair Horse Breeders Show is an educational exhibit, and the judges will be required to give reasons for their placings over the public address system.

As in former years, the show is intended to foster the breeding of better stock of the light breeds in Maryland, and to encourage and educate the children, to acquire a thorough knowledge of breeding, showing, and horsemanship in general.

Henry A. Dentry of Lake Fanny Farms, Bel Air, has listed the following judges for this year's show: Arabians & Half-Bred Arabian, Harry Disston, Shadwell, Va.; Thoroughbreds, J. W. Dailey, Middleburg, Va.; Quarter Horses, Robert H. Battles, Wadsworth, Ohio; Ponies, Mrs. Fred Pinch, Malvern, Pa. Ringmaster will be John A. Wagner, Monkton.

Receives Word Of Membership

Ross F. Shaw of Oldtown, has received word from Prof. Wharlton M. Myers of Marion, Ohio, that he will be given an honorary membership in the Ohio State Historical Society.

Mr. Shaw said last evening that Mr. Myers, who is president of the Ohio society and a member of the Cresap Society, visited him in Oldtown recently and was impressed with the Cresap monument and the old C&O Canal, with its historic background.

Mrs. Mary R. Wilson, Oldtown, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

QUEEN CONTESTANTS — Ten girls are competing for the title of Queen in the Cresaptown Community Council Fun Festival, August 29 through September 1. Left is Jacqueline Boor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Boor, Cresaptown. She will be a junior in Allegany High School this fall. She is working as a Candy Stripe Aide at Sacred Heart Hospital. Right is Leanne Sindy, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Sindy. She will be a senior at Allegany High.

District Program Outlined

Plans for the general membership meeting of the Western District of the Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs were formulated at a committee meeting Wednesday.

The meeting is to be held October 6 at the Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick. The district includes Garrett County, Cumberland, Hagerstown and Frederick clubs.

Following a board meeting at 9:30 a. m., the general business session is to begin at 10:30 a. m. A clinic on BPW will be held at 11:30, including orientation and ideas. It will be conducted by Miss June Fishpaw, first vice president of the federation and Mrs. Helen Mason, state membership chairman.

An entertainment program is planned during the luncheon, which will be at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Evelyn Ayersman, president of the hostess club, entertained the committee at a luncheon at her home in Frederick preceding the meeting. Summer flowers, with pink roses predominating, were used in the decorations. Attending were Miss Gerardine Pritchard, Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, Cumberland; Miss Fishpaw and Mrs. Mason.

The Cumberland club members will attend a theatre party at Garrett County tomorrow. The first general meeting of the local club will be September 18.

Prizes Awarded

A prize for being the oldest member at the Joseph Sturtz reunion was awarded to Mrs. Oscar Dreyer; and the youngest to John Philip Getz. Other prizes were won by Mrs. Ethel Davis, Mrs. Daniel Sturtz and Melvin Sturtz. Approximately 30 attended.

Shower Given

A stork shower was giveen by Mrs. Charles Smith for Mrs. Norman White, Tuesday. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John Kauffman, Mrs. Earl Beal and Mrs. Kenneth Messmer.

The decorations were in pink and blue and assorted flowers. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Clark Bittinger, Mrs. Richard Bittinger, Mrs. Harold Shaner and Mrs. John Beegle.

WCTU Convention To Be Held At Cresaptown

The Allegany County Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a convention August 28 at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Miss Ina Keister will preside at the morning session which will begin at 10 o'clock.

Following group singing of a hymn, the program will include the salute to the flag, led by Miss Elizabeth Workman; Mrs. Clara Lewis will extend greetings and the response will be given by Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker. Devotions will be conducted by Rev. William Balderson, pastor of Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Appointments will be made and a few remarks will be given by Miss Keister.

Regular reports will be given by Miss Susan Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Dayton Eversole, treasurer; Mrs. John S. Cook, corresponding secretary of the county organization; Mrs. Eversole, president of the Cumberland Union; Miss Smith, Cresaptown Union; Mrs. Hazel Houdersheldt, Barton Union; and Mrs. Kathleen Deshong, Mill Run Union.

The report of the nominating committee will be given by Mrs. Frank Beachley and officers will be installed by Mrs. Melvin Lederer.

Mrs. Lederer, president of the Maryland State Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will address the group.

Following a box lunch the afternoon session will begin at 1:30 o'clock, with a hymn. Mrs. E. W. Culp will offer the devotions. Rev. William Harpold of Mount Savage Methodist Church will be guest speaker for the afternoon session, which will include special music, reports of committees, a service of remembrance by Mrs. Cook, and benediction.

Social Chart

LaVale Firemen's Auxiliary will meet at 8 tonight at the fire hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Moody and Mrs. Elda Schell will be hostesses.

An old-fashioned hymn sing will be held at Murley's Branch Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

The Staff Social Club of Manhattan Temple will meet at 6 tonight at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Wotring, Christie Road, for a picnic dinner.

Mrs. A. M. Clark and daughter have returned from a vacation at the Outer Banks of North Carolina.

Bride-Elect Entertained At Shower

A miscellaneous shower and pre-nuptial party was given in honor of Miss Patricia Marie Griffin, fiancee of Francis Anthony Niland. It was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Goebli, 432 Arch Street.

Miss Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon B. Griffin ,19 Wempe Drive, will become the bride of Mr. Niland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Niland, 1301 Michigan Avenue, tomorrow. The wedding ceremony is to be performed at 11 a. m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Father Mitchell officiating.

The bride-elect is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and Frostburg State Teachers College in secondary education, majoring in biological science. Her fiance is a graduate of LaSalle High School and is attending Frostburg State Teachers College, majoring in geography.

The shower was held on the lawn with a lavender and white decor. The table was centered with a pink and white cake, and a buffet lunch was served.

Attending were Mrs. Tina Gobeli, Mrs. Melvin Brehm, Miss Bernice Mullennex, Mrs. Fred Armbruster, Anne Armbruster, Monica Armbruster, Mrs. Robert Pancake, Susan Pancake, Michaelle Pancake, Miss Constance Brehm, Mrs. George Griffin, Mrs. John Rhoe, Mrs. Edward McMahon, Miss Mary Niland, Mrs. Ernest Bucklew, Mrs. James Williams, Elaine Williams, Mrs. Gordon Griffin, Mrs. Joseph Griffin, Miss Judy Niland, and Mrs. Leo Niland.

Miss Gerardine Pritchard and Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, LaVale, leave today to spend the weekend with their brother, Edward T. Pritchard, in Cleveland.

Mrs. Catherine Kilroy has returned to her home, 424 North Centre Street, after being a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital for eight days, following a fall at her home.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♥

Declarer's approach suffered from a lack of the delicate touch in today's hand, and the defenders were quick to follow the line of attack he so clearly indicated to them.

After two passes, South chose to open the bidding with four spades. There was little advantage to be gained by opening with a one bid, since partner's original pass virtually ruled out any chance for slam, and all that was required for a game were a few fitting cards in North's hand.

West opened the queen of hearts which was taken by dummy's ace as declarer hastened to dispose of a losing club from his hand. The nine of spades was led and permitted to ride for a finesse. West won the trick with the trump king and, since South had apparently revealed his weak spot by his discard at trick one, West promptly shifted to the queen of clubs. This was covered by the king and ace, and East continued the suit until declarer ruffed in on the third round. The defense now had their book—two club tricks and one spade — and, when the diamond finesse failed subsequently, the contract was defeated by one trick.

South failed to give himself the best psychological advantage by his play to the initial trick. He should have discarded a small diamond from his hand instead of the club. Since a discard is usually made from weakness in a suit, and West actually did hasten to shift to a club when he regained the lead, declarer at little extra cost would have been better advised to steer his opponent down the wrong path.

Suppose that South discards a diamond at trick one. Now when West is in, if he returns a diamond into declarer's king jack, South will eventually be able to take a club discard on the dummy's ace of diamonds. That way he will lose only two clubs and one spade. West should actually exit with a heart when he is in, since there is no pressing need for any shift, but the psychological lure of declarer's discard is often irresistible and South might just as well have availed himself of this opportunity.

Holiday Candle Demonstration

The North Cumberland Homemakers Club will present a demonstration on making holiday candles from beeswax at the Cumberland Fair today. They will be rolled and decorated with sequins from 5 until 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Honora Burkey is chairman of the demonstration team. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mae Alma Margherita and Mrs. Lulu Arnold.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been crying all morning and can hardly see through the tears to write this letter. Please tell me who is wrong.

My husband's sister lives in another state. She has four children and a husband who likes liquor more than he likes his family. As a result of his drinking he is out of work a great deal. When he is working he spends everything in the bars. His wife actually supports the family.

Their children, who are a few years younger than ours, are good youngsters and it hurts me to see them looking so shabby. Two weeks ago I packed up a big box of clothing which my children had outgrown. With a little mending and laundering there's still plenty of wear left in the clothes.

This morning I received the box which my sister-in-law returned with a note saying, "Thank you for your kindness but we don't need these things."

I feel as if I've been slapped across the face. What is your opinion?—MEANT WELL

DEAR MEANT WELL: Your sister-in-law had the same feeling. I suspect the clothing you sent was soiled and torn. This undoubtedly offended the woman — and with good reason.

I'm sure you meant to be kind, but sending used clothing to relatives is a ticklish business at best. From now on, see nothing, say nothing and send nothing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This problem is not of world-shattering importance—but——

Four years ago a charming couple of middle age moved to this community. They have a 24-year-old daughter who goes everywhere with her parents.

Naturally, at first we reasoned the daughter might be lonely so nothing was said. After four years we feel it's time she made friends her own age. Too many people have invited the parents to dinner and at the last moment had to add a place-setting at the table.

Last Saturday night we had a dinner party. It was not formal but the women all wore dark chiffon and printed silk dresses. This girl came with her parents (as usual) wearing stretch pants and a pongee shirt. My husband was furious. He took me aside and said "This is the last time we're having that girl in this house."

Do you feel I should tell her mother when we invite her and her husband in the future that the daughter is not included?—M. K.

DEAR M. K.: I see no reason for you to put up with a 24-year-old fifth wheel. It's sad that the young woman doesn't have friends of her own. Perhaps if her parents didn't drag her along she'd cultivate some acquaintances. By all means tell the woman that the invitation is for couples only and does not include their daughter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm going with a man who has had a terrible time getting free of his wife. The divorce is still not final, but his lawyers say it won't be long because she has exhausted every legal effort to block it.

Would it be in poor taste to accept his diamond ring now? So far as I am concerned the ring is just a symbol of an approaching marriage that will come as a surprise to nobody.—TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED: A man whose divorce has not come through is still married. If you want to wear a diamond ring which symbolizes your engagement to a married man go ahead, but it will make you look like a fool — and a fool, moreover, who has no sense of propriety.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Mary Mallozzi is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

AL Mixed Bowling League To Hold Banquet Dec. 8

Teams were chosen and a date was selected for the mid-year banquet at the reorganization meeting of the American Legion Mixed Bowling League, which was held Monday evening at the Legion home.

Philmore Fleming conducted the meeting. A routine report was given by William Conn. Several changes were made in the by-laws. It was decided to begin bowling September 10 at 7 p. m. sharp at the Savoy. The mid-year banquet will be held December 8.

Names of the teams were retained. They are Buck Privates, Corporals, Sergeants, Lieutenants, Captains and Yard Birds.

Other officers serving with Mr. Fleming are Mrs. Ovelia Walker, vice president; Mr. Conn, secretary; Mrs. Mae Biller, treasurer and Mrs. Emma Reed, publicity chairman.

There will be six teams in the league. They are first, Herman Zembower, Aubrey Webb, Mrs. Roberta Conn, Mrs. Patricia Fleming, Mrs. Ruth Dye; second, Harry Grove, Fred Bloom, Mrs. Violet Karns, Mrs. Jean Hardinger, Mrs. Walker; third, Mr. Conn, Guy Shaffer, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Bernadine Grove, Mrs. Biller; fourth, Joseph Shives, Mrs. Constance Dye, Mrs. Mary Zembower, Mrs. Mary Edmiston, Mrs. Shirley Lashley; fifth, Richard Reed, Mr. Fleming, Mrs. Eleanora Lakin, Mrs. Wilma Norris, Mrs. Jeanette Beal; and sixth, Thomas Hardinger, Roger Norris, Mrs. Dorothy Shaffer, Mrs. Mary Welsh and Mrs. Bessie Bloom.

Hymn Sing To Be Held Sunday

The Women's Society of World Service of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church will hold its annual "Hymn Sing" Sunday evening. It will be at the church, beginning at 7:30.

Beginning with a devotional period, the program will consist of congregational singing and special numbers by the choirs of Frist Evangelical United Brethren Church and Calvary Church.

Also there will be solos by members of First and Calvary churches; duet and group singing by members of Bethel EUB, Cumberland; and a quartet from Mt. Zion EUB, Berkeley Springs.

Eugene Myers will conduct the congregational singing. Mrs. Wayne Brady will play the organ music and Mrs. Charles Whitacre, the piano. Mrs. Herbert Richards will be the leader.

Everyone is invited.

Redmen Award Prizes

Dancing, games and contests featured the entertainment at the family picnic of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Redmen, and Algonquin Council No. 54, Degree of Pocahontas, held Sunday at the Ali Ghan Shrine picnic grounds.

Music for the dancing was by Mr. and Mrs. Rythm.

Approximately 150 members and guests attended.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers
For A Welcome Return, Learn To Say Good-Bye

The last impression another person has of you is the one he'll keep until you meet again.

As you leave, take a proffered hand, express appreciation, say goodbye and mean it. Then go. No loitering at this point, and no afterthoughts. A person who was very interested in you up to now can lose interest during long, drawn-out last minute trivialities. Make it a graceful, clean-cut parting, and the chances are good that a lively interest will remain.

Remember that the word "good-bye" itself has a special dignity. It's a contraction of "God be with you." Use this meaningful word as it should be used. Say it clearly and look directly at the other person as you say it. After this, an immediate and dignified exit.

If you are a career girl, think of the importance of this advice as it affects your relations with others in business. Suppose you are interviewed for a job you want very much. You've carefully chosen the right clothes for the occasion. You answer the prospective employer's questions correctly and with confidence.

Don't take a chance now, whatever you do, when prospects of success look so bright. Don't spoil the impression you've made by faltering at exactly the wrong time. Make your exit as graceful and sure as your entrance.

The courtesy of a brief leave-taking is certainly deserved by all who invite you to their homes, whether for the big party of the season or for a neighborly table of bridge. Blow-by-blow post-mortems on the doorstep aren't fair while the host and hostess shiver in the doorway, nor is it right that the clock uselessly steals minutes from their sleep the next morning.

Make that last impression as sharp as the first and the thought that lingers is a hope that you'll come back—and soon.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press

How doctors feel about their own careers, hay fever, and synthetic suntan are medical topics this week.

Career Satisfaction

Are all general practitioners specialists happy in their chosen career? A survey published by Medical Economics shows the vast majority are satisfied with their profession of medicine. But when it comes to their own specialty, the happiness curve drops —sometimes sharply.

Psychiatrists are the most satisfied lot. Ninety-three per cent of them are happy to be in medicine and 85 per cent are satisfied with the specialty they selected.

At the bottom are pediatricians, the specialists who handle child and infant illnesses. Eighty-seven per cent of them are happy to be medical doctors but only 63 per cent are satisfied with their specialty.

Many hay fever sufferers have discovered that their miseries cannot always be measured by the pollen count. Dr. James A. McLean, an internist at the University of Michigan medical center, thinks he knows why.

Counts are made by "catching" the number of pollen grains that stick to a glycerine-coated glass slide in 24 hours.

But McLean says the number of grains that get stuck vary with wind speed and direction. More important, he says, each person's symptoms are influenced by such things as damp weather, sudden temperature changes, food reactions and emotional tone.

Finally, he concludes, pollen counts are 24 hours late.

Synthetic Suntan

Drinking large amounts of carrot juice might not sharpen your vision, but it will give you a synthetic suntan.

Two medical investigators reported finding the condition in two patients seen on the same day in a private hospital.

Both complained of poor eyesight and both admitted they drank from 1½ pints to 2 quarts of carrot juice daily for several years in the belief it would sharpen their vision. Writing in the Archives of Ophthalmology, the doctors said the yellow and somewhat orange color extended over the patients' entire bodies, even to the soles of the feet. Their color became normal when they quit drinking carrot juice.

State motto of California is "Eureka" from the Greek meaning "I have found it."

The first U.S. census, in 1790, showed Virginia to be the most populous state, with 747,160 inhabitants.

Small Predicts He'll Win Three Largest Counties

BALTIMORE (AP) — Republican candidate Frank Small Jr. confidently claimed Thursday that Maryland's three largest counties, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Baltimore, will give him majorities for governor Nov. 6.

"I haven't toured Baltimore City yet," he said, "but everywhere else I've campaigned I'm amazed at the voluntary expression of people that they're fed up with the Democratic administration of Gov. Tawes."

Small held an impromptu news conference on Charles Street outside Republican state campaign headquarters, which opened Thursday. Edward I. Miller, GOP candidate for U.S. Senate, and several city and congressional candidates also attended.

Small will make his first Baltimore tour Saturday. In the meantime, he said he took heart from a recent day's registration of new voters in the predominantly Democratic city. He said that 68 voters registered Republican, only four less than Democrat.

Small said his main criticism of Gov. Tawes will be "a lack of leadership, a lack of business coordination."

One specific, he said, will be road building. He recalled that when he recently criticized highway progress, Tawes replied it had been "his best achievement."

"It may be true that it's his best," retorted Small, 'But if so, it's only because the others are terrible."

Questioned about the announced break between Gov. Tawes and Jack Pollack, Baltimore Democratic leader, Small said "I predict they'll kiss and make up again if they find it interesting enough for each other."

$6 Million For Maryland Park Projects Asked

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Forests and Parks asked for $6,040,000 Thursday to purchase new land and develop the Maryland park system.

Joseph F. Kaylor, state director of forests and parks, and a member of the parks master plan committee, laid the program for fiscal 1964 before state planners.

The funds would pay for 49 separate projects. The proposals will be sent to the General Assembly next January after study by planners and Gov. Tawes.

Largest single request was $1,500,000 for Gunpowder River Valley Park in Baltimore and Harford counties. A $250,000 allocation also was sought for beach protection along the nine miles of land the state hopes to acquire on Assateague Island.

A $600,000 request would buy new land at Patapsco State Park in Baltimore, Howard and Carroll counties and complete a $2,450,000 project there.

Major land purchases are planned for:

Patuxent Park, $500,000; Sandy Point, $100,000; Seneca Creek, $250,000; Rocky Gap; $100,000; $10,000; Elk Neck, $125,000; Smallwood, $150,000.

Development projects have been earmarked in: Shads Landing, $150,000; Greenbrier, $325,000; Susquehanna, $150,000; Elk Neck, $115,000; and Rocks, $150,000.

Valle Says Tawes, Finan Violate Ethics

BALTIMORE (AP) — Francis J. Valle, embattled figurehead in a Democratic split over state's attorney for Baltimore city, struck back Thursday at Gov. Tawes and others for what he called a serious breach of ethics.

Valle said the governor, Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and other Democrats violated the legal code of ethics by commenting upon his nomination while a court case challenging it was pending.

Valle said his reference to the governor referred to his directive to Finan to nullify Valle's apparent nomination by 10 members of the city's Democratic State Central Committee last week.

Since then, two of the voting members have been indicted and three suits challenging the nomination are to be heard next Tuesday.

Jack Pollack, controversial Democratic leader, has been named as engineer of the attempt to name Valle the Democratic candidate for state's attorney to replace Saul A. Harris who died. Pollack supported Valle against Harris who won the nomination in the May primary.

William J. O'Donnell was sworn in Thursday to serve the remaining four months of Harris' term. He was named by the judges of the Supreme Bench.

Gov. Tawes praised O'Donnell's appointment. Former allies of Pollack who have proclaimed their independence in the 5th District urged Valle to withdraw and allow O'Donnell to be nominated. Mayor J. Harold Grady expressed the same feeling.

But Valle stood firm. He issued a statement in which he referred to "our esteemed governor," "our distinguished attorney general," and "my devoted friends of the 5th District."

He said they all violated or failed to observe the bar association's canon of ethics "when they expressed their opinions about a case actually in court."

He called the attitude of the governor and attorney general, both Democrats seeking re-election, "A course of action that the end justifies the means, no matter the means."

Sailor Drowns In Boat Mishap

GRASONVILLE, Md. (AP) — The body of a 26-year-old Coast Guardsman who disappeared in shallow water during a salvage operation in Eastern Bay was recovered Thursday.

The Coast Guard identified the drowned sailor as Stelton B. Herman, engineer second class, of Baltimore.

He disappeared about 3:30 a.m. Thursday after jumping over the side of the grounded 40-foot cabin cruiser Gigi to check damages that were causing the boat to take water.

Herman and another crew member had been pumping water out of the boat, which ran aground off the mouth of Shipping Creek on the Eastern Shore of Kent Island in Chesapeake Bay.

Polluted Well Notices Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Montgomery County conducted tests which showed some families in one area were drinking from polluted wells but did not inform the persons involved for eight weeks, the Washington Evening Star said Thursday.

The Star reported that the tests on wells in the Concord subdivision of Potomac, Md., were conducted on May 2 and it was not until June 26 that the homeowner whose well was most dangerously contaminated learned of the results.

It was still later, the Star said, before the full findings of the tests became known to all the families who had been unaware of what type water they had been drinking.

The newspaper said R. J. Koch, director of the county sanitation department, made this comment after being shown a draft of the story:

"I get a picture (from the story) of utter negligence, that we just don't give a damn about these people. That simply is not true. I don't think there is anything particularly untrue about these delays (in warning families with unsafe wells). Someone just didn't get on it and call them right away."

The Star said the tests disclosed that of 26 wells examined, six were fouled with human or animal wastes and that all but one contained detergent — a sign of seepage from a sewer system.

Stranded—and not a soul in sight. Read the 10 tips from Shell, below. They could help you avoid getting stuck in the middle of nowhere.

Shell suggests 10 ways to reduce your chances of getting stranded when you're miles from help

1. Make your own roadside emergency kit and always carry it in your trunk. It could save you a lot of trouble someday. Your kit should include: a spare fan belt, a strong tow rope, a gallon can of water, a flashlight with extra batteries, pliers screwdriver, and several wrenches.

2. Check both your spare tire and jack. A flat tire is usually more annoying than serious. But it can leave you stranded if your spare is flat or your jack doesn't work. So always have the air pressure in your spare checked at the same time as the rest of your tires. And make sure your jack is in good working order.

3. Find out where your car fuses are located. Your car has fuses that do the same job as the ones in your home. And they're just as easy to replace if you know where to find them. So have your Shell dealer show you where each fuse is. And carry extra fuses in your glove compartment.

4. Hide a spare ignition key in your car. If you've ever lost your keys in the back country, you know how important this is. Be sure that everyone who drives your car knows where the extra key is hidden.

5. Check for the three troubles that cause nearly half of all breakdowns. The American Automobile Association reports that tires, weak batteries, and faulty electrical systems account for 45 percent of all car breakdowns. So have your Shell dealer check all three frequently.

6. Don't plow through water. Here's a good rule to follow. If there's the slightest chance that the water is deep enough to reach your tailpipe, turn your car around and look for an alternate route. This may take you a few miles out of your way, but it's better than stalling in water.

EXTREMELY IMPORTANT: Test your brakes after driving through water. Even a few inches of water can cause temporary brake failure. If this happens, drive with extreme caution until the brake linings dry.

7. Don't let your gas tank get below half full in lonely country. Americans ran out of gas more than 2 million times last year. If you know you'll be driving in a remote area, fill up before you get to it. And check your gas gauge regularly in isolated country. It can be a long way between service stations.

8. Try these tips if a stuck wheel nut keeps you from changing a tire.

a) Make sure you're turning the lug wrench the right way. Some cars have right-hand threads. Others have left-hand threads. And they're not always clearly marked.

b) Give a stuck nut a few sharp raps with a hammer or rock. (Be careful not to hit any exposed lug threads). Then try the wrench again. If the nut still refuses to budge, try turning the wrench with a sudden snapping motion.

9. Try "rocking out" when you're stuck in mud or sand. Put the car in reverse and apply power gently. As soon as the wheels start to spin, reduce power and shift into forward gear. Ease forward until the wheels spin again. With each back and forth rock, your car should go a little further—until you're out of trouble.

10. If "rocking out" doesn't work, build a pathway of sticks. Place sticks or branches in front of and under the rear wheels. Start the car forward slowly, and gradually increase speed. By the time you reach the end of your path, you should have enough momentum to carry you forward.

Mr. T. A. Melton, Jr., of Hollidaysburg, Pa. (above) — saved and regrew his hair in only a few months with the exclusive home method. He has gained a new confidence and self-assurance, thanks to the know-how and experience of his consultant. Person shown above did not have male pattern baldness.

will be in...(3)...tomorrow,...(6)...only

Results guaranteed by the Ebb organization. We don't ask you to take our word. You will be given a written guarantee from the beginning to end.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Ebb method nor any other method is effective, and the Ebb method will not help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

If your scalp is still creating hair and you have dandruff, or excessive hair fall, excessive oiliness, dryness, or itchy scalp, you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

It costs you nothing to come in and learn how many people have been helped. Just go to the Algonquin Hotel in Cumberland, Md., on Saturday, August 25 only, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for J. L. Thomas. Interviews are given in private. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way.

DeMolay Mother-Son Dinner Program Planned

Cumberland Chapter, Order of DeMolay formulated final plans for its first annual mother-son banquet at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

It is to be held September 12 at 6 p.m. at the Temple. Entertainment will be provided by members of McKinley Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, featuring a skit. The program is to include several vocal selections by Paul Hendrickson. A short business session will follow. Ronald Burkey is chairman for the party.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the chairman at PA 2-2226. Reservations will not be accepted after September 8. The Salisbury steak dinner will be prepared by Mrs. Dorothy Ringler.

The chapter decided to have obligation classes and examinations regularly. At the meeting a group was examined on the DeMolay obligations by Raymond Shipley. It consisted of Ronald Burkey, Charles Ridgeway, Stewart Schepacaro and Douglas Jones.

Obligation classes will be held on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

Fred Shank was congratulated on his success as chairman of the splash party which was held Saturday at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Approximately 60 young people attended. Following the swimming, there was dancing in the memorial room. Music was recorded by Paul Hendrickson and refreshments prepared by Mrs. June Burkey, Mrs. Hazel Bobo and Mrs. Margaret Thomas.

Kiss Wind Entered In State Fair

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Nierman of Cumberland again, will have an entry in the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Societies Horse Breeders' Show to be held in conjunction with the Timonium Fair.

Mrs. Susan Ryan Nierman's Kiss The Wind, registered half-Arabian yearling filly, will represent them in the show scheduled for August 29. Shown earlier this month at the Eastern All Arabian Show at Quentin, Pa., Kiss The Wind, by Crystal Voyager (Royal Crystal x Nerina) out of Helen Dear, placed second in the large weanling class last year and was presented the trophy and ribbon by Governor J. Millard Tawes.

This year all Arabian horses again will be judged on Governor's Day, each day being set aside for the different breeds of horses: August 27—4-H Showmanship Classes; Tuesday, 4-H Ponies; Wednesday, Arabian Horses; Thursday, Thoroughbred Horses and Horse Pulling Contest; Friday, Equitation Show and Horse Pulling Contest; September 1—Pony Club Games; Sunday, Showing and Fitting; Monday, Quarter Horse Show; Tuesday, Shetland Ponies; Wednesday, Welsh Ponies and Thursday, Cross-Bred Ponies.

Expansion and reconstruction of the State Fair facilities has been a major objective during the recent year with the new Farm & Garden Building and the new and expanded horse show and pony ring.

The Maryland State Fair Horse Breeders Show is an educational exhibit, and the judges will be required to give reasons for their placings over the public address system.

As in former years, the show is intended to foster the breeding of better stock of the light breeds in Maryland, and to encourage and educate the children, to acquire a thorough knowledge of breeding, showing, and horsemanship in general.

Henry A. Dentry of Lake Fanny Farms, Bel Air, has listed the following judges for this year's show: Arabians & Half-Bred Arabian, Harry Disston, Shadwell, Va.; Thoroughbreds, J. W. Dailey, Middleburg, Va.; Quarter Horses, Robert H. Battles, Wadsworth, Ohio; Ponies, Mrs. Fred Pinch, Malvern, Pa. Ringmaster will be John A. Wagner, Monkton.

Shower Given

A stork shower was giveen by Mrs. Charles Smith for Mrs. Norman White, Tuesday. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John Kauffman, Mrs. Earl Beal and Mrs. Kenneth Messmer.

The decorations were in pink and blue and assorted flowers. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Clark Bittinger, Mrs. Richard Bittinger, Mrs. Harold Shaner and Mrs. John Beegle.

Receives Word Of Membership

Ross F. Shaw of Oldtown, has received word from Prof. Wharlton M. Myers of Marion, Ohio, that he will be given an honorary membership in the Ohio State Historical Society.

Mr. Shaw said last evening that Mr. Myers, who is president of the Ohio society and a member of the Cresap Society, visited him in Oldtown recently and was impressed with the Cresap monument and the old C&O Canal, with its historic background.

Mrs. Mary R. Wilson, Oldtown, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been crying all morning and can hardly see through the tears to write this letter. Please tell me who is wrong.

My husband's sister lives in another state. She has four children and a husband who likes liquor more than he likes his family. As a result of his drinking he is out of work a great deal. When he is working he spends everything in the bars. His wife actually supports the family.

Their children, who are a few years younger than ours, are good youngsters and it hurts me to see them looking so shabby. Two weeks ago I packed up a big box of clothing which my children had outgrown. With a little mending and laundering there's still plenty of wear left in the clothes.

This morning I received the box which my sister-in-law returned with a note saying, "Thank you for your kindness but we don't need these things."

I feel as if I've been slapped across the face. What is your opinion?—MEANT WELL

DEAR MEANT WELL: Your sister-in-law had the same feeling. I suspect the clothing you sent was soiled and torn. This undoubtedly offended the woman — and with good reason.

I'm sure you meant to be kind, but sending used clothing to relatives is a ticklish business at best. From now on, see nothing, say nothing and send nothing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This problem is not of world-shattering importance—but——

Four years ago a charming couple of middle age moved to this community. They have a 24-year-old daughter who goes everywhere with her parents.

Naturally, at first we reasoned the daughter might be lonely so nothing was said. After four years we feel it's time she made friends her own age. Too many people have invited the parents to dinner and at the last moment had to add a place-setting at the table.

Last Saturday night we had a dinner party. It was not formal but the women all wore dark chiffon and printed silk dresses. This girl came with her parents (as usual) wearing stretch pants and a pongee shirt. My husband was furious. He took me aside and said "This is the last time we're having that girl in this house."

Do you feel I should tell her mother when we invite her and her husband in the future that the daughter is not included?—M. K.

DEAR M. K.: I see no reason for you to put up with a 24-year-old fifth wheel. It's sad that the young woman doesn't have friends of her own. Perhaps if her parents didn't drag her along she'd cultivate some acquaintances. By all means tell the woman that the invitation is for couples only and does not include their daughter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm going with a man who has had a terrible time getting free of his wife. The divorce is still not final, but his lawyers say it won't be long because she has exhausted every legal effort to block it.

Would it be in poor taste to accept his diamond ring now? So far as I am concerned the ring is just a symbol of an approaching marriage that will come as a surprise to nobody.—TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED: A man whose divorce has not come through is still married. If you want to wear a diamond ring which symbolizes your engagement to a married man go ahead, but it will make you look like a fool — and a fool, moreover, who has no sense of propriety.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For A Welcome Return, Learn To Say Good-Bye

The last impression another person has of you is the one he'll keep until you meet again.

As you leave, take a proffered hand, express appreciation, say goodbye and mean it. Then go. No loitering at this point, and no afterthoughts. A person who was very interested in you up to now can lose interest during long, drawn-out last minute trivialities. Make it a graceful, clean-cut parting, and the chances are good that a lively interest will remain.

Remember that the word "good-bye" itself has a special dignity. It's a contraction of "God be with you." Use this meaningful word as it should be used. Say it clearly and look directly at the other person as you say it. After this, an immediate and dignified exit.

If you are a career girl, think of the importance of this advice as it affects your relations with others in business. Suppose you are interviewed for a job you want very much. You've carefully chosen the right clothes for the occasion. You answer the prospective employer's questions correctly and with confidence.

Don't take a chance now, whatever you do, when prospects of success look so bright. Don't spoil the impression you've made by faltering at exactly the wrong time. Make your exit as graceful and sure as your entrance.

The courtesy of a brief leave-taking is certainly deserved by all who invite you to their homes, whether for the big party of the season or for a neighborly table of bridge. Blow-by-blow post-mortems on the doorstep aren't fair while the host and hostess shiver in the doorway, nor is it right that the clock uselessly steals minutes from their sleep the next morning.

Make that last impression as sharp as the first and the thought that lingers is a hope that you'll come back—and soon.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♥

Declarer's approach suffered from a lack of the delicate touch in today's hand, and the defenders were quick to follow the line of attack he so clearly indicated to them.

After two passes, South chose to open the bidding with four spades. There was little advantage to be gained by opening with a one bid, since partner's original pass virtually ruled out any chance for slam, and all that was required for a game were a few fitting cards in North's hand.

West opened the queen of hearts which was taken by dummy's ace as declarer hastened to dispose of a losing club from his hand. The nine of spades was led and permitted to ride for a finesse. West won the trick with the trump king and, since South had apparently revealed his weak spot by his discard at trick one, West promptly shifted to the queen of clubs. This was covered by the king and ace, and East continued the suit until declarer ruffed in on the third round. The defense now had their book—two club tricks and one spade — and, when the diamond finesse failed subsequently, the contract was defeated by one trick.

South failed to give himself the best psychological advantage by his play to the initial trick. He should have discarded a small diamond from his hand instead of the club. Since a discard is usually made from weakness in a suit, and West actually did hasten to shift to a club when he regained the lead, declarer at little extra cost would have been better advised to steer his opponent down the wrong path.

Suppose that South discards a diamond at trick one. Now when West is in, if he returns a diamond into declarer's king jack, South will eventually be able to take a club discard on the dummy's ace of diamonds. That way he will lose only two clubs and one spade. West should actually exit with a heart when he is in, since there is no pressing need for any shift, but the psychological lure of declarer's discard is often irresistible and South might just as well have availed himself of this opportunity.

France Makes Plans To Join Space Race

PARIS (UPI)—France plans to join the space race, the government announced Wednesday night.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte said France is scheduled to place a 150-pound satellite in orbit in March, 1965. It will be followed shortly by others three and four times as large, he said.

The announcement was made after a cabinet meeting presided over by President Charles de Gaulle.

Peyrefitte gave no further details. This was the first official announcement that France has decided to join the other great powers in the space race.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—MEMO TO SECRETARIES:

Don't resign if the boss strikes you as the nervous type. Ditto—If he's hard to get along with or procrastinates.

Just sharpen up on the latest techniques in personal relations in the office.

Bessie Mae Miller urges secretaries with such troubles to tune in the latest strategies leading to peaceful coexistence on the office front.

The author of the "Better Secretaries Series" (Prentice - Hall), Miss Miller deals with the difficult bosses in a new booklet—"Better Personal Relations in the Office."

Tips on dealing with such a "constantly nervous" boss:

—Make a special effort to be calm; never become irritated by his manner because nine times out of ten it will have nothing to do with you.

—Have everything at your fingertips. The impatient man does not want to be kept waiting.

—Do any task he assigns you immediately, even though you know it will not be required until next week or two weeks later.

The second type of problem boss, according to Miss Miller, is the one who is hard to get along with most of the time.

"A quiet sense of humor will help," she advises secretaries employed by such a boss. "But be careful to see humor in the situation, not the man."

Other advice:

—For really desperate cases, write down the traits of the boss that irritate you. Decide what you can do to rationalize and make yourself feel better about them.

—Realize, for example, that the man who constantly screams at everyone or constantly uses profanity may consider that a normal method of speech. Perhaps he means less by it than someone else. . .might mean by a cold stare.

—Whatever traits annoy you are only part of the whole man. Realize that he would not have reached an executive position without ability of some kind.

The employer who procastrinates, meanwhile, consistently begins work late in the day and then wants his secretary to stay to finish it.

The course of secretary action Miss Miller suggests:

"Keep track of the times you have had to stay late and then wait for your opportunity to discuss the matter with your employer.

"Ask him if he sees any solution!"

Boy Going Home

BAYSHORE, N.Y. (UPI) — Three-year-old Stephen Papol, who was lost for three days in a heavily wooded section of Long Island, probably will go home Friday, a spokesman at Southside Hospital said Thursday. The boy, who became lost in Heckscher State Park Sunday while on an outing with his family, was taken to the hospital suffering from exposure and hunger after he was found lying in underbrush in the park Wednesday.

Mrs. Montell Madden returned to Lakewood, Ohio, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Murphy.

Small Predicts He'll Win Three Largest Counties

BALTIMORE (AP) — Republican candidate Frank Small Jr. confidently claimed Thursday that Maryland's three largest counties, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Baltimore, will give him majorities for governor Nov. 6.

"I haven't toured Baltimore City yet," he said, "but everywhere else I've campaigned I'm amazed at the voluntary expression of people that they're fed up with the Democratic administration of Gov. Tawes."

Small held an impromptu news conference on Charles Street outside Republican state campaign headquarters, which opened Thursday. Edward I. Miller, GOP candidate for U.S. Senate, and several city and congressional candidates also attended.

Small will make his first Baltimore tour Saturday. In the meantime, he said he took heart from a recent day's registration of new voters in the predominantly Democratic city. He said that 68 voters registered Republican, only four less than Democrat.

Small said his main criticism of Gov. Tawes will be "a lack of leadership, a lack of business coordination."

One specific, he said, will be road building. He recalled that when he recently criticized highway progress, Tawes replied it had been "his best achievement."

"It may be true that it's his best," retorted Small, 'But if so, it's only because the others are terrible."

Questioned about the announced break between Gov. Tawes and Jack Pollack, Baltimore Democratic leader, Small said "I predict they'll kiss and make up again if they find it interesting enough for each other."

$6 Million For Maryland Park Projects Asked

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Forests and Parks asked for $6,040,000 Thursday to purchase new land and develop the Maryland park system.

Joseph F. Kaylor, state director of forests and parks, and a member of the parks master plan committee, laid the program for fiscal 1964 before state planners.

The funds would pay for 49 separate projects. The proposals will be sent to the General Assembly next January after study by planners and Gov. Tawes.

Largest single request was $1,500,000 for Gunpowder River Valley Park in Baltimore and Harford counties. A $250,000 allocation also was sought for beach protection along the nine miles of land the state hopes to acquire on Assateague Island.

A $600,000 request would buy new land at Patapsco State Park in Baltimore, Howard and Carroll counties and complete a $2,450,000 project there.

Major land purchases are planned for:

Patuxent Park, $500,000; Sandy Point, $100,000; Seneca Creek, $250,000; Rocky Gap; $100,000; $10,000; Elk Neck, $125,000; Smallwood, $150,000.

Development projects have been earmarked in: Shads Landing, $150,000; Greenbrier, $325,000; Susquehanna, $150,000; Elk Neck, $115,000; and Rocks, $150,000.

Valle Says Tawes, Finan Violate Ethics

BALTIMORE (AP) — Francis J. Valle, embattled figurehead in a Democratic split over state's attorney for Baltimore city, struck back Thursday at Gov. Tawes and others for what he called a serious breach of ethics.

Valle said the governor, Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and other Democrats violated the legal code of ethics by commenting upon his nomination while a court case challenging it was pending.

Valle said his reference to the governor referred to his directive to Finan to nullify Valle's apparent nomination by 10 members of the city's Democratic State Central Committee last week.

Since then, two of the voting members have been indicted and three suits challenging the nomination are to be heard next Tuesday.

Jack Pollack, controversial Democratic leader, has been named as engineer of the attempt to name Valle the Democratic candidate for state's attorney to replace Saul A. Harris who died. Pollack supported Valle against Harris who won the nomination in the May primary.

William J. O'Donnell was sworn in Thursday to serve the remaining four months of Harris' term. He was named by the judges of the Supreme Bench.

Gov. Tawes praised O'Donnell's appointment. Former allies of Pollack who have proclaimed their independence in the 5th District urged Valle to withdraw and allow O'Donnell to be nominated. Mayor J. Harold Grady expressed the same feeling.

But Valle stood firm. He issued a statement in which he referred to "our esteemed governor," "our distinguished attorney general," and "my devoted friends of the 5th District."

He said they all violated or failed to observe the bar association's canon of ethics "when they expressed their opinions about a case actually in court."

He called the attitude of the governor and attorney general, both Democrats seeking re-election, "A course of action that the end justifies the means, no matter the means."

Sailor Drowns In Boat Mishap

GRASONVILLE, Md. (AP) — The body of a 26-year-old Coast Guardsman who disappeared in shallow water during a salvage operation in Eastern Bay was recovered Thursday.

The Coast Guard identified the drowned sailor as Stelton B. Herman, engineer second class, of Baltimore.

He disappeared about 3:30 a.m. Thursday after jumping over the side of the grounded 40-foot cabin cruiser Gigi to check damages that were causing the boat to take water.

Herman and another crew member had been pumping water out of the boat, which ran aground off the mouth of Shipping Creek on the Eastern Shore of Kent Island in Chesapeake Bay.

Polluted Well Notices Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Montgomery County conducted tests which showed some families in one area were drinking from polluted wells but did not inform the persons involved for eight weeks, the Washington Evening Star said Thursday.

The Star reported that the tests on wells in the Concord subdivision of Potomac, Md., were conducted on May 2 and it was not until June 26 that the homeowner whose well was most dangerously contaminated learned of the results.

It was still later, the Star said, before the full findings of the tests became known to all the families who had been unaware of what type water they had been drinking.

The newspaper said R. J. Koch, director of the county sanitation department, made this comment after being shown a draft of the story:

"I get a picture (from the story) of utter negligence, that we just don't give a damn about these people. That simply is not true. I don't think there is anything particularly untrue about these delays (in warning families with unsafe wells). Someone just didn't get on it and call them right away."

The Star said the tests disclosed that of 26 wells examined, six were fouled with human or animal wastes and that all but one contained detergent — a sign of seepage from a sewer system.

Stranded—and not a soul in sight. Read the 10 tips from Shell, below. They could help you avoid getting stuck in the middle of nowhere.

Shell suggests 10 ways to reduce your chances of getting stranded when you're miles from help

1. Make your own roadside emergency kit and always carry it in your trunk. It could save you a lot of trouble someday. Your kit should include: a spare fan belt, a strong tow rope, a gallon can of water, a flashlight with extra batteries, pliers screwdriver, and several wrenches.

2. Check both your spare tire and jack. A flat tire is usually more annoying than serious. But it can leave you stranded if your spare is flat or your jack doesn't work. So always have the air pressure in your spare checked at the same time as the rest of your tires. And make sure your jack is in good working order.

3. Find out where your car fuses are located. Your car has fuses that do the same job as the ones in your home. And they're just as easy to replace if you know where to find them. So have your Shell dealer show you where each fuse is. And carry extra fuses in your glove compartment.

4. Hide a spare ignition key in your car. If you've ever lost your keys in the back country, you know how important this is. Be sure that everyone who drives your car knows where the extra key is hidden.

5. Check for the three troubles that cause nearly half of all breakdowns. The American Automobile Association reports that tires, weak batteries, and faulty electrical systems account for 45 percent of all car breakdowns. So have your Shell dealer check all three frequently.

6. Don't plow through water. Here's a good rule to follow. If there's the slightest chance that the water is deep enough to reach your tailpipe, turn your car around and look for an alternate route. This may take you a few miles out of your way, but it's better than stalling in water.

EXTREMELY IMPORTANT: Test your brakes after driving through water. Even a few inches of water can cause temporary brake failure. If this happens, drive with extreme caution until the brake linings dry.

7. Don't let your gas tank get below half full in lonely country. Americans ran out of gas more than 2 million times last year. If you know you'll be driving in a remote area, fill up before you get to it. And check your gas gauge regularly in isolated country. It can be a long way between service stations.

8. Try these tips if a stuck wheel nut keeps you from changing a tire.

a) Make sure you're turning the lug wrench the right way. Some cars have right-hand threads. Others have left-hand threads. And they're not always clearly marked.

b) Give a stuck nut a few sharp raps with a hammer or rock. (Be careful not to hit any exposed lug threads). Then try the wrench again. If the nut still refuses to budge, try turning the wrench with a sudden snapping motion.

9. Try "rocking out" when you're stuck in mud or sand. Put the car in reverse and apply power gently. As soon as the wheels start to spin, reduce power and shift into forward gear. Ease forward until the wheels spin again. With each back and forth rock, your car should go a little further—until you're out of trouble.

10. If "rocking out" doesn't work, build a pathway of sticks. Place sticks or branches in front of and under the rear wheels. Start the car forward slowly, and gradually increase speed. By the time you reach the end of your path, you should have enough momentum to carry you forward.

Future Schools May Have No Grades, Report Cards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Students in the next decade might very well study in a school that has no windows, no grades — and yipee — no report cards!

Such expectations are based on experimental studies now underway on building design, teaching tools, changes in curriculum.

Changes around the corner, as authorities at the National Education Association reports them include:

—Classrooms of different sizes. If the "team teaching" method becomes popular, school buildings will have to be changed. Team teaching will require large rooms for use when the entire class gets together and smaller ones for the small group tutoring.

— Tests. There will undoubtedly be fewer outside tests, already under fire from school administrators. It's wasteful to give so many tests, the administrators say because many duplicate measurement of the same thing—academic ability.

— Grades. An articulate group of educators, whose number is growing, says that grouping pupils on the basis of age is illogical since age alone has little to do with the level of ability of the student. Grouping on the basis of grades in each subject is better. But the best is abolishing grades and erasing report cards, too. Instead, each student should be taught, these educators say, as much and as fast as he can absort ib.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two major merchandizing firms, Edge Ltd., of Washington and Rak Sales, Inc., of St. Louis, said they are merging. Edge will be the surviving company. The merged companies will have a volume of about $8 million a year.

BUFFALO (UPI) — U.S. Rubber Reclaiming Co. has granted William C. Westervelt & Sons of East Rutherford, N.J., the right to distribute its rubber-asphaltic surfacing compounds for playgrounds and running tracks. Westervelt, a U.S. rubber reclaiming distributor for some years, developed the material for running surfaces but has assigned the perma-track label for it to U.S. rubber reclaiming.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. said Wednesday its Ginochio Well No. 2-9 has proved the largest producing gas well yet drilled in the Brentwood field in Contra Costa County. It flowed at a rate of 10.2 million cubic feet of gas a day.

LONDON (UPI)—Canadian oil interests will join the search for oil in New South Wales in conjunction with the Australian Oil and Gas Corp. The announcement was made in Sydney in a joint statement by the local concern and the Canadian Australian Oil Co. a newly formed subsidiary of Bailey Selburn Oil and Gas Co. of Calgary, Canada.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The customers' net debit balances of New York Stock Exchange member firms fell $45 million during July to $3.59 billion, the lowest point since February, 1961, the exchange said Wednesday. Customers' free credit balances also fell $122 million to $1.25 billion after two successive monthly gains.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Iron Age Magazine said Wednesday that only a surge of new steel orders in the final week of this month can prevent September from being written off as a steel recovery month.

The rate of new orders from general business is picking up, the metalworking weekly said, but as long as the big users continue to book only a percentage of normal demands, there cannot be a significant improvement in steel production next month.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four companies have announced across the-board-price cuts of 5 per cent on multiwall paper bags used for feed, cement, fertilizer and other heavy products. The companies are Bemis Brothers Bag Co., which initiated the move, International Paper Co., West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. and St. Regis Paper Co.

DETROIT (UPI) — Burroughs Corp., said it has obtained a $24.45 million contract to make 17 large radar sets for the air force. The work will be done in Burroughs plants at Paoli, Pa., and Detroit.

France Makes Plans To Join Space Race

PARIS (UPI)—France plans to join the space race, the government announced Wednesday night.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte said France is scheduled to place a 150-pound satellite in orbit in March, 1965. It will be followed shortly by others three and four times as large, he said.

The announcement was made after a cabinet meeting presided over by President Charles de Gaulle.

Peyrefitte gave no further details. This was the first official announcement that France has decided to join the other great powers in the space race.

NINE HURT IN TURNPIKE CRASH — Nine persons were injured, none seriously, in this crash involving a Trailways bus, two tractor-trailers and a car on the Pennsylvania Tunrpike near the New Stanton, Pa., Interchange yesterday. The injured were taken to the Westmoreland County Memorial Hospital in Greensburg. Three were admitted. (AP Photofax)

Hotel Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The Beverly Hills Hotel is being sought for the subject of a television series. The series would be called "Polo Lounge" and it would involve an interview - type show featuring stars, socialites and world leaders.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—MEMO TO SECRETARIES:

Don't resign if the boss strikes you as the nervous type. Ditto—If he's hard to get along with or procrastinates.

Just sharpen up on the latest techniques in personal relations in the office.

Bessie Mae Miller urges secretaries with such troubles to tune in the latest strategies leading to peaceful coexistence on the office front.

The author of the "Better Secretaries Series" (Prentice - Hall), Miss Miller deals with the difficult bosses in a new booklet—"Better Personal Relations in the Office."

Tips on dealing with such a "constantly nervous" boss:

—Make a special effort to be calm; never become irritated by his manner because nine times out of ten it will have nothing to do with you.

—Have everything at your fingertips. The impatient man does not want to be kept waiting.

—Do any task he assigns you immediately, even though you know it will not be required until next week or two weeks later.

The second type of problem boss, according to Miss Miller, is the one who is hard to get along with most of the time.

"A quiet sense of humor will help," she advises secretaries employed by such a boss. "But be careful to see humor in the situation, not the man."

Other advice:

—For really desperate cases, write down the traits of the boss that irritate you. Decide what you can do to rationalize and make yourself feel better about them.

—Realize, for example, that the man who constantly screams at everyone or constantly uses profanity may consider that a normal method of speech. Perhaps he means less by it than someone else. . .might mean by a cold stare.

—Whatever traits annoy you are only part of the whole man. Realize that he would not have reached an executive position without ability of some kind.

The employer who procastrinates, meanwhile, consistently begins work late in the day and then wants his secretary to stay to finish it.

The course of secretary action Miss Miller suggests:

"Keep track of the times you have had to stay late and then wait for your opportunity to discuss the matter with your employer.

"Ask him if he sees any solution!"

Boy Going Home

BAYSHORE, N.Y. (UPI) — Three-year-old Stephen Papol, who was lost for three days in a heavily wooded section of Long Island, probably will go home Friday, a spokesman at Southside Hospital said Thursday. The boy, who became lost in Heckscher State Park Sunday while on an outing with his family, was taken to the hospital suffering from exposure and hunger after he was found lying in underbrush in the park Wednesday.

Mrs. Montell Madden returned to Lakewood, Ohio, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Murphy.

NEW YORK (AP)—Some market analysts are advising investors to look beyond the popular averages in appraising the current possibilities of the stock market.

While the Dow Jones industrial average—a 30-stock index which broadly interprets the market picture—has regained more than one-third of the slump that climaxed in late July, they feel that other issues are in more favorable positions.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. says that while comments on the averages are always important and necessary in determining price trends, especially the broader ones, all averages are composed of stocks that are in different stages of their own price cycles.

He suggests that since the present market is selective and discriminating, it seems more important to study the height and health of individual trees in the forest than to worry about the broad status oft he forest itself.

"Right now," Ward says, "the market has none of the characteristic signs of price action of an important top. Too many stocks of good yield and investment quality are selling not far from their recent lows.

"Near term resistance on the Dow Jones industrial average is indicated around 620-625 and about 124-126 on the rail average, with support apparent at 595-600 and 119-120, respectively. Meanwhile, a search for stocks of companies whose earnings and growth prospects should be continued."

The brokerage firm, Thomson & McKinnon, expects the market's current upswing to carry further in the present business setting before any corrections of consequence occur.

The 6,000 professional laundries in the United States employ approximately 214,000 persons.

SOVIETS STOPPED AT BORDER — A U. S. military police car bars the way as three Soviet armored cars try to pass through the U. S.—manned Checkpoint Charlie into West Berlin yesterday. Soviet officers stand up in the turrent hatch of the lead vehicle to discuss the delay with the MPs. The Red cars, carrying personnel to guard duty at the Soviet war memorial in the western sector, were finally allowed to proceed after a reported discussion about weapons carried by the Russians. "Special Days" Crowd Argentina's Calendar

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine calendar is just a daze of special days for special people.

Aug. 30, for example, is Baloney Stuffer's Day. And May 22, Needle Maker's Day. Then there are Garbageman's Day, Traveling Salesman's Day, Leather Tanner's Day, Perfume Salesman's Day, Plastic Worker's Day.

More prosaic, but equally honored are lawyers, grocers, medical technicians, concert pianists and a host of others.

Eduardo Navaro Peralta, a resident of Buenos Aires, compiled the holiday list from trade union, professional association and commercial organization announcements in newspapers.

Often, Navaro says, workers take off the day corresponding to their special day. Some work but get double pay. Others, perhaps the majority, don't get the day off, or extra pay, but they have whatever satisfaction there is in knowing it is "their day."

Officially speaking, Argentina has 15-state recognized paid holidays. That puts it in third place in Latin America for the highest number, behind Uruguay with 20 and Brazil with 17.

One of the most noticeable of the special holidays is News Vender's Day, Nov. 7 — there aren't any newspapers. On that day the stores open, the buses run, the movies are showing, but the paperboys are home in bed and the presses don't roll.

So if you come to Argentina and the streets are littered, don't judge too harshly — it may be Street Sweepers' Day.

Russians Help Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—Cubans were told by the Castro government Thursday that "1,000 more Soviet technicians" will arrive here soon to help improve sagging agricultural production. Reliable estimates place the number of Russian "technicians" already here at between 5,500 and 6,000.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Of all things-if Kim Novak and Richard Quine didn't have a tiff in Paris right at the party where it was expected their approaching marriage would be announced!

The party was hosted by Billy Wilder, very much on a social kick in la belle France these days. Everything was going great until midnight when suddenly Kim and Dick stopped speaking and she flounced out followed by a glum looking Mr. Q.

A press conference co-hosted by Miss Novak and Quine had been scheduled for Friday. Now nobody knows whether it's still on or whether Kim will take it into her head to fly home. These lovers quarrels can be patched up as quickly as they spring up—so don't be surprised either way.

No matter what else happens to Elizabeth Taylor, she's in the chips. After three years of getting little or nothing from Mike Todd's estate, Liz and Mike Todd, Jr., have sold the rights for the stage musical version of "Around the World in 80 Days." First launching will be at the Jones Beach Marine Theatre (Guy Lombardo is one of the backers), a house big enough to gross upward of $100,000 weekly.

It's estimated that Elizabeth's royalty from this run alone can run as high as $10,000 weekly.

Like Bing and Bob, Dean Martin and Frank Sinatra usually pop up in each other's pictures. And "Come Blow Your Horn" is no exception.

When Frank starts his next on the Paramount lot, Dean will be there Sept. 10 to play a "Cameo" role with his pal. Sinatra's associate producers Bud Yorkin and Norman Lear set the deal with Dino today.

Did you ever notice it's always the male stars like Frank and Dean and Crosby and Hope who do these Damon and Pythias stunts—never the femme stars? Imagine Lana Turner doing a walk-on in a Liz Taylor movie!

"I'm the only method actor in the house," quipped Phil Silvers today as he lay in a hospital ward scene for "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World." And he kids you not.

Both of Phil's legs are strung up in casts, result of his collapse from muscular spasms of the legs on the set last weekend. "All these other guys' casts are phoney," he flicked his hand indicating the fake invalids, Milton Berle, Buddy Hackett and Mickey Rooney. "I'm the only authentic casualty in the place—and I won't be feeling right for two more weeks," he said proudly.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The good samaritan, first on the scene of that terrible automobile accident in Beverly Hills, was Jeanne (Mrs. Dean) Martin. She heard the impact of the car hitting the tree in front of the Martin home and was the first to reach the victims luckily thrown clear before the car burst into flames. The ex-Mrs. Jack Beutel and her daughter were the victims.

Millionaire Arthur Cameron hosted a doozie of a party greeting Tony Martin at his Royal Hawaiian Hotel opening in Honolulu. Among the guests making Tony feel he was right at home in Hollywood were Debbie Reynolds and Harry Karl — and, of course, Cyd Charisse.

When stunning Alicia Townsend completes her movie role in "A Gathering of Eagles" with Rock Hudson, she's moving back to New York. Has a good role in Sidney Kingsley's new play "Night Life" coming up.

Ruth and Milton Berle are so happy over the baby boy they adopted they're getting a little sister to keep him company in the nursery.

Del Mar Race Track continues to draw them from Hollywood. Putting up at Del Webb's ocean house in Oceanside, were Harry James and Betty Grable and Bruce Cabot who find it just a hop and a parking ticket to the track.

Big night for Gogi Grant Saturday. She celebrates her 10th year in show business singing in the Hollywood Bowl followed by a big supper at Chasen's.

A garden of low-growing plants or hedges planted in a formal, intricate design, is called a "knot garden."

Buffalo And Elk Will Go On Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Want to stock your freezer with a few buffalo or elk steaks? Or your ranch with a live longhorn?

You can place your order with the Interior Department until Sept. 30.

As it does annually, the department shortly will begin removing a specified number of animals from three national wild life refuges to keep the herds from exceeding the capacity of their ranges.

A total of 233 buffalo, 75 elk, and 137 longhorn cattle will be sold this year. The buffalo will be from three refuges — Wichita Mountain wild life refuge, Cache, Okla.; Fort Niobrara national wildlife refuge, Valentine, Neb.; and the National Bison Range Moiese, Mont.

Longhorns will be sold from Wichita Mountains and Fort Niobrara. Longhorn sales will be live animals only. Elk sales will be only from the Wichita Mountains refuge. There will be no sales of live elk.

Buffalo will be sold at $180 each for live animals, and from $220 to $270 per carcass for butchered animals, depending on the type of processing. Quarters and halves also will be sold.

Buffalo and elk meat may be purchased packaged and ready for the freezer. Butchered elk prices will range from $110 to $145 per animal, again varying with the type of processing. A half carcass is the minimum quantity that can be purchased.

The state flag of Arkansas has 29 stars: four in a diamond and 25 around the border.

Greets Teachers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy greeted a group of foreign exchange teachers Thursday and told them they would be most welcome everywhere they go in this country. Kennedy met with about 200 teachers from Europe, Asia and South America in the Rose Garden, outside his office. The teachers, from 18 countries, were brought here under the Fulbright Exchange Program.

Future Schools May Have No Grades, Report Cards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Students in the next decade might very well study in a school that has no windows, no grades — and yipee — no report cards!

Such expectations are based on experimental studies now underway on building design, teaching tools, changes in curriculum.

Changes around the corner, as authorities at the National Education Association reports them include:

—Classrooms of different sizes. If the "team teaching" method becomes popular, school buildings will have to be changed. Team teaching will require large rooms for use when the entire class gets together and smaller ones for the small group tutoring.

— Tests. There will undoubtedly be fewer outside tests, already under fire from school administrators. It's wasteful to give so many tests, the administrators say because many duplicate measurement of the same thing—academic ability.

— Grades. An articulate group of educators, whose number is growing, says that grouping pupils on the basis of age is illogical since age alone has little to do with the level of ability of the student. Grouping on the basis of grades in each subject is better. But the best is abolishing grades and erasing report cards, too. Instead, each student should be taught, these educators say, as much and as fast as he can absort ib.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two major merchandizing firms, Edge Ltd., of Washington and Rak Sales, Inc., of St. Louis, said they are merging. Edge will be the surviving company. The merged companies will have a volume of about $8 million a year.

BUFFALO (UPI) — U.S. Rubber Reclaiming Co. has granted William C. Westervelt & Sons of East Rutherford, N.J., the right to distribute its rubber-asphaltic surfacing compounds for playgrounds and running tracks. Westervelt, a U.S. rubber reclaiming distributor for some years, developed the material for running surfaces but has assigned the perma-track label for it to U.S. rubber reclaiming.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. said Wednesday its Ginochio Well No. 2-9 has proved the largest producing gas well yet drilled in the Brentwood field in Contra Costa County. It flowed at a rate of 10.2 million cubic feet of gas a day.

LONDON (UPI)—Canadian oil interests will join the search for oil in New South Wales in conjunction with the Australian Oil and Gas Corp. The announcement was made in Sydney in a joint statement by the local concern and the Canadian Australian Oil Co. a newly formed subsidiary of Bailey Selburn Oil and Gas Co. of Calgary, Canada.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The customers' net debit balances of New York Stock Exchange member firms fell $45 million during July to $3.59 billion, the lowest point since February, 1961, the exchange said Wednesday. Customers' free credit balances also fell $122 million to $1.25 billion after two successive monthly gains.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Iron Age Magazine said Wednesday that only a surge of new steel orders in the final week of this month can prevent September from being written off as a steel recovery month.

The rate of new orders from general business is picking up, the metalworking weekly said, but as long as the big users continue to book only a percentage of normal demands, there cannot be a significant improvement in steel production next month.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four companies have announced across the-board-price cuts of 5 per cent on multiwall paper bags used for feed, cement, fertilizer and other heavy products. The companies are Bemis Brothers Bag Co., which initiated the move, International Paper Co., West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. and St. Regis Paper Co.

DETROIT (UPI) — Burroughs Corp., said it has obtained a $24.45 million contract to make 17 large radar sets for the air force. The work will be done in Burroughs plants at Paoli, Pa., and Detroit.

NEW YORK (AP)—Some market analysts are advising investors to look beyond the popular averages in appraising the current possibilities of the stock market.

While the Dow Jones industrial average—a 30-stock index which broadly interprets the market picture—has regained more than one-third of the slump that climaxed in late July, they feel that other issues are in more favorable positions.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. says that while comments on the averages are always important and necessary in determining price trends, especially the broader ones, all averages are composed of stocks that are in different stages of their own price cycles.

He suggests that since the present market is selective and discriminating, it seems more important to study the height and health of individual trees in the forest than to worry about the broad status oft he forest itself.

"Right now," Ward says, "the market has none of the characteristic signs of price action of an important top. Too many stocks of good yield and investment quality are selling not far from their recent lows.

"Near term resistance on the Dow Jones industrial average is indicated around 620-625 and about 124-126 on the rail average, with support apparent at 595-600 and 119-120, respectively. Meanwhile, a search for stocks of companies whose earnings and growth prospects should be continued."

The brokerage firm, Thomson & McKinnon, expects the market's current upswing to carry further in the present business setting before any corrections of consequence occur.

The 6,000 professional laundries in the United States employ approximately 214,000 persons.

"Special Days" Crowd Argentina's Calendar

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine calendar is just a daze of special days for special people.

Aug. 30, for example, is Baloney Stuffer's Day. And May 22, Needle Maker's Day. Then there are Garbageman's Day, Traveling Salesman's Day, Leather Tanner's Day, Perfume Salesman's Day, Plastic Worker's Day.

More prosaic, but equally honored are lawyers, grocers, medical technicians, concert pianists and a host of others.

Eduardo Navaro Peralta, a resident of Buenos Aires, compiled the holiday list from trade union, professional association and commercial organization announcements in newspapers.

Often, Navaro says, workers take off the day corresponding to their special day. Some work but get double pay. Others, perhaps the majority, don't get the day off, or extra pay, but they have whatever satisfaction there is in knowing it is "their day."

Officially speaking, Argentina has 15-state recognized paid holidays. That puts it in third place in Latin America for the highest number, behind Uruguay with 20 and Brazil with 17.

One of the most noticeable of the special holidays is News Vender's Day, Nov. 7 — there aren't any newspapers. On that day the stores open, the buses run, the movies are showing, but the paperboys are home in bed and the presses don't roll.

So if you come to Argentina and the streets are littered, don't judge too harshly — it may be Street Sweepers' Day.

Russians Help Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—Cubans were told by the Castro government Thursday that "1,000 more Soviet technicians" will arrive here soon to help improve sagging agricultural production. Reliable estimates place the number of Russian "technicians" already here at between 5,500 and 6,000.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Of all things-if Kim Novak and Richard Quine didn't have a tiff in Paris right at the party where it was expected their approaching marriage would be announced!

The party was hosted by Billy Wilder, very much on a social kick in la belle France these days. Everything was going great until midnight when suddenly Kim and Dick stopped speaking and she flounced out followed by a glum looking Mr. Q.

A press conference co-hosted by Miss Novak and Quine had been scheduled for Friday. Now nobody knows whether it's still on or whether Kim will take it into her head to fly home. These lovers quarrels can be patched up as quickly as they spring up—so don't be surprised either way.

No matter what else happens to Elizabeth Taylor, she's in the chips. After three years of getting little or nothing from Mike Todd's estate, Liz and Mike Todd, Jr., have sold the rights for the stage musical version of "Around the World in 80 Days." First launching will be at the Jones Beach Marine Theatre (Guy Lombardo is one of the backers), a house big enough to gross upward of $100,000 weekly.

It's estimated that Elizabeth's royalty from this run alone can run as high as $10,000 weekly.

Like Bing and Bob, Dean Martin and Frank Sinatra usually pop up in each other's pictures. And "Come Blow Your Horn" is no exception.

When Frank starts his next on the Paramount lot, Dean will be there Sept. 10 to play a "Cameo" role with his pal. Sinatra's associate producers Bud Yorkin and Norman Lear set the deal with Dino today.

Did you ever notice it's always the male stars like Frank and Dean and Crosby and Hope who do these Damon and Pythias stunts—never the femme stars? Imagine Lana Turner doing a walk-on in a Liz Taylor movie!

"I'm the only method actor in the house," quipped Phil Silvers today as he lay in a hospital ward scene for "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World." And he kids you not.

Both of Phil's legs are strung up in casts, result of his collapse from muscular spasms of the legs on the set last weekend. "All these other guys' casts are phoney," he flicked his hand indicating the fake invalids, Milton Berle, Buddy Hackett and Mickey Rooney, "I'm the only authentic casualty in the place—and I won't be feeling right for two more weeks," he said proudly.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The good samaritan, first on the scene of that terrible automobile accident in Beverly Hills, was Jeanne (Mrs. Dean) Martin. She heard the impact of the car hitting the tree in front of the Martin home and was the first to reach the victims luckily thrown clear before the car burst into flames. The ex-Mrs. Jack Beutel and her daughter were the victims.

Millionaire Arthur Cameron hosted a doozie of a party greeting Tony Martin at his Royal Hawaiian Hotel opening in Honolulu. Among the guests making Tony feel he was right at home in Hollywood were Debbie Reynolds and Harry Karl — and, of course, Cyd Charisse.

When stunning Alicia Townsend completes her movie role in "A Gathering of Eagles" with Rock Hudson, she's moving back to New York. Has a good role in Sidney Kingsley's new play "Night Life" coming up.

Ruth and Milton Berle are so happy over the baby boy they adopted they're getting a little sister to keep him company in the nursery.

Del Mar Race Track continues to draw them from Hollywood. Putting up at Del Webb's ocean house in Oceanside, were Harry James and Betty Grable and Bruce Cabot who find it just a hop and a parking ticket to the track.

Big night for Gogi Grant Saturday. She celebrates her 10th year in show business singing in the Hollywood Bowl followed by a big supper at Chasen's.

Buffalo And Elk Will Go On Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Want to stock your freezer with a few buffalo or elk steaks? Or your ranch with a live longhorn?

You can place your order with the Interior Department until Sept. 30.

As it does annually, the department shortly will begin removing a specified number of animals from three national wild life refuges to keep the herds from exceeding the capacity of their ranges.

A total of 233 buffalo, 75 elk, and 137 longhorn cattle will be sold this year. The buffalo will be from three refuges — Wichita Mountain wild life refuge, Cache, Okla.; Fort Niobrara national wildlife refuge, Valentine, Neb.; and the National Bison Range Moiese, Mont.

Longhorns will be sold from Wichita Mountains and Fort Niobrara. Longhorn sales will be live animals only. Elk sales will be only from the Wichita Mountains refuge. There will be no sales of live elk.

Buffalo will be sold at $180 each for live animals, and from $220 to $270 per carcass for butchered animals, depending on the type of processing. Quarters and halves also will be sold.

Buffalo and elk meat may be purchased packaged and ready for the freezer. Butchered elk prices will range from $110 to $145 per animal, again varying with the type of processing. A half carcass is the minimum quantity that can be purchased.

The state flag of Arkansas has 29 stars: four in a diamond and 25 around the border.

Greets Teachers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy greeted a group of foreign exchange teachers Thursday and told them they would be most welcome everywhere they go in this country. Kennedy met with about 200 teachers from Europe, Asia and South America in the Rose Garden, outside his office. The teachers, from 18 countries, were brought here under the Fulbright Exchange Program.

Pre-Schooler's Mental Age Is Factor In Registration

Only those who will benefit from early entrance to school will be registered under the new regulation that allows underage children to apply for first grade if their mental age is 6.5 years, it was stated by Rex M. Smith, superintendent of West Virginia Schools.

In a memorandum to county superintendents of West Virginia public schools, Smith asked parents and school officials to consider whether early entrance will be in the best interests of the child.

For the first time in West Virginia education, consideration of a pre-schooler's mental age is a factor in first grade registration for the 1962-63 term.

The modification follows by two years a change in the chronological age requirement, which has been revised from January 31 to October 31. Under the change, a child who reaches his sixth birthday between November 1 and February 1 may be accepted if tests by an approved psychologist show his mental age to be 6.5 years, and medical examinations reveal his physical readiness to begin school.

Smith warned that any child in the first grade who is not physically, socially, emotionally and intellectually ready for school may run into learning problems in later years.

"Children who are too immature to cope with school experiences frequently develop negative self concepts, become unsure of themselves, develop tensions and anxiety in learning situations, thus making learning more difficult in later years" the superintendent cautioned.

He stated that it is the responsibility of the medical doctor and the psychological examiner to (1) inform the parent of their recommendations to the county superintendent, and (2) forward a report of their examination to the superintendent in the county.

Smith stressed this does not mean the child is accepted for enrollment and that it is the responsibility of the county superintendent to notify the parent whether or not the child will be enrolled.

The State Department of Education has provided county superintendents with lists of approved psychologists, "until such time as standards for psychological examiners are established by the state."

Only one person, thus far, has been approved for this area. He is Junior Haines, guidance director in the Mineral County school system. But S. T. McGee, Mineral superintendent, said yesterday that Haines currently is doing academic work at West Virginia University and will not be available until school begins.

McGee also said that efforts are being made to secure services of a psychologist from Cumberland.

The nearest psychologists listed are Joseph W. Fahey, N. Roberts, Jr., and Dr. Meredith W. Green of the Martinsburg Guidance Clinic.

McGee added that other psychologists may apply for approval. He said applications are available at the Mineral County Board of Education, South Church Street, in Keyser.

A total of 15 intercollegiate sports — spanning all four seasons — are offered at the U. S. Air Force Academy.

The Bray reunion will be held September 2 at the Pleasant Valley Receration Area.

Strikers Increase

MADRID (UPI) — The number of Spanish coal miners ignoring a government ban on strikes rose to about 7,000 Thursday at scattered points in the country's chief coal-producing region.

The striking workers, seeking a five-day work week and a solution to lesser grievances, doubled in number Wednesday when 3,000 men walked off the job in asturias.

Creating a lighthouse service was one of the early acts of the U.S. Congress, which established the Bureau of Lighthouses on Aug. 7, 1789. Since 1939, it has been administered as part of the United States Coast Guard.

Local Police Make Traffic Changes

Additional steps designed to alleviate city traffic problems have been undertaken by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The commissioner announced yesterday that he and Sgt. E. Gordon Hite, head of the Police Department's traffic bureau, have taken steps to help the traffic flow on Harrison Street and on Gephart Drive, and at the intersection of Sedgwick and Tilghman streets where school bus traffic has been of particular concern.

A new stop sign has been placed on Fayette Street at the intersection with Gephart Drive, Keegan said, so that all traffic approaching Gephart Drive from the Dingle Circle will have to stop before entering Gephart Drive.

This was done because of numerous complaints of vehicles turning onto busy Gephart Drive without sufficiently yielding the right of way.

Keegan announced, also, that the curb on the south side of Harrison Street, between Park Street and the Baltimore and Ohio Raliroad tracks, has been painted red.

The narrowness of the street and its heavy use prompted the restriction, the commissioner said.

The police commissioner, Sgt. Hite, and Hubert J. Radcliffe, supervisor of school bus transportation for the County Board of Education, met Wednesday and visited several school areas to survey the loading and unloading procedures of school buses.

They discussed plans to cut down the hazards of loading and unloading and general bus traffic problems.

Keegan announced that the city plans to recede the curb in front of Allegany High School about eight feet, so that school buses traveling from Sedgwick to Tilghman Street will have ample room to make the turn.

He said consultation was held with Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets, and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, and Ray Valentine, streets superintendent, concerning the curb recession and the necessary relocation of the sidewalk in front of the high school auditorium.

346th Traffic Fatality

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Isaac Osborne Delcorse, 66, of Elkton, became the state's 346th traffic fatality Wednesday.

Apple Service Group Terminating August 31

The board of directors of the Appalachian Apple Service Inc., a three-state organization of growers for advertising and promotion of apples, has announced that as of August 31 the service's work will be terminated and the association in-activated.

The board in a statement yesterday found this action necessary because of the lack of financial support by such a large portion of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and the withdrawal of Virginia in 1960.

The service announced that in late July Pennsylvania growers voted almost four to one against a marketing order under which growers would uniformly support apple promotion, research and grower information. West Virginia growers in late June voted, about 2 to 1, against an identical order.

The board of directors pointed out that the organization has functioned since 1936 in dispensing apple advertising and publicity; dealer-service work with grocers and wholesalers; crop estimates; reports on storage holdings and movement-to-market for the belt crop, and speedy bulletin service on crop and marketing conditions in the belt and nationally.

The termination, the board said, also stops the organized work in the belt which has been so effective in channelling federal school lunch program purchases. Last year 1,400,000 cases of apples and slices went from the belt into the school lunch program.

Directors from this area are Henry W. Miller, Paw Paw; J. Howard Rannells, Romney; Turner A. Ramey, Charles Town, former Frostburg resident, and Gilbert M. Miller, Spring Gap.

Pope Orders Aid

CASTLE GANDOLFO, Italy (UPI)—Pope John XXIII ordered the pontifical assistance agency Wednesday to provide immediate aid to victims of the southern Italy earthquakes.

The Pope also extended his apostolic benediction and paternal comfort to the injured and to families of the victims.

Area Man Is Injured

A Breezewood, Pa., man was shot in the right thigh Wednesday night near the home of Frank Williams, Breezewood, according to the Bedford Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police.

The victim, Norman Hafer, was shot with a high-powered rifle by Williams about 9:25 p. m. in the yard of the Williams home.

Hafer was admitted to the Bedford County Hospital where he is listed "not serious."

Marriage Licenses

Robert Augusta Hook and Ruth Katherine Bradfield, both of Paw Paw, W. Va.

James Lee Hampson, RD 1, Cumberland, and Judith Ann Shryock, 22 Somerville Avenue.

Robert Samuel Bowser, Eckhart, and Julia Elizabeth Henaghan, Frostburg.

Young Democrats Get Endorsement

Candidates for the offices of president and vice president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland were unanimously endorsed at a recent Western Maryland caucus in Hagerstown.

Miller Bowen, president of the Allegany County Young Democrats, said unanimous endorsement was given to Charles Moylan, Baltimore, for president, and to Walter D. Hansen, Bethesda, for first vice president.

The annual Young Democratic state convention will be held September 14-15 at the Washingtonian Country Club, Montgomery County, Bowen stated.

Land Sale Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Interior subcommittee approved Thursday a bill to authorize the sale of federal land to Maryland for use at the University of Maryland at College Park.

City To Study Pay, Fringe Requests

The Mayor and City Council yesterday heard requests from representatives of the police and fire departments and also street wage increase and a number of and water unit employes for a fringe benefits.

After the men made their requests Mayor Earl D. Chaney said the problem is that the city has a restriction on the amount of taxes used for operation but that some of the fringe benefits could possibly be worked out.

The mayor and council said officials would go over the various items in the request and determine costs and give an answer in two weeks on what could be done.

William Walsh, attorney for the police and firemen, pointed out that the city has lost many experienced firemen and police officers to private industry in the past few years due to the lack of suitable salaries on which to raise their families. He also said many police officers have part-time jobs so as to make enough money to live decently.

The street and water department workers want a 25-cent an hour increase but this is out due to the budget having been set. One area in which some hope was expressed by the mayor was in payment of Blue Cross and Blue Shield for families of the city workers. The city presently pays only for the employe.

A full day off on Good Friday is also being asked. The city workers used to get half a day off for the Cumberland races but these are no longer held.

The workers want four weeks vacation after 10 years service. The street and water department workers also say they want 90 days sick leave instead of the present 60 days. The sick leave is accumulated at the rate of 15 days each year. The city workers point to the full payment of salaries of police and firemen who are injured on the job for a full year. They get only $35 per week under Workmen's Compensation.

The mayor said "this is a terrible situation as the take-home pay of the city workers is very small and the cost of living has been rising each year."

The mayor said perhaps one solution to some of the problems would be to mechanize some parts of the street department work and when a man retires or leaves city employment no one else be hired. The money saved would be used to increase the pay of workers still in the department.

Councilman William V. Keegan said the request of the city employes "is reasonable" and he hopes some aid can be given concerning the request.

Commissioner Ray Light said the council could confer next Monday with the mayor and perhaps something can be worked out for the benefit of the workers.

The last general wage increase for city employes became effective March 25. It provided a flat five cents an hour for hourly-paid workers and $104 a year for salaried employes.

Pre-Schooler's Mental Age Is Factor In Registration

Only those who will benefit from early entrance to school will be registered under the new regulation that allows underage children to apply for first grade if their mental age is 6.5 years, it was stated by Rex M. Smith, superintendent of West Virginia Schools.

In a memorandum to county superintendents of West Virginia public schools, Smith asked parents and school officials to consider whether early entrance will be in the best interests of the child.

For the first time in West Virginia education, consideration of a pre-schooler's mental age is a factor in first grade registration for the 1962-63 term.

The modification follows by two years a change in the chronological age requirement, which has been revised from January 31 to October 31. Under the change, a child who reaches his sixth birthday between November 1 and February 1 may be accepted if tests by an approved psychologist show his mental age to be 6.5 years, and medical examinations reveal his physical readiness to begin school.

Smith warned that any child in the first grade who is not physically, socially, emotionally and intellectually ready for school may run into learning problems in later years.

"Children who are too immature to cope with school experiences frequently develop negative self concepts, become unsure of themselves, develop tensions and anxiety in learning situations, thus making learning more difficult in later years" the superintendent cautioned.

He stated that it is the responsibility of the medical doctor and the psychological examiner to (1) inform the parent of their recommendations to the county superintendent, and (2) forward a report of their examination to the superintendent in the county.

Smith stressed this does not mean the child is accepted for enrollment and that it is the responsibility of the county superintendent to notify the parent whether or not the child will be enrolled.

The State Department of Education has provided county superintendents with lists of approved psychologists, "until such time as standards for psychological examiners are established by the state."

Only one person, thus far, has been approved for this area. He is Junior Haines, guidance director in the Mineral County school system. But S. T. McGee, Mineral superintendent, said yesterday that Haines currently is doing academic work at West Virginia University and will not be available until school begins.

McGee also said that efforts are being made to secure services of a psychologist from Cumberland.

The nearest psychologists listed are Joseph W. Fahey, N. Roberts, Jr., and Dr. Meredith W. Green of the Martinsburg Guidance Clinic.

McGee added that other psychologists may apply for approval. He said applications are available at the Mineral County Board of Education, South Church Street, in Keyser.

A total of 15 intercollegiate sports — spanning all four seasons — are offered at the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Strikers Increase

MADRID (UPI) — The number of Spanish coal miners ignoring a government ban on strikes rose to about 7,000 Thursday at scattered points in the country's chief coal-producing region.

The striking workers, seeking a five-day work week and a solution to lesser grievances, doubled in number Wednesday when 3,000 men walked off the job in asturias.

Creating a lighthouse service was one of the early acts of the U.S. Congress, which established the Bureau of Lighthouses on Aug. 7, 1789. Since 1939, it has been administered as part of the United States Coast Guard.

Local Police Make Traffic Changes

Additional steps designed to alleviate city traffic problems have been undertaken by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The commissioner announced yesterday that he and Sgt. E. Gordon Hite, head of the Police Department's traffic bureau, have taken steps to help the traffic flow on Harrison Street and on Gephart Drive, and at the intersection of Sedgwick and Tilghman streets where school bus traffic has been of particular concern.

A new stop sign has been placed on Fayette Street at the intersection with Gephart Drive, Keegan said, so that all traffic approaching Gephart Drive from the Dingle Circle will have to stop before entering Gephart Drive.

This was done because of numerous complaints of vehicles turning onto busy Gephart Drive without sufficiently yielding the right of way.

Keegan announced, also, that the curb on the south side of Harrison Street, between Park Street and the Baltimore and Ohio Raliroad tracks, has been painted red.

The narrowness of the street and its heavy use prompted the restriction, the commissioner said.

The police commissioner, Sgt. Hite, and Hubert J. Radcliffe, supervisor of school bus transportation for the County Board of Education, met Wednesday and visited several school areas to survey the loading and unloading procedures of school buses.

They discussed plans to cut down the hazards of loading and unloading and general bus traffic problems.

Keegan announced that the city plans to recede the curb in front of Allegany High School about eight feet, so that school buses traveling from Sedgwick to Tilghman Street will have ample room to make the turn.

He said consultation was held with Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets, and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, and Ray Valentine, streets superintendent, concerning the curb recession and the necessary relocation of the sidewalk in front of the high school auditorium.

346th Traffic Fatality

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Isaac Osborne Delcorse, 66, of Elkton, became the state's 346th traffic fatality Wednesday.

Agency Appropriation Queried

A $12,000 appropriation for the city's Urban Renewal Agency came in for considerable discussion at a meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday when the annual appropriation ordinance was passed.

Objection to the item was voiced by G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and light, and William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire.

Each of the men said they wanted to know how the money would be spent, and each voiced objection to having it go for the salary of someone who would direct the agency's operations.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney was joined by Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, and Frederick J. Hill, finance commissioner, in urging that the appropriation be approved.

Final action on the ordinance was unanimous, although Commissioner Light said his vote was being given only because it was necessary. He stated he "definitely" was opposed to the Urban Renewal item.

Mayor Chaney said he felt the appropriation was vital to the progress of the city, pointing out that much money already has been spent in getting the agency started to work.

John Joyner, resident planner for Blair and Stein Associates, firm which is preparing a comprehensive plan for the city, was called on to explain why the money is needed.

Joyner said employment of an administrator is required if the city is to expect federal funds in renewal and redevelopment projects. The administrator, or director, he continued, will be responsible for detailed planning of projects, and also to the direction of them to completion.

With the employment of the administrator, not expected until around the first of the year, Joyner said he felt sure the city first renewal project would be underway by the fall of 1963.

Mayor Chaney said he felt the Urban Renewal Agency was an indication of whether the city is interested in standing still or advancing, and said he felt sure the city is taking a step forward in work along renewal lines.

City Passes Appropriations Ordinance And Considers Improvement Bonds

A special meeting of the Mayor and Council was held yesterday to pass an ordinance providing for the annual appropriations for the separate municipal departments for the fiscal year.

The ordinance was passed unanimously, although G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and light, said he was voting "aye" only because the action was necessary.

Light emphasized that he was "definitely" opposed to a $12,000 item for urban development, explaining that he felt a more detailed explanation of how the money will be spent is required. He also said that all departments had their requests "cut to the bone," and that the $12,000 could be used to more advantage in other work.

Prior to the unanimous vote, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public properties, pointed out that money for the various departments under her supervision does not provide for any new paving or storm sewers.

The Mayor and Council agreed that such items, and other services that were deemed important, should be studied with the possibility that they could be financed under a General Improvement Bond issue. No definite action was taken along that line, although the individual commissioners said they would explore the estimated costs to determine how large a bond issue might be required.

The appropriations follow:

Operating:

		$1,719,690
Debt Service:
Coupons	74,429
Serial Bonds	197,000	271,429
		$1,991,120

The ordinance also carried an appropriation of $166,125 for operation and maintenance of the city's sewage treatment plant and sanitary sewers. Debt service accounted for $43,875, coupons, and $50,000, serial bonds.

The $260,000 total for those items are self-sustaining as the money is realized from sewage fees.

It was the consensus by council that the individual appropriations were as fair as possible under the limited amount of money that is available to the city.

Prior to adoption, each item was explained by Arthur B. Gibson, who has been retained as financial consultant to set the municipal budget and appropriations.

Call For Treaty

BERLIN (UPI) — East Berlin Communist newspapers used pages of reports and pictures of the West Berlin demonstrations Wednesday without mentioning they were set off by the slaying of an escapee.

The Communists said the riots proved the immediate necessity of a peace treaty which would turn West Berlin into a neutralized "free city" without allied garrisons.

Apple Service Group Terminating August 31

The board of directors of the Appalachian Apple Service Inc., a three-state organization of growers for advertising and promotion of apples, has announced that as of August 31 the service's work will be terminated and the association in-activated.

The board in a statement yesterday found this action necessary because of the lack of financial support by such a large portion of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and the withdrawal of Virginia in 1960.

The service announced that in late July Pennsylvania growers voted almost four to one against a marketing order under which growers would uniformly support apple promotion, research and grower information. West Virginia growers in late June voted, about 2 to 1, against an identical order.

The board of directors pointed out that the organization has functioned since 1936 in dispensing apple advertising and publicity; dealer-service work with grocers and wholesalers; crop estimates; reports on storage holdings and movement-to-market for the belt crop, and speedy bulletin service on crop and marketing conditions in the belt and nationally.

The termination, the board said, also stops the organized work in the belt which has been so effective in channelling federal school lunch program purchases. Last year 1,400,000 cases of apples and slices went from the belt into the school lunch program.

Directors from this area are Henry W. Miller, Paw Paw; J. Howard Rannells, Romney; Turner A. Ramey, Charles Town, former Frostburg resident, and Gilbert M. Miller, Spring Gap.

Pope Orders Aid

CASTLE GANDOLFO, Italy (UPI)—Pope John XXIII ordered the pontifical assistance agency Wednesday to provide immediate aid to victims of the southern Italy earthquakes.

The Pope also extended his apostolic benediction and paternal comfort to the injured and to families of the victims.

Area Man Is Injured

A Breezewood, Pa., man was shot in the right thigh Wednesday night near the home of Frank Williams, Breezewood, according to the Bedford Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police.

The victim, Norman Hafer, was shot with a high-powered rifle by Williams about 9:25 p. m. in the yard of the Williams home.

Young Democrats Get Endorsement

Candidates for the offices of president and vice president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland were unanimously endorsed at a recent Western Maryland caucus in Hagerstown.

Miller Bowen, president of the Allegany County Young Democrats, said unanimous endorsement was given to Charles Moylan, Baltimore, for president, and to Walter D. Hansen, Bethesda, for first vice president.

The annual Young Democratic state convention will be held September 14-15 at the Washingtonian Country Club, Montgomery County, Bowen stated.

Land Sale Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Interior subcommittee approved Thursday a bill to authorize the sale of federal land to Maryland for use at the University of Maryland at College Park.

City To Study Pay, Fringe Requests

The Mayor and City Council yesterday heard requests from representatives of the police and fire departments and also street wage increase and a number of and water unit employes for a fringe benefits.

After the men made their requests Mayor Earl D. Chaney said the problem is that the city has a restriction on the amount of taxes used for operation but that some of the fringe benefits could possibly be worked out.

The mayor and council said officials would go over the various items in the request and determine costs and give an answer in two weeks on what could be done.

William Walsh, attorney for the police and firemen, pointed out that the city has lost many experienced firemen and police officers to private industry in the past few years due to the lack of suitable salaries on which to raise their families. He also said many police officers have part-time jobs so as to make enough money to live decently.

The street and water department workers want a 25-cent an hour increase but this is out due to the budget having been set. One area in which some hope was expressed by the mayor was in payment of Blue Cross and Blue Shield for families of the city workers. The city presently pays only for the employe.

A full day off on Good Friday is also being asked. The city workers used to get half a day off for the Cumberland races but these are no longer held.

The workers want four weeks vacation after 10 years service. The street and water department workers also say they want 90 days sick leave instead of the present 60 days. The sick leave is accumulated at the rate of 15 days each year. The city workers point to the full payment of salaries of police and firemen who are injured on the job for a full year. They get only $35 per week under Workmen's Compensation.

The mayor said "this is a terrible situation as the take-home pay of the city workers is very small and the cost of living has been rising each year."

The mayor said perhaps one solution to some of the problems would be to mechanize some parts of the street department work and when a man retires or leaves city employment no one else be hired. The money saved would be used to increase the pay of workers still in the department.

Councilman William V. Keegan said the request of the city employes "is reasonable" and he hopes some aid can be given concerning the request.

Commissioner Ray Light said the council could confer next Monday with the mayor and perhaps something can be worked out for the benefit of the workers.

The last general wage increase for city employes became effective March 25. It provided a flat five cents an hour for hourly-paid workers and $104 a year for salaried employes.

Renewed Squabble Over Interest

In what must now be a monotonous exercise for all concerned, Chairman Martin of the Federal Reserve Board has concluded another debate on the board's credit policies with the "easy money" chaps of Congress. And as has happened so many times before, neither side was able to convince the other.

By now the public has been made well aware, through periodic repetition by Mr. Martin, that the board is not particularly concerned with interest rate levels but with an adequate flow of funds. Testifying before the Joint Economic Committee, the chairman said that some people have a mystical faith in high or low interest rates. The Reserve Board, he insisted, should be in the middle ground.

Nonetheless, Chairman Patman of the committee and two of its members, Senator Proxmire and Representative Reuss, both of Wisconsin, feel that the Reserve Board is pursuing a tight credit policy which is hampering the economy. Mr. Martin pointed out that the banking system is supplying business with all the funds it needs.

He might have reminded them also that low interest rates had practically no effect on the economy in the depressed 1930s.

Increasing rates to levels which would discourage business borrowing would, of course, impede the economy. But to cut interest rates sharply, as desired by Patman, Proxmire, Reuss & Co., would be unrealistic under present money market conditions and unwise in view of the deficit in the United States balance in international payments.

Low rates would only grease the dollar's flight from home.

These Days

Zilch And Doakes

It was said, by savvy politicians, that no matter what happened elsewhere, the Democrats had to win in California and New York State if President Kennedy was to be re-elected in 1964. It was therefore presumed that the Democrats would do everything possible and sensible to hold those states. In California, they renominated Governor Brown and by all accounts, he will be re-elected. In that state there seemed to be leadership.

In New York State, they are scraping the bottom of a herring barrel for a candidate. It looks as though they are now between Joe Doakes and Elmer Zilch. In fact, it looks as though the Democratic politicians are using the telephone book to find a candidate to oppose Nelson Rockefeller and Jacob Javits.

Every day, they come up with a new unknown, with somebody that has a name that is known to some people but not to too many.

It has been suggested by some that James Farley would make a fitting candidate. He has an excellent reputation. He has been in New York State politics for half a century. He has not stolen any money from anybody. He does not lie. But I should imagine that by now, a man of his calibre and significance must regard himself as insulted by his own party which seems to be going into the by-ways and ditches to find a candidate and to pass him by.

It is an amazing performance and must give Governor Nelson Rockefeller cause for amusement and laughter. Rockefeller was a defeated man last Winter. His divorce was a nasty business and offensive to Americans who regard the family as an institution worthy of preservation.

It is not so today that Rockefeller can easily be defeated. The Democrats have failed to recognize that the parochial and sub-parochial characters whom they dig up, subject to trial and error test, cannot be elected if they ran against John Doe because neither their virtues nor vices are known to the populace.

The most recent name to be bandied about is that of the U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau, a novice. His father was Secretary of the Treasury under Franklin D. Roosevelt. His father's chief assistant was Harry Dexter White. His grandfather, our Ambassador to Turkey, was a man of quality worthy of any office. It is because of this ancestry that Henry Morgenthau's name is mentioned. Concerning himself, very little is known, except that he was given a political appointment. He might be a good man or not—it is difficult to know. But he is no match for Nelson Rockefeller who can snow him under.

This is a startling situation because it is assumed that the Kennedys are very astute politicians who know how to handle people and get out the vote. In the New York gubernatorial situation, they have given no evidence of skill or even understanding of their own potentialities. They are risking defeat in New York State in 1964, for no good reason whatsoever, except that nobody seems to know what to do.

It might be said, naively, that New York is a sovereign state and the Democrats there can nominate whomever they choose and that the Kennedys, being from Massachusetts, will not interfere. There is no realism in that. Nobody can be nominated by the Democrats in New York without the consent and good-will of President Kennedy and apparently the President has no candidate of his own and men organize to be announced to him through the press or by other means.

Each aspirant assumes that as there is no one else who can be elected, perhaps he will be chosen as the least of nonentities. Sooner or later, someone must be chosen, Zilch, Doakes, Jones, Smith or the leader of the Vegetarians.

One of two candidates can defeat Nelson Rockefeller and eliminate him from the 1964 Presidential race. One is Robert F. Wagner, the Mayor; the other is James Farley, the former Postmaster General. Perhaps neither wants the job, but if nominated, either holds the good-will of the people of the state. An attempt has been made to convince Jim Farley to run for United States Senator. Usually he says that that does not attract his interest.

It is astonishing that in an enormous state like New York there is so much political confusion.

Subversive Doctrine Found In Black Muslim Cult 'Scriptures'

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on a news tour of European trouble spots. In his absence, his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — From the "scriptures" of the militant Black Muslim cult, the House Unamerican Activities Committee has now compiled evidence, chapter and verse, that the cult is not only bitterly anti-white but anti-American.

Investigators also believe that Communist agitators are helping to organize Black Muslim cells among Negroes. It is standard procedure for the Reds to stir up racial hatred by inflaming the extremists of different races.

The sect has done its most effective proselyting in prisons, where it has gained converts and fomented trouble in the name of religion. Recent riots at Lorton Reformitory near Washington, for instance, were touched off by Black Muslims spitting in the faces of white inmates and guards.

For doctrine, the Black Muslims preach a bizarre mixture of Mohammedanism, rabble-gabble, and mumbo-jumbo. It is all "revealed" by their panjandrum, who calls himself Elijay Muhammad and claims to speak for allah.

His word is contained in a black bible, called "The Supreme Wisdom" — a biblical burlesque which sometimes imitates the scriptures but often lapses into the homilies of Harlem.

A typical passage on the persecution of the righteous: "My poor people who have turned to their own got (allah) and religion (Islam) are constantly being tracked down and watched, as though they were about to stick up a bank."

Fard And The Devil

"The Supreme Wisdom" teaches that allah is now on earth in the person of Master Fard Muhammad, who came out of Mecca in 1930. His counterpart is identified as "the arch devil John Hawkins" who was "permitted to make slaves of our innocent, righteous forefathers in Africa and forcibly bring them to these shores in the year 1555."

Throughout the book runs the same theme: That the white race is doomed, America must fall, and the black race will inherit the earth. Here are typical passages, which the Unamerican Activities Committee doesn't think are funny:

— "America is falling, my people. She has to fall, because she is a habitation of devils (whites). Forsake her and fly to your own."

— "I want to see you, my people, in a country that you can call your own. There is no hope for such under the slavemaster's children and their flag."

— "Muslims alone will rule the new world, and this generation will live to witness the change."

— "Help me to get the message of Islam to our people with whatever cash that you are able to give. Remember, you will get two to ten for one. The whole earth will be given to you to rule forever. So help yourselves to escape out of America. She is falling, falling."

Hints Of Murder

The black bible calls upon Muslims to hate the white race, to remove pictures of white people from their homes, to support racial segregation, and to kill white men who romance Negro women.

This suggestion that blood may have to be spilled keeps turning up between the lines.

"Thanks to you, o allah," declares one passage, "for making manifest our enemy (the white race), and help us, o allah, to die the death of a Muslim."

Elsewhere, the black bible commands: "Kill no one whom allah has not ordered to be killed."

But the word apparently has already gone out for the execution of at least two categories. For a subsequent passage declares: "If a brother kills a brother, the murderer must be killed, or anyone that murders a Muslim must be killed."

What worries the authorities is that thousands of Black Muslims are already swearing by these inflammatory passages.

Note — The cult not only has been repudiated by legitimate Mohammedans but by every responsible Negro organization.

Dirksen's Cover-up

After obstructing drug reforms for two years, Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen is now back-pedaling with a dexterity found only among cyclists and politicians.

His Senate office had become headquarters on Capitol Hill for the drug lobby. Then the sickening drug scandals burst into the news: Thousands of drug-deformed babies born in Europe, a contaminated drug causing breast development in baby boys at San Francisco City Hospital, an anti-cholesterol drug withdrawn from the market after users developed eye cataracts.

With such stories troubling the public conscience and an election coming up, Dirksen hastily began covering up his activities against drug reforms. He even persuaded Mississippi Sen. James Eastland to answer some of his critical mail from Illinois voters.

Since Eastland doesn't face re-election until 1966, then in a state far removed from Illinois, it is safe for him to take the blame for Dirksen's doings.

Eastland insisted, for instance, that he had been responsible for inviting two lawyers for the drug interests, Lloyd Cutler and Marshall Hornblower, to attend a secret Seante conference on drug legislation.

Others who attended the conference had the impression that the two attorneys were negotiating for Dirksen. Inadvertently, the attorneys left behind their copy of the industry's proposals. This fell into the hands of an administration aide, Jerome Sonosky, who noticed that the wording was precisely the same as Dirksen later offered as his own amendments.

But the suave and savvy Dirksen no longer is pressing his two-year fight against drug reforms. Even behind closed doors, he now keeps discretely quiet lest the walls have ears.

At the Senate Judiciary Committee's most recent closed-door meetings on the drug bill, Dirksen sat with hands folded and eyes lifted heavenward while Senators Roman Hruska of Nebraska and John McClellan of Arkansas did the talking for the drug industry.

Unlike Dirksen, they don't have to worry about re-election this year.

Will Government Ownership Come To America?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Shall the government own everything, regulate everything — including prices and wages — and control the whole national economy? For many decades the answer to such a question would have been an emphatic negative, but today the Democratic Party has a substantial number of members in Congress who openly favor government ownership as a public policy.

The recent filibuster on the bill covering ownership of the space-satellite communications system — known as "telstar" — revealed several Democratic Senators of the so-called "liberal" group as favoring government ownership, despite the opposition of the Administration.

Also, some Democratic members of the Senate Antitrust Committee now are demanding that the steel companies disclose data on their internal operations, which means that all competitors would see this information. Apparently the drive is on to increase government control over the making of prices. This is a short step away from wage-setting.

Proposed mergers, moreover, of railroads and consolidations of airlines are before governmental bodies today for approval or disapproval. The prospect is that many workers will lose their jobs because of such mergers, though the companies predict that the gain in efficiency will result in improved service and eventually in more jobs.

The labor-union leaders would be the last to admit it, but they must assume some responsibility for the plight of those transportation companies which are not able to get high enough rates to absorb increased wage costs and to meet the expense of "featherbedding" — payment for work not being done. This constitutes a form of subsidy devised by labor unions to benefit their own members.

Companies nowadays have to decide whether to seek an alternative or to try to get along with fewer employes and be content with a smaller volume of specialized products sold at a relatively high price to those who must have such goods no matter what the cost. The alternative policy is usually to endeavor to get a larger sales volume at lower prices. This is theoretically a sound approach, but it depends on the use of automatic equipment and on the development of greater efficiency. This is something to which labor-union policy customarily refuses to give cooperation.

Also, to build and modernize plants requires more capital. Investors do not like to lend or invest money in enterprises that are in trouble. So it's a vicious circle. Unless there are satisfactory earnings, the funds cannot be obtained to build better plants to promote greater efficiency and to increase earnings. Yet unless labor costs and work rules can be held in line, employers will soon find their earnings steadily diminished.

Economic principles, therefore, are coming into conflict more and more today with the pressures of groups which uncompromisingly demand the maximum and do not think of the future of the whole economic system.

Then there is the factor of government competition with industry, as manifested by the government invasion of the power industry through the construction of dams and the subsidizing of publicly owned power plants, instead of leasing these facilities to private companies that could competitively bid on them.

The whole system of free enterprise is one of risk capital and hazards, but it nevertheless has managed to build America into the most powerful economic factor in the world today.

What is the reason for the emergence of a new faction in Congress which boldly champions government ownership? Do the people really understand the fundamental issues? Experience in other lands has shown that when initiative is stifled, competition—with its emphasis on skills and inventive genius — is abandoned, and there develops a lazy reliance on the government to do everything. The result is inefficiency and poor service rendered to the people.

Thus, for example, not a single private telephone or telegraph system exists in the larger countries of the world except the United States. They are all government owned. America has not only the largest system of private communication anywhere but one that far excels any governmental system in service and convenience. To this fact anyone with experience here and abroad can testify.

Yet in Congress a fatal blow is being aimed at the whole doctrine of "people's capitalism," which describes the system prevalent in America today — where the people still have a right to own private companies and share in their earnings, even as the population as a whole shares in the benefits that science and research bring.

The United States now is going through a critical period in its economy history. Will government ownership come to America, as it has in Communist Russia and in other countries? or will America retain its system of "people's capitalism"? This is the issue that seems certain to come before the American people in the national elections in the next few years.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

GROWING EMBASSIES — For some time now people in Washington have been muttering about the growing number of foreign embassies and legations in the capital and about the increasing size of those already there.

Mostly, these complaints have fallen on unheeding ears at the State Department and in Congress, the two places to look for action.

But things are changing. Building plans of the French Embassy at 2535 Belmont Road are receiving the close scrutiny of Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright's Washington home is at 2527 Belmont Road, a stone's throw from the proposed new French structure.

PIN MONEY — Most House members stand four-square for economy in government—or they do until penny-pinching affects themselves.

A survey showed that most members were using their telephone and telegraph allowance faster than had been anticipated. The answer, of course, was not to cut down on long distance calls and telegrams, but to increase the congressional allowances for such purposes.

So the House voted a 12 per cent increase in these allowances for each member. It means 666 more three-minute long distance calls, or 10,000 more telegraphed words that may be sent by each member.

Not bad when one considers that an election year makes communications back home more urgent and voluable than at other times—in the interest of good government, of course!

Time for another cleaning of the desk. Let's see: Two tickets on TWA's Royal Ambassador to Madrid. Mustn't lose them. A royalty check for a pocket book edition of "Some of My Very Best." It comes to $21. The agency clipped me for 10 per cent, that leaves $18.90. Then the publisher of the hard cover edition took his 50 per cent, so I am left with $9.45, of which the government wants $3.45.

Two copies of The Outlook, which tells me what stocks to buy. A letter from Jack Philbin, manager of Jackie Gleason. A sheet of paper with illegible scribbling on it. An explanatory note says:

Aug. 23, 1940. Virginia Lee's first letter. She says it reads: 'Dear, dear Daddy . . .'." An old A. P. flash bulletin which reads: "San Francisco, April 17, 1942 (AP)—The Tokyo Radio announced tonight that 'enemy bombers' attacked Tokyo, the CBS listening station reported. JP1143PCW."

An unread book entitled "Kids, Crime and Chaos" by Roul Tunley. A group of student letters from Mrs. Margaret Mehan's 7th grade class in Mechanicville, N. Y. Two silk ties bought in India and never worn. A card from Alfred Kay, the Pan-American man in Hong Kong. Two passport photos of me, smiling. A financial statement from Monmouth Medical Center. Two boxes of pills, designed to help anyone stop smoking.

A map of the world, folded the wrong way. A card from the Canavati Bros. store in Manger Square, Bethlehem. "Tel. 7189. Mfrs. of Mother-of-Pearl, olive wood, dead sea stones, embroidery dresses, Crusaders' Jackets and Crosses, also real Jewellery." An old letter from Gayle, which is so typical of her:

"Dear Dad: How are you. Everything here is fine. V. Lee is fine. Mother is fine. Nan is fine. Scamper is fine and I am fine. Did you sleep well? Everything is the same. Love, Gayle. P. S. Take good care of yourself."

A copy of Clarence Day's The World of Books:

The world of books
Is the most remarkable
creation of man
Nothing else that he builds ever lasts:
Monuments fall
Nations perish
Civilizations grow old and die out
And after an era of darkness
New races build others.
But in the world of books
are volumes
That have seen this happen
again and again
And yet live on
Still young,
Still as fresh as the day
they were written,
Still telling men's hearts
Of the hearts of men centuries
dead.

A 1938 timetable for the Sandy Hook steamers. A street map of Monmouth County, N. J. Two flattened cigarets. A 1958 invitation from Hamilton Wright to visit Formosa. Some of the items are pretty old, but the granddaddy of them all is a card marked Saint Patrick's Rectory, Jersey City, N. J. February 3, 1926. "To Whom It May Concern: The bearer, James Bishop, comes from one of the best families in our parish. He is an ambitious young man and I feel sure that he will satisfy anyone who employs him. (Rev.) George N. Murphy."

Why save these things? I don't know. I save string too. A program from the Madrid bullring. A contract with Doubleday for "The Glass Crutch," written in 1945. Several notes from my father—all of them worth rereading again and again. An imperial Russian one hundred ruble bond, dated 1902, with 4 per cent interest due for the past 60 years. How about it, Khrushy?

A King Features note from Lester Byck. A busted cigar from Batista's home outside Havana, a beautiful placed called Coquine. A photo of Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay embracing happily a few months ago at their home in Beverly Hills. A big unabridged dictionary given to me by Gladys Glad after Mark Hellinger died.

Some books of matches from Toots Shor's restaurant. Unlike him, they don't light up when you strike them. An original drawing by Burris Jenkins, the greatest of them all. A silk engraving of the Madonna and Child done in Japan, with oriental eyes, formal kimono, etc.

One chipped pool ball with a number eight on it. A Brochure on how to operate a power saw. A pair of bifocals I thought I had lost somewhere else. Seventy unanswered letters. Now, before it is too late, where is that royalty check? . . .

Advice To Heart Patients: Learn To Say 'No'

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

No one looks forward to a heart attack but the emergency is not always as bad as we have been led to believe. Most victims survive and the majority do not become invalids. They return to their former occupations. For many, the warning leads to a new and more desirable existence.

Someone asked a 90-year-old to what he attributed his longevity. He gave credit to his ability to say "no". He told of having had a breakdown at age 40 that required a change in his philosophy of life. His first promise to himself was to say "no" whenever he did not want to do something. The plan paid dividends because his days became less bothersome and more enjoyable and relaxing.

Victims of coronary thrombosis have the same opportunity. There is no better excuse than "I've had a heart attack" for not assuming additional duties, become a member of this or that committee, or giving a talk before some suffy organization. It is an acceptable reason for going home from parties at an early hour or walking out of a dull meeting. No one is offended and the individual haves himself considerable wear and tear.

But there is no reason why members of the coronary club must go beyond this. Statistics show that those who continue to work live longer than those resigned to the rocking chair. Do something, so long as it does not bring on shortness of breath, coughing, or chest pain.

It is natural at first to become apprehensive about exertion. At the end of six weeks after the attack the involved area in the wall of the heart has healed. There is no need to resort to a state of invalidism after three months has elapsed.

Hindsight always is better than foresight but it is a pity more of us do not enjoy ourselves and learn to say "no" before rather than after a heart attack.

TOMORROW: Trachoma causes blindness.

RECURRENT COLD SORES

C. P. writes: I have repeated cold sores above my upper lip. Some say they are due to a virus; others, to a vitamin lack or to an upset stomach. Are any of these possibilities likely?

REPLY

Yes. Cold sores are viral infections that often follow colds and indigestion. We do not know why some people are bothered more than others with these lesions. Immunity plays a role.

VACCINATION IS SAFE

W. P. R. writes: I'm 70 years old and planning to go abroad on a trip. I hear I have to be vaccinated. Is this dangerous at my age?

REPLY

No—but it would be dangerous not to, especially if you go to England. A reaction to a "take" may be followed by a slight fever and swollen arm but this is unusual and everyone recovers.

RETINAL ARTERIES

H. W. wirtes: Does hardening of the arteries of the eyes always lead to blindness?

REPLY

No. We frequently see marked evidence of arteriosclerosis of the retinal vessels in persons with good vision and in top health. There are more common causes of blindness in oldsters.

SENSITIVE TO LOBSTERS

M. B. writes: Could allergy to lobster cause a sore, swollen tongue and stomach contractions after eating it?

REPLY

Yes, but most persons who are allergic to lobster develop hives.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An enterprising young columnist down South has been profiting by a neat labor-saving device — until last month, that is. When he was too lazy to turn out copy on his own, he simply would cut out Bob Considine's New York column of the day previous and reprint it word for word, adding at the end some penetrating comment like, "I heartily agree with Mr. Considine," or "Does the reader go along with this interesting theory?" The young columnist got away with this magnificently — until the rival newspaper in town thoughtlessly began syndicating the Considine column on its editorial page every morning.

Two Amherst students dearly prize a sign they purloined one dark night from an out-of-the-way hotel in Detroit. It proclaims, "Guests are positively forbidden to take lady friends up the back way. The stairs have just been painted."

Nick Morgan tells of a bather on a chilly, overcast morning who ordered hot coffee from a beachside snack bar. "Cream or sugar?" asked the waitress. "It doesn't matter," shuddered the bather. "I'm going to pour it on my feet."

Agency Appropriation Queried

A $12,000 appropriation for the city's Urban Renewal Agency came in for considerable discussion at a meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday when the annual appropriation ordinance was passed.

Objection to the item was voiced by G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and light, and William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire.

Each of the men said they wanted to know how the money would be spent, and each voiced objection to having it go for the salary of someone who would direct the agency's operations.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney was joined by Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, and Frederick J. Hill, finance commissioner, in urging that the appropriation be approved.

Final action on the ordinance was unanimous, although Commissioner Light said his vote was being given only because it was necessary. He stated he "definitely" was opposed to the Urban Renewal item.

Mayor Chaney said he felt the appropriation was vital to the progress of the city, pointing out that much money already has been spent in getting the agency started to work.

John Joyner, resident planner for Blair and Stein Associates, firm which is preparing a comprehensive plan for the city, was called on to explain why the money is needed.

Joyner said employment of an administrator is required if the city is to expect federal funds in renewal and redevelopment projects. The administrator, or director, he continued, will be responsible for detailed planning of projects, and also to the direction of them to completion.

With the employment of the administrator, not expected until around the first of the year, Joyner said he felt sure the city first renewal project would be underway by the fall of 1963.

Mayor Chaney said he felt the Urban Renewal Agency was an indication of whether the city is interested in standing still or advancing, and said he felt sure the city is taking a step forward in work along renewal lines.

City Passes Appropriations Ordinance And Considers Improvement Bonds

A special meeting of the Mayor and Council was held yesterday to pass an ordinance providing for the annual appropriations for the separate municipal departments for the fiscal year.

The ordinance was passed unanimously, although G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and light, said he was voting "aye" only because the action was necessary.

Light emphasized that he was "definitely" opposed to a $12,000 item for urban development, explaining that he felt a more detailed explanation of how the money will be spent is required. He also said that all departments had their requests "cut to the bone," and that the $12,000 could be used to more advantage in other work.

Prior to the unanimous vote, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public properties, pointed out that money for the various departments under her supervision does not provide for any new paving or storm sewers.

The Mayor and Council agreed that such items, and other services that were deemed important, should be studied with the possibility that they could be financed under a General Improvement Bond issue. No definite action was taken along that line, although the individual commissioners said they would explore the estimated costs to determine how large a bond issue might be required.

The appropriations follow:

Operating:
Accident Awards		$ 5,000
Airport Expense		19,350
Canada Hose House		500
Charter Amendments		1,000

Debt Service:
Coupons	74,429
Serial Bonds	197,000	271,429
		$1,991,120

The ordinance also carried an appropriation of $166,125 for operation and maintenance of the city's sewage treatment plant and sanitary sewers. Debt service accounted for $43,875, coupons, and $50,000, serial bonds.

The $260,000 total for those items are self-sustaining as the money is realized from sewage fees.

It was the consensus by council that the individual appropriations were as fair as possible under the limited amount of money that is available to the city.

Prior to adoption, each item was explained by Arthur B. Gibson, who has been retained as financial consultant to set the municipal budget and appropriations.

Call For Treaty

BERLIN (UPI) — East Berlin Communist newspapers used pages of reports and pictures of the West Berlin demonstrations Wednesday without mentioning they were set off by the slaying of an escapee.

The Communists said the riots proved the immediate necessity of a peace treaty which would turn West Berlin into a neutralized "free city" without allied garrisons.

Water Line Rule To Be Enforced

Allegany County Health Department yesterday anounced plans to enforce strictly a state regulation which has been in effect since 1914.

Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian, said the department has had many problems because of county water systems extending their lines indiscriminately. He said this results in insufficient pressure, inadequate lines to serve new areas, failures in locations of existing lines and the inability to establish responsibility for repairs to broken lines.

The law states that the state, a county municipality, district, corporation, company, institution, or person shall not install a system of water supply, sewerage or refuse disposal, for public use, nor materially alter or extend any such existing system, without having received a written permit from the State Board of Health to do so; nor shall any permit for this purpose be issued until complete plans and specifications for the installation, alteration or extension together with such information as the State Board of Health may require, have been submitted and approved by the Board.

All construction must take place in accordance with the approved plans. If it becomes necessary or desirable to make material changes in plans or specifications, the plans or specifications, together with a statement of the reasons for the alterations, must be submitted to the State Board of Health. The changes must not be made until they are aproved by the board and a premit is issued.

After completion of the work a certified copy of the plans in full, showing the work as built, must be filed with the State Board of Health for permanent record.

The State Board of Health is empowered to make and enforce such rules and regulations regarding the submission of plans for approval and record as it may deem reasonable and proper.

Further information regarding the law and its enforcement may be obtained at the Sanitation Department at the Union Street County Building.

Fish, Game Hearings Set

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Department of Natural Resources wants West Virginia sportsmen to tell it how the fish and game seasons should be handled.

A series of hearings has been scheduled by the department during September in communities throughout the state. Interested parties will be able to give their ideas on hunting season dates and fishing regulations for 1963 at the hearings.

The hearings will start in Clarksburg on Sept. 4. Others will be Sept. 5 at Morgantown; 6, Elkins; 7, Parkersburg; 17, Moorefield; 18, Martinsburg; 19, Beckley; 21, Charleston; 24, Logan; 26, Wheeling.

Two Home Permits Are Issued Here

Two dwelling permits have been issued to Allegany County residents by James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Board of County Commissioners.

Norman Steele, Oakwood Avenue, Roberts Place, was granted a permit to construct a brick dwelling on Sunset View.

John H. Chenowith, LaVale, was issued a permit to construct a stone house on Lots 18-19 on Maryland Street.

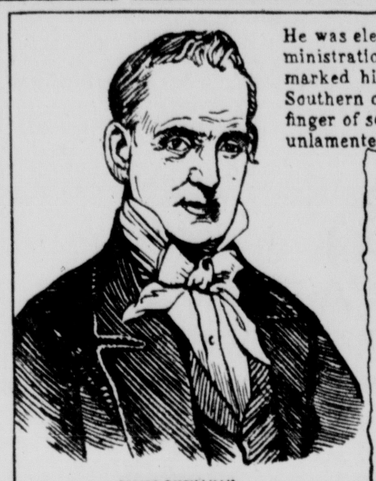
CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures



JAMES BUCHANAN.

JUDAS.

He was elected President by fraud and trickery! under his administration the Treasury was robbed! duplicity and cowardice marked his career! finally, he sold his country to a band of Southern conspirators, and now lives to be pointed at with the finger of scorn, by all true men! and will go down to his grave unlamented.

No. 157 Probably no ex-president except "U. S." Grant, who suffered both from ignominy and malignant pain, spent bitterer last years than James Buchanan.

After he retired from the White House a flow of "violent, insulting and threatening letters" came to his home, Wheatland, near Lancaster, Pa. The epithet "Traitor" was hurled at him. Attempts were made to set Wheatland afire in the night.

Buchanan quickly learned he could not make any effective defense while the war lasted. "The [Lincoln] administration sealed the lips of those who might have refuted many of the stories [against Buchanan] with offers of political reward and threats of retaliation," says Philip Striver Klein. (Five Democrat members of Buchanan's Cabinet were given posts in Lincoln's government.)

The tragic last decade of the Pennsylvanian is discussed illuminatingly by Klein in a new biography, "President James Buchanan" (Pennsylvania State University Press).

Why, the critics asked, had not Buchanan sent troops to South Carolina early in 1860 and, as President Jackson had done in the thirties, nipped secession in the bud? Because, he reminded friends who would listen to him, his Cabinet and members of every political party opposed such a move in the months before Lincoln's election; because Gen. Winfield Scott saw no danger until Oct. 29, and at that time could muster only 300 troops (Congress would not authorize a call for more); because a provocative mobilization at Charleston would most probably activate secession and war rather than avert them; because no one knew how the election would go."

Renewed Squabble Over Interest

In what must now be a monotonous exercise for all concerned, Chairman Martin of the Federal Reserve Board has concluded another debate on the board's credit policies with the "easy money" chaps of Congress. And as has happened so many times before, neither side was able to convince the other.

By now the public has been made well aware, through periodic repetition by Mr. Martin, that the board is not particularly concerned with interest rate levels but with an adequate flow of funds. Testifying before the Joint Economic Committee, the chairman said that some people have a mystical faith in high or low interest rates. The Reserve Board, he insisted, should be in the middle ground.

Nonetheless, Chairman Patman of the committee and two of its members, Senator Proxmire and Representative Reuss, both of Wisconsin, feel that the Reserve Board is pursuing a tight credit policy which is hampering the economy. Mr. Martin pointed out that the banking system is supplying business with all the funds it needs.

He might have reminded them also that low interest rates had practically no effect on the economy in the depressed 1930s.

Increasing rates to levels which would discourage business borrowing would, of course, impede the economy. But to cut interest rates sharply, as desired by Patman, Proxmire, Reuss & Co., would be unrealistic under present money market conditions and unwise in view of the deficit in the United States balance in international payments.

Low rates would only grease the dollar's flight from home.

These Days

Zilch And Doakes

It was said, by savvy politicians, that no matter what happened elsewhere, the Democrats had to win in California and New York State if President Kennedy was to be re-elected in 1964. It was therefore presumed that the Democrats would do everything possible and sensible to hold those states. In California, they renominated Governor Brown and by all accounts, he will be re-elected. In that state there seemed to be leadership.

In New York State, they are scraping the bottom of a herring barrel for a candidate. It looks as though they are now between Joe Doakes and Elmer Zilch. In fact, it looks as though the Democratic politicians are using the telephone book to find a candidate to oppose Nelson Rockefeller and Jacob Javits.

Every day, they come up with a new unknown, with somebody that has a name that is known to some people but not to too many.

It has been suggested by some that James Farley would make a fitting candidate. He has an excellent reputation. He has been in New York State politics for half a century. He has not stolen any money from anybody. He does not lie. But I should imagine that by now, a man of his calibre and significance must regard himself as insulted by his own party which seems to be going into the by-ways and ditches to find a candidate and to pass him by.

It is an amazing performance and must give Governor Nelson Rockefeller cause for amusement and laughter. Rockefeller was a defeated man last Winter. His divorce was a nasty business and offensive to Americans who regard the family as an institution worthy of preservation.

It is not so today that Rockefeller can easily be defeated. The Democrats have failed to recognize that the parochial and sub-parochial characters whom they dig up, subject to trial and error test, cannot be elected if they ran against John Doe because neither their virtues nor vices are known to the populace.

The most recent name to be bandied about is that of the U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau, a novice. His father was Secretary of the Treasury under Franklin D. Roosevelt. His father's chief assistant was Harry Dexter White. His grandfather, our Ambassador to Turkey, was a man of quality worthy of any office. It is because of this ancestry that Henry Morgenthau's name is mentioned. Concerning himself, very little is known, except that he was given a political appointment. He might be a good man or not—it is difficult to know. But he is no match for Nelson Rockefeller who can snow him under.

This is a startling situation because it is assumed that the Kennedys are very astute politicians who know how to handle people and get out the vote. In the New York gubernatorial situation, they have given no evidence of skill or even understanding of their own potentialities. They are risking defeat in New York State in 1964, for no good reason whatsoever, except that nobody seems to know what to do.

It might be said, naively, that New York is a sovereign state and the Democrats there can nominate whomever they choose and that the Kennedys, being from Massachusetts, will not interfere. There is no realism in that. Nobody can be nominated by the Democrats in New York without the consent and good-will of President Kennedy and apparently the President has no candidate of his own and men organize to be announced to him through the press or by other means.

Each aspirant assumes that as there is no one else who can be elected, perhaps he will be chosen as the least of nonentities. Sooner or later, someone must be chosen, Zilch, Doakes, Jones, Smith or the leader of the Vegetarians.

One of two candidates can defeat Nelson Rockefeller and eliminate him from the 1964 Presidential race. One is Robert F. Wagner, the Mayor; the other is James Farley, the former Postmaster General. Perhaps neither wants the job, but if nominated, either holds the good-will of the people of the state. An attempt has been made to convince Jim Farley to run for United States Senator. Usually he says that that does not attract his interest.

It is astonishing that in an enormous state like New York there is so much political confusion.

Will Government Ownership Come To America?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Shall the government own everything, regulate everything — including prices and wages — and control the whole national economy? For many decades the answer to such a question would have been an emphatic negative, but today the Democratic Party has a substantial number of members in Congress who openly favor government ownership as a public policy.

The recent filibuster on the bill covering ownership of the space-satellite communications system — known as "telstar" — revealed several Democratic Senators of the so-called "liberal" group as favoring government ownership, despite the opposition of the Administration.

Also, some Democratic members of the Senate Antitrust Committee now are demanding that the steel companies disclose data on their internal operations, which means that all competitors would see this information. Apparently the drive is on to increase government control over the making of prices. This is a short step away from wage-setting.

Proposed mergers, moreover, of railroads and consolidations of airlines are before governmental bodies today for approval or disapproval. The prospect is that many workers will lose their jobs because of such mergers, though the companies predict that the gain in efficiency will result in improved service and eventually in more jobs.

The labor-union leaders would be the last to admit it, but they must assume some responsibility for the plight of those transportation companies which are not able to get high enough rates to absorb increased wage costs and to meet the expense of "featherbedding" — payment for work not being done. This constitutes a form of subsidy devised by labor unions to benefit their own members.

Companies nowadays have to decide whether to seek an alternative or to try to get along with fewer employes and be content with a smaller volume of specialized products sold at a relatively high price to those who must have such goods no matter what the cost. The alternative policy is usually to endeavor to get a larger sales volume at lower prices. This is theoretically a sound approach, but it depends on the use of automatic equipment and on the development of greater efficiency. This is something to which labor-union policy customarily refuses to give cooperation.

Also, to build and modernize plants requires more capital. Investors do not like to lend or invest money in enterprises that are in trouble. So it's a vicious circle. Unless there are satisfactory earnings, the funds cannot be obtained to build better plants to promote greater efficiency and to increase earnings. Yet unless labor costs and work rules can be held in line, employers will soon find their earnings steadily diminished.

Economic principles, therefore, are coming into conflict more and more today with the pressures of groups which uncompromisingly demand the maximum and do not think of the future of the whole economic system.

Then there is the factor of government competition with industry, as manifested by the government invasion of the power industry through the construction of dams and the subsidizing of publicly owned power plants, instead of leasing these facilities to private companies that could competitively bid on them.

The whole system of free enterprise is one of risk capital and hazards, but it nevertheless has managed to build America into the most powerful economic factor in the world today.

What is the reason for the emergence of a new faction in Congress which boldly champions government ownership? Do the people really understand the fundamental issues? Experience in other lands has shown that when initiative is stifled, competition—with its emphasis on skills and inventive genius — is abandoned, and there develops a lazy reliance on the government to do everything. The result is inefficiency and poor service rendered to the people.

Thus, for example, not a single private telephone or telegraph system exists in the larger countries of the world except the United States. They are all government owned. America has not only the largest system of private communication anywhere but one that far excels any governmental system in service and convenience. To this fact anyone with experience here and abroad can testify.

Yet in Congress a fatal blow is being aimed at the whole doctrine of "people's capitalism," which describes the system prevalent in America today — where the people still have a right to own private companies and share in their earnings, even as the population as a whole shares in the benefits that science and research bring.

The United States now is going through a critical period in its economy history. Will government ownership come to America, as it has in Communist Russia and in other countries? or will America retain its system of "people's capitalism"? This is the issue that seems certain to come before the American people in the national elections in the next few years.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

GROWING EMBASSIES — For some time now people in Washington have been muttering about the growing number of foreign embassies and legations in the capital and about the increasing size of those already there.

Mostly, these complaints have fallen on unheeding ears at the State Department and in Congress, the two places to look for action.

But things are changing. Building plans of the French Embassy at 2535 Belmont Road are receiving the close scrutiny of Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright's Washington home is at 2527 Belmont Road, a stone's throw from the proposed new French structure.

PIN MONEY — Most House members stand four-square for economy in government—or they do until penny-pinching affects themselves.

A survey showed that most members were using their telephone and telegraph allowance faster than had been anticipated. The answer, of course, was not to cut down on long distance calls and telegrams, but to increase the congressional allowances for such purposes.

So the House voted a 12 per cent increase in these allowances for each member. It means 666 more three-minute long distance calls, or 10,000 more telegraphed words that may be sent by each member.

Not bad when one considers that an election year makes communications back home more urgent and voluable than at other times—in the interest of good government, of course!

Subversive Doctrine Found In Black Muslim Cult 'Scriptures'

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on a news tour of European trouble spots. In his absence, his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — From the "scriptures" of the militant Black Muslim cult, the House Unamerican Activities Committee has now compiled evidence, chapter and verse, that the cult is not only bitterly anti-white but anti-American.

Investigators also believe that Communist agitators are helping to organize Black Muslim cells among Negroes. It is standard procedure for the Reds to stir up racial hatred by inflaming the extremists of different races.

The sect has done its most effective proselyting in prisons, where it has gained converts and fomented trouble in the name of religion. Recent riots at Lorton Reformitory near Washington, for instance, were touched off by Black Muslims spitting in the faces of white inmates and guards.

For doctrine, the Black Muslims preach a bizarre mixture of Mohammedanism, rabble-gabble, and mumbo-jumbo. It is all "revealed" by their panjandrum, who calls himself Elijay Muhammad and claims to speak for allah.

His word is contained in a black bible, called "The Supreme Wisdom" — a biblical burlesque which sometimes imitates the scriptures but often lapses into the homilies of Harlem.

A typical passage on the persecution of the righteous: "My poor people who have turned to their own got (allah) and religion (Islam) are constantly being tracked down and watched, as though they were about to stick up a bank."

Fard And The Devil

"The Supreme Wisdom" teaches that allah is now on earth in the person of Master Fard Muhammad, who came out of Mecca in 1930. His counterpart is identified as "the arch devil John Hawkins" who was "permitted to make slaves of our innocent, righteous forefathers in Africa and forcibly bring them to these shores in the year 1555."

Throughout the book runs the same theme: That the white race is doomed, America must fall, and the black race will inherit the earth. Here are typical passages, which the Unamerican Activities Committee doesn't think are funny:

— "America is falling, my people. She has to fall, because she is a habitation of devils (whites). Forsake her and fly to your own."

— "I want to see you, my people, in a country that you can call your own. There is no hope for such under the slavemaster's children and their flag."

— "Muslims alone will rule the new world, and this generation will live to witness the change."

— "Help me to get the message of Islam to our people with whatever cash that you are able to give. Remember, you will get two to ten for one. The whole earth will be given to you to rule forever. So help yourselves to escape out of America. She is falling, falling."

Hints Of Murder

The black bible calls upon Muslims to hate the white race, to remove pictures of white people from their homes, to support racial segregation, and to kill white men who romance Negro women.

This suggestion that blood may have to be spilled keeps turning up between the lines.

"Thanks to you, o allah," declares one passage, "for making manifest our enemy (the white race), and help us, o allah, to die the death of a Muslim."

Elsewhere, the black bible commands: "Kill no one whom allah has not ordered to be killed."

But the word apparently has already gone out for the execution of at least two categories. For a subsequent passage declares: "If a brother kills a brother, the murderer must be killed, or anyone that murders a Muslim must be killed."

What worries the authorities is that thousands of Black Muslims are already swearing by these inflammatory passages.

Note — The cult not only has been repudiated by legitimate Mohammedans but by every responsible Negro organization.

Dirksen's Cover-up

After obstructing drug reforms for two years, Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen is now back-pedaling with a dexterity found only among cyclists and politicians.

His Senate office had become headquarters on Capitol Hill for the drug lobby. Then the sickening drug scandals burst into the news: Thousands of drug-deformed babies born in Europe, a contaminated drug causing breast development in baby boys at San Francisco City Hospital, an anti-cholesterol drug withdrawn from the market after users developed eye cataracts.

With such stories troubling the public conscience and an election coming up, Dirksen hastily began covering up his activities against drug reforms. He even persuaded Mississippi Sen. James Eastland to answer some of his critical mail from Illinois voters.

Since Eastland doesn't face re-election until 1966, then in a state far removed from Illinois, it is safe for him to take the blame for Dirksen's doings.

Eastland insisted, for instance, that he had been responsible for inviting two lawyers for the drug interests, Lloyd Cutler and Marshall Hornblower, to attend a secret Seante conference on drug legislation.

Others who attended the conference had the impression that the two attorneys were negotiating for Dirksen. Inadvertently, the attorneys left behind their copy of the industry's proposals. This fell into the hands of an administration aide, Jerome Sonosky, who noticed that the wording was precisely the same as Dirksen later offered as his own amendments.

But the suave and savvy Dirksen no longer is pressing his two-year fight against drug reforms. Even behind closed doors, he now keeps discretely quiet lest the walls have ears.

At the Senate Judiciary Committee's most recent closed-door meetings on the drug bill, Dirksen sat with hands folded and eyes lifted heavenward while Senators Roman Hruska of Nebraska and John McClellan of Arkansas did the talking for the drug industry.

Unlike Dirksen, they don't have to worry about re-election this year.

Time for another cleaning of the desk. Let's see: Two tickets on TWA's Royal Ambassador to Madrid. Mustn't lose them. A royalty check for a pocket book edition of "Some of My Very Best." It comes to $21. The agency clipped me for 10 per cent, that leaves $18.90. Then the publisher of the hard cover edition took his 50 per cent, so I am left with $9.45, of which the government wants $3.45.

Two copies of The Outlook, which tells me what stocks to buy. A letter from Jack Philbin, manager of Jackie Gleason. A sheet of paper with illegible scribbling on it. An explanatory note says:

Aug. 23, 1940. Virginia Lee's first letter. She says it reads: 'Dear, dear Daddy . . .'." An old A. P. flash bulletin which reads: "San Francisco, April 17, 1942 (AP)—The Tokyo Radio announced tonight that 'enemy bombers' attacked Tokyo, the CBS listening station reported. JP1143PCW."

An unread book entitled "Kids, Crime and Chaos" by Roul Tunley. A group of student letters from Mrs. Margaret Mehan's 7th grade class in Mechanicville, N. Y. Two silk ties bought in India and never worn. A card from Alfred Kay, the Pan-American man in Hong Kong. Two passport photos of me, smiling. A financial statement from Monmouth Medical Center. Two boxes of pills, designed to help anyone stop smoking.

A map of the world, folded the wrong way. A card from the Canavati Bros. store in Manger Square, Bethlehem. "Tel. 7189. Mfrs. of Mother-of-Pearl, olive wood, dead sea stones, embroidery dresses, Crusaders' Jackets and Crosses, also real Jewellery." An old letter from Gayle, which is so typical of her:

"Dear Dad: How are you. Everything here is fine. V. Lee is fine. Mother is fine. Nan is fine. Scamper is fine and I am fine. Did you sleep well? Everything is the same. Love, Gayle. P. S. Take good care of yourself."

A copy of Clarence Day's The World of Books:

The world of books
Is the most remarkable
creation of man
Nothing else that he builds
ever lasts:
Monuments fall
Nations perish
Civilizations grow old and
die out
And after an era of darkness
New races build others.
But in the world of books
are volumes
That have seen this happen
again and again
And yet live on
Still young,
Still as fresh as the day
they were written,
Still telling men's hearts
Of the hearts of men centuries
dead.

A 1938 timetable for the Sandy Hook steamers. A street map of Monmouth County, N. J. Two flattened cigarets. A 1958 invitation from Hamilton Wright to visit Formosa. Some of the items are pretty old, but the granddaddy of them all is a card marked Saint Patrick's Rectory, Jersey City, N. J. February 3, 1926. "To Whom It May Concern: The bearer, James Bishop, comes from one of the best families in our parish. He is an ambitious young man and I feel sure that he will satisfy anyone who employs him. (Rev.) George N. Murphy."

Why save these things? I don't know. I save string too. A program from the Madrid bullring. A contract with Doubleday for "The Glass Crutch," written in 1945. Several notes from my father—all of them worth rereading again and again. An imperial Russian one hundred ruble bond, dated 1902, with 4 per cent interest due for the past 60 years. How about it, Khrushy?

A King Features note from Lester Byck. A busted cigar from Batista's home outside Havana, a beautiful placed called Coquine. A photo of Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay embracing happily a few months ago at their home in Beverly Hills. A big unabridged dictionary given to me by Gladys Glad after Mark Hellinger died.

Some books of matches from Toots Shor's restaurant. Unlike him, they don't light up when you strike them. An original drawing by Burris Jenkins, the greatest of them all. A silk engraving of the Madonna and Child done in Japan, with oriental eyes, formal kimono, etc.

One chipped pool ball with a number eight on it. A Brochure on how to operate a power saw. A pair of bifocals I thought I had lost somewhere else. Seventy unanswered letters. Now, before it is too late, where is that royalty check? . . .

Advice To Heart Patients: Learn To Say 'No'

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

No one looks forward to a heart attack but the emergency is not always as bad as we have been led to believe. Most victims survive and the majority do not become invalids. They return to their former occupations. For many, the warning leads to a new and more desirable existence.

Someone asked a 90-year-old to what he attributed his longevity. He gave credit to his ability to say "no". He told of having had a breakdown at age 40 that required a change in his philosophy of life. His first promise to himself was to say "no" whenever he did not want to do something. The plan paid dividends because his days became less bothersome and more enjoyable and relaxing.

Victims of coronary thrombosis have the same opportunity. There is no better excuse than "I've had a heart attack" for not assuming additional duties, become a member of this or that committee, or giving a talk before some suffy organization. It is an acceptable reason for going home from parties at an early hour or walking out of a dull meeting. No one is offended and the individual haves himself considerable wear and tear.

But there is no reason why members of the coronary club must go beyond this. Statistics show that those who continue to work live longer than those resigned to the rocking chair. Do something, so long as it does not bring on shortness of breath, coughing, or chest pain.

It is natural at first to become apprehensive about exertion. At the end of six weeks after the attack the involved area in the wall of the heart has healed. There is no need to resort to a state of invalidism after three months has elapsed.

Hindsight always is better than foresight but it is a pity more of us do not enjoy ourselves and learn to say "no" before rather than after a heart attack.

TOMORROW: Trachoma causes blindness.

RECURRENT COLD SORES

C. P. writes: I have repeated cold sores above my upper lip. Some say they are due to a virus; others, to a vitamin lack or to an upset stomach. Are any of these possibilities likely?

REPLY

Yes. Cold sores are viral infections that often follow colds and indigestion. We do not know why some people are bothered more than others with these lesions. Immunity plays a role.

VACCINATION IS SAFE

W. P. R. writes: I'm 70 years old and planning to go abroad on a trip. I hear I have to be vaccinated. Is this dangerous at my age?

REPLY

No—but it would be dangerous not to, especially if you go to England. A reaction to a "take" may be followed by a slight fever and swollen arm but this is unusual and everyone recovers.

RETINAL ARTERIES

H. W. wirtes: Does hardening of the arteries of the eyes always lead to blindness?

REPLY

No. We frequently see marked evidence of arteriosclerosis of the retinal vessels in persons with good vision and in top health. There are more common causes of blindness in oldsters.

SENSITIVE TO LOBSTERS

M. B. writes: Could allergy to lobster cause a sore, swollen tongue and stomach contractions after eating it?

REPLY

Yes, but most persons who are allergic to lobster develop hives.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An enterprising young columnist down South has been profiting by a neat labor-saving device — until last month, that is. When he was too lazy to turn out copy on his own, he simply would cut out Bob Considine's New York column of the day previous and reprint it word for word, adding at the end some penetrating comment like, "I heartily agree with Mr. Considine," or "Does the reader go along with this interesting theory?" The young columnist got away with this magnificently — until the rival newspaper in town thoughtlessly began syndicating the Considine column on its editorial page every morning.

Two Amherst students dearly prize a sign they purloined one dark night from an out-of-the-way hotel in Detroit. It proclaims, "Guests are positively forbidden to take lady friends up the back way. The stairs have just been painted."

Nick Morgan tells of a bather on a chilly, overcast morning who ordered hot coffee from a beach-side snack bar. "Cream or sugar?" asked the waitress. "It doesn't matter," shuddered the bather. "I'm going to pour it on my feet."

Windowless Skyscraper Nearly Bombproof And Dustproof

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Come September first a small army of telephone workers will move into a new skyscraper on Manhattan's west side that has had New Yorkers gaping for months.

The tombstone-like building rises straight up in the air for the equivalent of 35 storys without a single window — just a vast monolithic pile of concrete, which now is being covered with glazed brick trimmed in granite.

The explanation usually heard in the streets about the strange building is "They don't need any windows, not going to be any people in 'here, just automatic long distance telephone machinery."

The New York Telephone Co., says that isn't true, that a total of 3,000 people will work in or out of the building. But it is true that many of the floors will house mainly automatic machinery and the top 100 feet will contain vast horns, antennas for a microwave communications system.

Actually, the company says the building is windowless to make it as nearly bombproof and fall-out proof as possible. Undoubtedly it will be the safest building in New York in case of attack, nuclear or otherwise. The concrete curtain walls are 12 inches thick and strongly reinforced with steel. It has its own emergency water, fuel and power supplies and food storage and hospital facilities.

In brief, it is designed to provide a communications nerve center without outside help for two weeks after an attack — if it survives the first blow.

But there also were solid business considerations in the design having nothing to do with defense the telephone company said. In the first place, the windowless construction keeps out dust — a great enemy of automatic equipment. It reduces heating and air conditioning costs by half and it does away with practically all the cleaning costs, inside and outside.

The first cost of the building, even with the heavy bombproof construction, was no greater than that of a conventional skyscraper of much lighter construction with windows, the telephone company said.

Stork Shower Is Held For Moscow Resident

LONACONING—A stork shower in honor of Mrs. Robert Phillips was given by Mrs. William Fitzpatrick Jr. at her home at Moscow. Pink and blue colors were used with the shower gifts placed in a clothes basket beneath the shower streamers.

Guests were Mrs. Major Ashby, Mrs. James Phillips, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. Melvin Shriver, Mrs. Francis Fazenbaker, Mrs. Marlon Thomas, Mrs. John Meyers, Mrs. Thomas Richardson, Mrs. Frank Buskirk Sr., Mrs. James Hyde, Mrs. Charles McCutcheon, Mrs. William Timney, Mrs. William Fitzpatrick Sr., Mrs. John Fairgrieve, Mrs. Frank Myers, Mrs. Elizabeth Dohm, Miss Emma Jean Muir.

A miniature stork and cake decorated the table. Refreshments were served and games were played. Prizes were awarded to Miss Muir, Mrs. McCutcheon, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Buskirk Sr.

Waldorf Boy Eagle Scout At Age Of 12

ANNAPOLIS (AP)x — Jeffrey Almo of Waldorf, lho attained scouting's top rank at the minimum age of 12, received his Eagle Scout Badge Thursday from Gov. Tawes.

Jeffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Almo of Waldorf, actually completed all of his work for Eagle Scout two months ago. But, as was the case with his other rapid advancements in rank, he had to spend time in grade as a Life Scout (six months) and wait for an appearance before a Court of Honor which meets quarterly.

The Creoles are the descendants of the original French and Spanish settlers of Louisiana.

Water Line Rule To Be Enforced

Allegany County Health Department yesterday anounced plans to enforce strictly a state regulation which has been in effect since 1914.

Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian, said the department has had many problems because of county water systems extending their lines indiscriminately. He said this results in insufficient pressure, inadequate lines to serve new areas, failures in locations of existing lines and the inability to establish responsibility for repairs to broken lines.

The law states that the state, a county municipality, district, corporation, company, institution, or person shall not install a system of water supply, sewerage or refuse disposal, for public use, nor materially alter or extend any such existing system, without having received a written permit from the State Board of Health to do so; nor shall any permit for this purpose be issued until complete plans and specifications for the installation, alteration or extension together with such information as the State Board of Health may require, have been submitted and approved by the Board.

All construction must take place in accordance with the approved plans. If it becomes necessary or desirable to make material changes in plans or specifications, the plans or specifications, together with a statement of the reasons for the alterations, must be submitted to the State Board of Health. The changes must not be made until they are aproved by the board and a premit is issued.

After completion of the work a certified copy of the plans in full, showing the work as built, must be filed with the State Board of Health for permanent record.

The State Board of Health is empowered to make and enforce such rules and regulations regarding the submission of plans for approval and record as it may deem reasonable and proper.

Further information regarding the law and its enforcement may be obtained at the Sanitation Department at the Union Street County Building.

Fish, Game Hearings Set

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Department of Natural Resources wants West Virginia sportsmen to tell it how the fish and game seasons should be handled.

A series of hearings has been scheduled by the department during September in communities throughout the state. Interested parties will be able to give their ideas on hunting season dates and fishing regulations for 1963 at the hearings.

The hearings will start in Clarksburg on Sept. 4. Others will be Sept. 5 at Morgantown; 6, Elkins; 7, Parkersburg; 17, Moorefield; 18, Martinsburg; 19, Beckley; 21, Charleston; 24, Logan; 26, Wheeling.

Two Home Permits Are Issued Here

Two dwelling permits have been issued to Allegany County residents by James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Board of County Commissioners.

Norman Steele, Oakwood Avenue, Roberts Place, was granted a permit to construct a brick dwelling on Sunset View.

John H. Chenowith, LaVale, was issued a permit to construct a stone house on Lots 18-19 on Maryland Street.

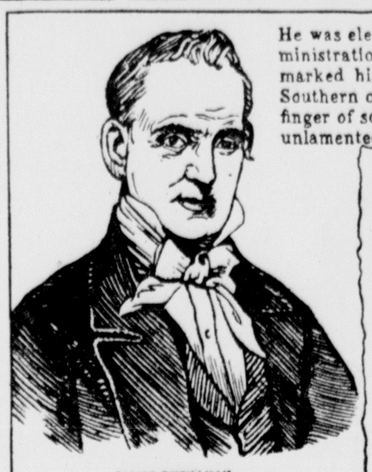
CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures



JAMES BUCHANAN.

JUDAS.

He was elected President by fraud and trickery! under his administration the Treasury was robbed! duplicity and cowardice marked his career! finally, he sold his country to a band of Southern conspirators, and now lives to be pointed at with the finger of scorn, by all true men! and will go down to his grave unlamented.

No. 157 Probably no ex-president except "U. S." Grant, who suffered both from ignominy and malignant pain, spent bitterer last years than James Buchanan.

After he retired from the White House a flow of "violent, insulting and threatening letters" came to his home, Wheatland, near Lancaster, Pa. The epithet "Traitor" was hurled at him. Attempts were made to set Wheatland afire in the night.

Buchanan quickly learned he could not make any effective defense while the war lasted. "The [Lincoln] administration sealed the lips of those who might have refuted many of the stories [against Buchanan] with offers of political reward and threats of retaliation," says Philip Striver Klein. (Five Democrat members of Buchanan's Cabinet were given posts in Lincoln's government.)

The tragic last decade of the Pennsylvanian is discussed illuminatingly by Klein in a new biography, "President James Buchanan" (Pennsylvania State University Press).

Why, the critics asked, had not Buchanan sent troops to South Carolina early in 1860 and, as President Jackson had done in the thirties, nipped secession in the bud? Because, he reminded friends who would listen to him, his Cabinet and members of every political party opposed such a move in the months before Lincoln's election; because Gen. Winfield Scott saw no danger until Oct. 29, and at that time could muster only 300 troops (Congress would not authorize a call for more); because a provocative mobilization at Charleston would most probably activate secession and war rather than avert them; because no one knew how the election would go."

GOP Group Seeks Beer License

A special Class "C" beer license for one-day use is being sought from the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners by the Coordinating Council of Republican Clubs of Allegany County.

The license is being sought for use on September 8 at Fairgo. Applicants for the permit include Vada P. Barncord and Charles W. Broadwater, both of Cumberland, and Ann R. Cook, Frostburg.

Washington's Cabin To Be Open Today

Washington's Cabin in Riverside Park will be open today from 2-4 p. m. for the benefit of members attending the 42d annual convention of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia State Elks Association, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution will serve as hostesses during the open house.

Man, Wife File Damage Suits Here

A Birmingham, Mich. couple who were injured in a two-car collision July 17, 1961, on Bedford Road several miles north of Cumberland, have filed separate damage suits in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Robert and Sarah Vanderslice, through their counsel Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg, filed the suits against Robert E. Green, Lancaster, Pa., an employe of the American Thread Company.

Fire Prevention Queen Will Be Named Tonight

An Allegany County Forest Fire Prevention Queen will be named tonight at 7:30 in a contest among 10 finalists on the stage in front of the grandstand at the Cumberland Fair.

Frostburg Men Observe Demonstration Of Device To Stop Runaway Vehicles

FROSTBURG—Ralph M. Race, president, and Edward Flanigan, both members of the Big Savage Traffic Safety Committee, have returned from Baltimore where they observed a demonstration of a new device used to stop runaway trucks and other vehicles.

The demonstration was sponsored by the Van Zelm Associates, inventors of the device, and was held on the grounds of the old Baltimore Airport at Dundalk.

Also attending from this locality were Lieut. William O'Hara, of the LaVale Barracks State Police, and Patrolman Edward Bevans of the Frostburg Police Department.

Flanigan said that the device stopped a car traveling 80 miles an hour in a 125 foot space with no serious damage to the car or the driver.

He also stated that it was adaptable to many uses for stopping cars and was being offered at an economical price.

Former W. Va. Congressman Dies In Beckley

Gov. Barron Cites Record

BECKLEY, W. VA. (UPI)—Joe L. Smith Sr., eight times a congressman and one of the grand old men of the Democratic party in West Virginia, died Thursday. He was 82.

A political phenomenon who became mayor of this city almost as soon as he was old enough to vote, Smith was elected to three terms as mayor and one term in the State Senate, set a West Virginia record for continuous service in Congress and served two years as Democratic state chairman after retiring from the House in 1945.

Smith was also one of Beckley's leading businessmen, serving as president of the First National Bank here at the time of his death. He had been in good health until last June when he was hospitalized for several weeks for treatment of circulatory ailments. He was returned to the hospital Wednesday.

Smith was the father of Hulett C. Smith, state commerce commissioner and former Democratic state chairman, and of Joe L. Smith Jr., owner of radio stations WJLS here and of WKNA-FM in Charleston. He is also survived by his widow, the former Christine Calson of Annapolis, whom he married in 1914.

In Charleston, Gov. W. W. Barron expressed sorrow over the news of Smith's death, saying "He was an outstanding West Virginian who left a fine record of service to his community, state and country."

Smith was born on May 22, 1880, in a log house in what is now the Glen Daniel section near here. He came to Beckley with his parents at the age of 14 and took a job as a printer's apprentice with the weekly Raleigh Register.

He was with the paper for 20 years, most of the time serving as editor and publisher. He sold the Register in 1912 to Charles Hodel, present publisher of the Beckley Newspaper Corp., to devote more time to other business interests he had acquired. The paper became a daily in 1928.

Smith became interested in politics early in life and won his first term as mayor of Beckley in 1901 soon after his 21 birthday.

He was elected to the State Senate from the 7th District and then served two more terms as mayor. He resigned as mayor to begin his first term as congressman on March 4, 1929.

In the 1928 election — the Hoover landslide — he was one of only three Democrats in the nation to unseat a Republican House incumbent, defeating E. T. England by 228 votes. His record of eight consecutive terms was later surpassed by John Kee of the 5th District, who was serving his ninth term when he died in 1951.

When he retired from the House voluntarily in 1945, at the age of 65, Smith said he had "had more fun than any fellow who ever served in Congress for 16 years."

"If I had worried about political campaigns like the average fellow, I would not have been here now — I would have been dead," he said. "I never worried, and my friends always elected me."

NEW PRINCIPAL — William R. Brake, Oldtown Road, was named Tuesday by the Allegany County Board of Education as the new principal of Ellerslie Elementary School. A 1935 graduate of the old Pennsylvania Avenue High School, he was graduated in 1954 from Frostburg State Teachers College and has been a teacher and assistant to the principal of Flintstone Elementary School since then.

Girl Hurt In Fall Home From Hospital

WESTERNPORT — Miss Saundra Kay Marsh, who was injured in a fall from a horse at Ball Mountain Ranch, near Burlington, W. Va., is home from Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Miss Marsh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Marsh, 105 Roosevelt Street.

Delinquent Tax Cases May Up W. Va. Revenues

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia may receive more than $5,500,000 as the result of increased enforcement of delinquent tax cases.

The director of the Legal Division of the State Tax Department announced Thursday that 1,200 cases and legal matters have been processed by his division covering more than $5,500,000 during the past year.

Frank M. Ellison said the legal division has closed 329 cases which have meant additional revenue of more than $350,000, and at present, another 127 cases are in the courts, amounting to another $910,000.

Ellison said there are another 723 cases, including 95 requests for opinions, which are either being prepared for court or being negotiated, which represents $4,240,000 in tax claims. All of this means the tax department's legal division has over $5,500,000 in tax cases either in court or court action pending.

Ellison said the enforcement is directed against:

— Taxpayers who have collected consumers sales taxes, filed returns but who have failed to remit the taxes they have collected to the state tax department.

— Taxpayers who collected consumers sales taxes and gross sales taxes, filed no return and remitted no taxes.

— Taxpayers who owe income, gasoline, inheritance or business and occupation taxes, filed no returns, and remitted no taxes.

— Taxpayers who operate various kinds of business enterprises without licenses were required.

Ellison said he felt the new enforcement effort would be welcomed by the taxpayer and he hoped that it will bring about a greater degree of voluntary compliance on the part of the individual taxpayer.

War Memorial Hospital To Build New Maternity And Chronic Disease Wing

BERKELEY SPRINGS — The Board of Directors of War Memorial Hospital yesterday announced the signing of the construction contracts for the new Maternity and Chronic Disease Wing and Boiler Plant.

Contract for the general construction, heating, plumbing and electrical work was awarded to W. Harley Miller, Inc., Martinsburg, W. Va.

Miller was low bidder on this project and his contract was for $191,950.00 This includes air conditioning in all patient rooms.

The boiler plant low bid came from Gaylon Zerkle, Inc., Mt. Jackson, Va. Their contract for this part was in the amount of $35,387.00.

The board stated that construction was to start immediately with hopes for a completion date some time next spring. The hospital board also announced that when the new wing is dedicated it will be named in honor of Dr. Herbert R. Tobias for his outstanding work for the hospital and the people it serves.

R. O. Thal, hospital administrator, stated that the total construction project, including equipment, will cost $310,882.00 The Federal Hill-Burton share of this cost will be $145,000.00. The remaining $165,882.00 will come from collections received from payments, the Community Building Fund Campaign and other donations.

Thal further stated that with completion of this new wing the hospital will be valued at ¾ of a million dollars and when in full operation will probably employ some 60 to 70 workers at a possible annual payroll of over $150,000.00.

Windowless Skyscraper Nearly Bombproof And Dustproof

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Come September first a small army of telephone workers will move into a new skyscraper on Manhattan's west side that has had New Yorkers gaping for months.

The tombstone-like building rises straight up in the air for the equivalent of 35 storys without a single window — just a vast monolithic pile of concrete, which now is being covered with glazed brick trimmed in granite.

The explanation usually heard in the streets about the strange building is "They don't need any windows, not going to be any people in 'here, just automatic long distance telephone machinery."

The New York Telephone Co., says that isn't true, that a total of 3,000 people will work in or out of the building. But it is true that many of the floors will house mainly automatic machinery and the top 100 feet will contain vast horns, antennas for a microwave communications system.

Actually, the company says the building is windowless to make it as nearly bombproof and fall-out proof as possible. Undoubtedly it will be the safest building in New York in case of attack, nuclear or otherwise. The concrete curtain walls are 12 inches thick and strongly reinforced with steel. It has its own emergency water, fuel and power supplies and food storage and hospital facilities.

In brief, it is designed to provide a communications nerve center without outside help for two weeks after an attack — if it survives the first blow.

But there also were solid business considerations in the design having nothing to do with defense the telephone company said. In the first place, the windowless construction keeps out dust — a great enemy of automatic equipment. It reduces heating and air conditioning costs by half and it does away with practically all the cleaning costs, inside and outside.

The first cost of the building, even with the heavy bombproof construction, was no greater than that of a conventional skyscraper of much lighter construction with windows, the telephone company said.

Stork Shower Is Held For Moscow Resident

LONACONING—A stork shower in honor of Mrs. Robert Phillips was given by Mrs. William Fitzpatrick Jr. at her home at Moscow. Pink and blue colors were used with the shower gifts placed in a clothes basket beneath the shower streamers.

Guests were Mrs. Major Ashby, Mrs. James Phillips, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. Melvin Shriver, Mrs. Francis Fazenbaker, Mrs. Marlon Thomas, Mrs. John Meyers, Mrs. Thomas Richardson, Mrs. Frank Buskirk Sr., Mrs. James Hyde, Mrs. Charles McCutcheon, Mrs. William Timney, Mrs. William Fitzpatrick Sr., Mrs. John Fairgrieve, Mrs. Frank Myers, Mrs. Elizabeth Dohm, Miss Emma Jean Muir.

A miniature stork and cake decorated the table. Refreshments were served and games were played. Prizes were awarded to Miss Muir, Mrs. McCutcheon, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Buskirk Sr.

When moving into a new neighborhood, one of the first things the householder should do is establish working relations with a good plumbing contractor.

Waldorf Boy Eagle Scout At Age Of 12

ANNAPOLIS (AP)x — Jeffrey Almo of Waldorf, lho attained scouting's top rank at the minimum age of 12, received his Eagle Scout Badge Thursday from Gov. Tawes.

Jeffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Almo of Waldorf, actually completed all of his work for Eagle Scout two months ago. But, as was the case with his other rapid advancements in rank, he had to spend time in grade as a Life Scout (six months) and wait for an appearance before a Court of Honor which meets quarterly.

The Creoles are the descendants of the original French and Spanish settlers of Louisiana.

W. Va. Traffic Death Toll Is At 263 Mark

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Police said Thursday that West Virginia's traffic toll has increased to 263 so far this year, 52 more than the number of fatalities reported at this time in 1961.

Clifford C. Stone, 70, of Campbell's creek near Charleston, died Wednesday of injuries suffered in a wreck last Friday on U. S. 33, near Ripley.

Angelo Knapp, 43, was killed Wednesday when the truck he was driving went out of control on W. Va. 22 near Mt. Storm in Grant County.

Man Named To FHA Unit

MOOREFIELD — Eugene M. Brand, Purgitsville, has been appointed as a member of the three-man Hardy County Farmers Administration Committee, according to Supervisor James D. Junkins. The appointment is for three years and began July 1.

Brand operates a general farm in the Purgitsville section and is also a merchant. He is a member of the Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors and is active in community affairs.

Brand succeeds Fred Hutter whose term expires this year. The other two members serving with him are Glenn G. Bensenhaver, Rig, and Donald W. Biller, Lost City.

The local Farmers Home Administration county committee reviews applications by farmers and other rural families for six different types of agricultural, housing and water loans made in Hardy County.

During the past fiscal year ended June 30, a total of $252,840.00 in Farmers Home Administration loans were made through the agency's unit office. The main office is located in Petersburg and serves Hardy, Grant and Pendleton counties. Each loan is accompanied to the extent necessary by technical farm and financial management assistance.

The gas pipeline and distribution industry added more than 32,000 miles of pipeline and mains to its national gas network in 1961, bringing the industry total to 632,000 miles.

Tucker School Bond Issue Voted Down

Balloting Is Termed Light

PARSONS, W. Va. — A special school bond issue for the construction of a gymnasium at Parsons and four classrooms at St. George was voted down at a special election held Tuesday, with less than half of the registered voters going to the polls.

Voting was considered very light. In many sections of the country, less than half, or possibly only one-third, of the people voted.

Seventy-five percent of the voters in the Parsons area voted in favor of the bond, while in the Thomas and Davis areas the vote was almost solid against it. For example, in precinct No. 15, the vote was four for the bond and 87 against it, making a total of 91 persons who voted in a precinct that has 186 registered voters.

Just before the election, letters to the taxpayers, bearing the name of "Jim" Meyer, and protesting the bond issue were distributed by small children. They gave good measure for their services, leaving as high as 10 copies of the letter at some homes in Parsons.

The last bond issue for schools in Tucker County was in 1938 and from the proceeds of the sale of the bonds the Parsons High School, the consolidated Hamrick School, the Davis gymnasium and two one-room school buildings were built. This year's taxes will pay the final payment on that indebtedness.

Program Held By WSCS Unit

KEYSER — The monthly meeting of the Woman's Society of Christain Service of First Methodist Church was held with Mrs. William Clements leading devotions with scripture references, hymn singing and prayer.

The program, "Americans of Spanish - Speaking Background," was given by Mrs. Kermit Parish, who emphasized that people of the Spanish background make up one of the largest groups in the U.S., locating in the southern states, with a majority living in the Southwest - Rio Grande area.

Mrs. J. U. Hull and Mrs. Parish presented a dialogue of a Spanish-speaking mother and daughter conversing about questions asked them. Group benediction closed the program.

Mrs. Minor McClung, president, opened the business session with the thought, "Do All the Good You Can — as Long as Ever You Can."

Members votoed to give a donation to a cultivation fund called for by the district, and a donation for a South American trip by Mrs. Fred Holloway, district representative of the WSCS. A fall seminar will be held September 13 at Wardensville. Group chairmen and assistants are to inform members and notify Mrs. Charles Steiding of the number that will attend. Mrs. Ward Harvey gave a report on the recent Officers' Training School.

Mrs. Conald Rogers, vice president, called for a meeting of all officers and secretaries. Mrs. Clarence Ervin reported on the meeting held in the church August 12 where clergymen and interested persons of the community organized to work for the defeat of the liquor-by-the-drink issue in November.

Mrs. Harvey's group will be hostess for the September meeting which will mark the 22nd anniversary of the society. Mrs. Steiding gave the closing prayer.

ARA Assistance Suggested For Existing Plants

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—An official of the State Commerce Department has proposed—unofficially—that the Area Redevelopment Administration change its methods of operations.

L. E. Ward, director of the planning and research division of the department, said the ARA should put more emphasis in helping existing small industries.

Ward said small industries "need expert assistance to grow and produce more jobs," while too much ARA attention has been focused on bringing in new industry.

Ward, who said he was speaking for himself not the government, said the ARA could work to the advantage of depressed areas by sending in teams of industrial specialists to aid small industries.

As it is, he said the organization is handicaped by the fact that its "potential for economic recovery has been grossly oversold. This was due in considerable part to the almost universal fallacy that there are innumerable and inexhaustible sources of new industries."

Ward backed up his stand by saying that "virtually all small industries in the employe range from 4 to 4,000 have an imperative need of many and varied types of assistance."

He noted that needs included working capital, marketing, research, sales and capital for expansion.

Ward said "tremendous and most worthwhile accomplishments are possible" if the ARA would concentrate at least 90 per cent of its program in this direction.

The planning director also proposed that the ARA begin a program to train industrial specialists to deal with specific local problems.

"In the industrial field, trained and competent manpower and a complete range of specific management skills could be concentrated on all existing industries," Ward said.

After noting that the total number of manufacturing industries in this nation has remained more or less constant since the turn of the century, Ward said "the brutal fact is that under no circumstances are there sufficient industries to account for any particular measure of economic growth."

Mortgage Burning Event Held By Augusta Firemen

AUGUSTA—The Augusta Volunteer Fire Company, which was organized November 25, 1955, held a mortgage burning ceremony and open house celebration in the fire hall.

The mortgage burning event represented the fact that the group is debt free and owns a modern concrete block building, truck and other fire fighting equipment.

The company was originally sponsored by the Augusta Ruritan Club, and was organized with the help of the Romney Volunteer Fire Company.

At present, plans are being made for securing a new truck and additional fire fighting apparatus.

Frostburg Men Observe Demonstration Of Device To Stop Runaway Vehicles

FROSTBURG—Ralph M. Race, president, and Edward Flanigan, both members of the Big Savage Traffic Safety Committee, have returned from Baltimore where they observed a demonstration of a new device used to stop runaway trucks and other vehicles.

The demonstration was sponsored by the Van Zelm Associates, inventors of the device, and was held on the grounds of the old Baltimore Airport at Dundalk.

Also attending from this locality were Lieut. William O'Hara, of the LaVale Barracks State Police, and Patrolman Edward Bevans of the Frostburg Police Department.

Flanigan said that the device stopped a car traveling 80 miles an hour in a 125 foot space with no serious damage to the car or the driver.

He also stated that it was adaptable to many uses for stopping cars and was being offered at an economical price.

Former W. Va. Congressman Dies In Beckley

Gov. Barron Cites Record

BECKLEY, W. VA. (UPI)—Joe L. Smith Sr., eight times a congressman and one of the grand old men of the Democratic party in West Virginia, died Thursday. He was 82.

A political phenomenon who became mayor of this city almost as soon as he was old enough to vote, Smith was elected to three terms as mayor and one term in the State Senate, set a West Virginia record for continuous service in Congress and served two years as Democratic state chairman after retiring from the House in 1945.

Smith was also one of Beckley's leading businessmen, serving as president of the First National Bank here at the time of his death. He had been in good health until last June when he was hospitalized for several weeks for treatment of circulatory ailments. He was returned to the hospital Wednesday.

Smith was the father of Hulett C. Smith, state commerce commissioner and former Democratic state chairman, and of Joe L. Smith Jr., owner of radio stations WJLS here and of WKNA-FM in Charleston. He is also survived by his widow, the former Christine Calson of Annapolis, whom he married in 1914.

In Charleston, Gov. W. W. Barron expressed sorrow over the news of Smith's death, saying "He was an outstanding West Virginian who left a fine record of service to his community, state and country."

Smith was born on May 22, 1880, in a log house in what is now the Glen Daniel section near here. He came to Beckley with his parents at the age of 14 and took a job as a printer's apprentice with the weekly Raleigh Register.

He was with the paper for 20 years, most of the time serving as editor and publisher. He sold the Register in 1912 to Charles Hodel, present publisher of the Beckley Newspaper Corp., to devote more time to other business interests he had acquired. The paper became a daily in 1928.

Smith became interested in politics early in life and won his first term as mayor of Beckley in 1901 soon after his 21 birthday.

He was elected to the State Senate from the 7th District and then served two more terms as mayor. He resigned as mayor to begin his first term as congressman on March 4, 1929.

In the 1928 election — the Hoover landslide — he was one of only three Democrats in the nation to unseat a Republican House incumbent, defeating E. T. England by 228 votes. His record of eight consecutive terms was later surpassed by John Kee of the 5th District, who was serving his ninth term when he died in 1951.

When he retired from the House voluntarily in 1945, at the age of 65, Smith said he had "had more fun than any fellow who ever served in Congress for 16 years."

"If I had worried about political campaigns like the average fellow, I would not have been here now — I would have been dead," he said. "I never worried, and my friends always elected me."

Area Teachers Attend WVU Workshop

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Teachers from Grant, Hardy, Mineral, Morgan and Tucker counties were among those who attended the fifth West Virginia University conservation education workshop.

Included on the program were Dr. Clark K. Sleeth, dean of the WVU School of Medicine; who talked on "Conservation of Human Resources"; Robert Sarver, West Virginia's assistant attorney general, who discussed "Conservation of Social Values;" Miss Evelyn Murray, of the State Department of Education, who spoke on "Conserving Education Competence," and Rev. Stacy L. Groscup, Morgantown, who ended the session with a talk on "Moral and Spiritual Values of Conservation."

Forty-five teachers from 25 West Virginia counties attended the workshop.

Experiments in Malaya indicate that rubber wood, mixed with bamboo and lallang grass, may form the basis of a paper industry.

NEW PRINCIPAL — William R. Brake, Oldtown Road, was named Tuesday by the Allegany County Board of Education as the new principal of Ellerslie Elementary School. A 1935 graduate of the old Pennsylvania Avenue High School, he was graduated in 1954 from Frostburg State Teachers College and has been a teacher and assistant to the principal of Flintstone Elementary School since then.

Girl Hurt In Fall Home From Hospital

WESTERNPORT — Miss Saundra Kay Marsh, who was injured in a fall from a horse at Ball Mountain Ranch, near Burlington, W. Va., is home from Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Miss Marsh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Marsh, 105 Roosevelt Street.

Delinquent Tax Cases May Up W. Va. Revenues

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia may receive more than $5,500,000 as the result of increased enforcement of delinquent tax cases.

The director of the Legal Division of the State Tax Department announced Thursday that 1,200 cases and legal matters have been processed by his division covering more than $5,500,000 during the past year.

Frank M. Ellison said the legal division has closed 329 cases which have meant additional revenue of more than $350,000, and at present, another 127 cases are in the courts, amounting to another $910,000.

Ellison said there are another 723 cases, including 95 requests for opinions, which are either being prepared for court or being negotiated, which represents $4,240,000 in tax claims. All of this means the tax department's legal division has over $5,500,000 in tax cases either in court or court action pending.

Ellison said the enforcement is directed against:

— Taxpayers who have collected consumers sales taxes, filed returns but who have failed to remit the taxes they have collected to the state tax department.

— Taxpayers who collected consumers sales taxes and gross sales taxes, filed no return and remitted no taxes.

— Taxpayers who owe income, gasoline, inheritance or business and occupation taxes, filed no returns, and remitted no taxes.

— Taxpayers who operate various kinds of business enterprises without licenses were required.

Ellison said he felt the new enforcement effort would be welcomed by the taxpayer and he hoped that it will bring about a greater degree of voluntary compliance on the part of the individual taxpayer.

War Memorial Hospital To Build New Maternity And Chronic Disease Wing

BERKELEY SPRINGS — The Board of Directors of War Memorial Hospital yesterday announced the signing of the construction contracts for the new Maternity and Chronic Disease Wing and Boiler Plant.

Contract for the general construction, heating, plumbing and electrical work was awarded to W. Harley Miller, Inc., Martinsburg, W. Va.

Miller was low bidder on this project and his contract was for $191,950.00 This includes air conditioning in all patient rooms.

The boiler plant low bid came from Gaylon Zerkle, Inc., Mt. Jackson, Va. Their contract for this part was in the amount of $35,387.00.

The board stated that construction was to start immediately with hopes for a completion date some time next spring. The hospital board also announced that when the new wing is dedicated it will be named in honor of Dr. Herbert R. Tobias for his outstanding work for the hospital and the people it serves.

R. O. Thal, hospital administrator, stated that the total construction project, including equipment, will cost $310,882.00 The Federal Hill-Burton share of this cost will be $145,000.00. The remaining $165,882.00 will come from collections received from payments, the Community Building Fund Campaign and other donations.

Thal further stated that with completion of this new wing the hospital will be valued at ¾ of a million dollars and when in full operation will probably employ some 60 to 70 workers at a possible annual payroll of over $150,000.00.

Braddock Park Playground To Close Today

Winners Of Sock Show Announced

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Ann Thomas, director of the Braddock Park Playground, announced the winners of the "Sock Show" held Wednesday afternoon. The socks were made into dolls and toys.

Winners were Shawnee Eisel, prettiest; Deborah Snelson, largest; Dwight Murphy, oldest, and Denni Dayton, littlest.

The show was held as a part of the Kiddies Day picnic and was attended by 85 children and 12 auxiliary members.

Mrs. Thomas announced that final organized and supervised play would be today at the playground which will close for the season at the end of the day. She said that the daily average attendance has been 60 with the highest being 120.

The playground is supported by a parents organization and by an annual donation from the city.

Officer Denies Participation In Burglaries

Cross Examination Continues Today

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — Bluefield patrolman Ted Land Thursday denied any participation in 20 burglaries in which two other policemen implicated him, and also denied breaking into a Bluefield auto agency.

Land was indicted specifically for the 1950 burglary of the agency. However, Police Lt. Charles Fox and Sgt. Robert Gibson, in earlier testimony, said Land aided them in numerous break - ins, some dating back a dozen years and more.

Land also denied he had any dealings with Ira Matheny, a convicted burglar who said he disposed of some stolen goods for Land and Fox. The patrolman also said Fox asked him to confess to one of the burglaries as it would go easier on Fox.

Land testified he replied, "I will not. I am not guilty."

Land's wife testified earlier that two appliances which the state claims the patrolman stole were delivered to their home in a Bluefield Hardware Co. truck.

Land, under cross examination, produced a note dated Sept. 1, 1948 from the Flat Top National Bank for a loan of $200 which he said he used to purchase the record player and sewing machine.

However, Prosecutor W. O. Bivens pointed out that Land had said previously he did not remember when he bought the items. Under questioning, Land admitted having the note in his possession for the entire trial.

Land also said he was not allowed to call his lawyer until his interrogation was almost completed. He said he told his wife to call Jerome Katz when he learned he was to be arrested.

The policeman said that during his questioning he heard the telephone ringing and a knocking on the door but no one answered either. Mrs. Land said it was Katz who was attempting to get to his client.

Bivens asked Land if it was not true that he offered the patrolman an opportunity to call his lawyer in the early morning hours. Land denied this and said he was not asked if he wanted counsel until questioning was almost completed.

Earlier, Bluefield Police Lt. Roy W. Humphries, who has long been in charge of records for the department, testified for the defense. He said the worksheet records contradicted much of the earlier testimony of Fox and Gibson regarding the time of day or night when Fox said he and Land together committed some 17 or 18 burglaries in the past dozen years.

Humphries said his records showed, for example, that Fox was acting as desk sergeant the night the Kammer Furniture Co. was burglarized in July, 1956. Fox had said he was patrolling a beat that night when he and Land entered the place.

Cross - examination will continue Friday and the case is expected to go to the jury Friday afternoon. Land is the first of seven Bluefield policemen indicted on burglary charges to stand trial.

Enrollment Drops In Two Schools

KEYSER — A sharp decline in pre-school enrollment in the Elk schools has resulted in the loss Garden and Piedmont elementary schools has resulted in the loss of one teacher from each and a reassignment of the instructors.

County Supt. S. T. McGee said the Board of Education took the action at the regular meeting Tuesday night and that names of the teachers were withheld pending their assignments elsewhere.

A substitute will be appointed for Mrs. Virginia Wright at Keyser High School until she has recovered from injuries sustained in an automobile - train collision near Bedford earlier this week. She is instructor in speech and English.

Two other vacancies also exist in the county: a home economics instructor at Ridgeley High School and a commercial teacher at Piedmont High.

WELLERSBURG — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Wellersburg Volunteer Fire Company met in the basement of the Zion Reformed Church with Mrs. Lena Witte, president, presiding.

The group decided to buy a pin for Mrs. Witte. Each member is working on a project to raise money for the fire company. The meeting closed with the recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dorothy Diehl, Mrs. Donna Witte and Mrs. Wanetta O'Baker.

The next meeting will be held September 10 at 8 p. m., at which time nomination of officers will take place.

Bicentennial Stage Show To Be Repeated

ROMNEY — Popular clamor for it has resulted in the Bicentennial Executive Committee's decision to stage the Romney Revue of '62 again the evenings of August 24-25-26.

The show features pretty girls in gorgeous costumes dancing and singing their way through an hour on a stage under the stars. The outdoor pavilion was especially constructed on the campus of the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind in Romney—a setting of extraordinary fascination.

The public is invited to see the Romney Revue of '62 at 9 p.m. fast time, Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening.

British Troops Will Drop Into Preston County Hills

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — Troops of Great Britain's 22nd Special Air Service Regiment, organized during World War II to fight behind enemy lines, will parachute Friday into the wooded hills of Preston County in northeastern West Virginia.

It will be the opening of 17 days of guerrilla warfare games with U.S. Army units. The base of the operations will be Camp Dawson, near Kingwood.

Two squadrons of the 22nd SAS will be joined in the exercises by troops of the U.S. Army's 7th Special Forces Group, the 101st Airborne Division, and U.S. officers studying techniques of unconventional warfare at the Army Special Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The 22nd SAS is a guerrilla type unit with enlisted personnel made up exclusively of volunteers from British Army units. Regardless of rank they begin again as privates, first class, on joining.

Emphasis in the games will be on night fighting and on the stealth, undercover raids and ambushes which are the mainstays of unconventional warfare.

W. Va. Traffic Death Toll Is At 263 Mark

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Police said Thursday that West Virginia's traffic toll has increased to 263 so far this year, 52 more than the number of fatalities reported at this time in 1961.

Clifford C. Stone, 70, of Campbell's creek near Charleston, died Wednesday of injuries suffered in a wreck last Friday on U. S. 33, near Ripley.

Angelo Knapp, 43, was killed Wednesday when the truck he was driving went out of control on W. Va. 22 near Mt. Storm in Grant County.

Man Named To FHA Unit

MOOREFIELD — Eugene M. Brand, Purgitsville, has been appointed as a member of the three-man Hardy County Farmers Administration Committee, according to Supervisor James D. Junkins. The appointment is for three years and began July 1.

Brand operates a general farm in the Purgitsville section and is also a merchant. He is a member of the Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors and is active in community affairs.

Brand succeeds Fred Hutter whose term expires this year. The other two members serving with him are Glenn G. Bensenhaver, Rig, and Donald W. Biller, Lost City.

The local Farmers Home Administration county committee reviews applications by farmers and other rural families for six different types of agricultural, housing and water loans made in Hardy County.

During the past fiscal year ended June 30, a total of $252,840.00 in Farmers Home Administration loans were made through the agency's unit office. The main office is located in Petersburg and serves Hardy, Grant and Pendleton counties. Each loan is accompanied to the extent necessary by technical farm and financial management assistance.

The gas pipeline and distribution industry added more than 32,000 miles of pipeline and mains to its national gas network in 1961, bringing the industry total to 632,000 miles.

Tucker School Bond Issue Voted Down

Balloting Is Termed Light

PARSONS, W. Va. — A special school bond issue for the construction of a gymnasium at Parsons and four classrooms at St. George was voted down at a special election held Tuesday, with less than half of the registered voters going to the polls.

Voting was considered very light. In many sections of the country, less than half, or possibly only one-third, of the people voted.

Seventy-five percent of the voters in the Parsons area voted in favor of the bond, while in the Thomas and Davis areas the vote was almost solid against it. For example, in precinct No. 15, the vote was four for the bond and 87 against it, making a total of 91 persons who voted in a precinct that has 186 registered voters.

Just before the election, letters to the taxpayers, bearing the name of "Jim" Meyer, and protesting the bond issue were distributed by small children. They gave good measure for their services, leaving as high as 10 copies of the letter at some homes in Parsons.

The last bond issue for schools in Tucker County was in 1938 and from the proceeds of the sale of the bonds the Parsons High School, the consolidated Hamrick School, the Davis gymnasium and two one-room school buildings were built. This year's taxes will pay the final payment on that indebtedness.

Keyser Briefs

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanhagen is vacationing in Gulf Breeze, Fla., where she will attend the wedding of her nephew, John Arnold Stanhagen, to Miss Jamie Gingles, Cordova Park, Fla., on August 31. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucille (Bittner) Stanhagen, formerly of Cumberland, and the late Kenneth (Kid) Stanhagen, formerly of Keyser.

Mr. and Mrs. John Canfield and son, Morgantown, are visiting their families here for two weeks.

ARRIVE IN GERMANY — Mrs. Carol Bosley, with her sons, Jimmy and Jeffrey, has arrived in Germany to join her husband, S. P. 5 James L. Bosley, who is in the Armed Forces. The Bosleys will remain in Germany for three years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bosley, Short Gap, W. Va.

Program Held By WSCS Unit

KEYSER — The monthly meeting of the Woman's Society of Christain Service of First Methodist Church was held with Mrs. William Clements leading devotions with scripture references, hymn singing and prayer.

The program, "Americans of Spanish - Speaking Background," was given by Mrs. Kermit Parish, who emphasized that people of the Spanish background make up one of the largest groups in the U.S., locating in the southern states, with a majority living in the Southwest - Rio Grande area.

Mrs. J. U. Hull and Mrs. Parish presented a dialogue of a Spanish-speaking mother and daughter conversing about questions asked them. Group benediction closed the program.

Mrs. Minor McClung, president, opened the business session with the thought, "Do All the Good You Can — as Long as Ever You Can."

Members voted to give a donation to a cultivation fund called for by the district, and a donation for a South American trip by Mrs. Fred Holloway, district representative of the WSCS. A fall seminar will be held September 13 at Wardensville. Group chairmen and assistants are to inform members and notify Mrs. Charles Steiding of the number that will attend. Mrs. Ward Harvey gave a report on the recent Officers' Training School.

Mrs. Conald Rogers, vice president, called for a meeting of all officers and secretaries. Mrs. Clarence Ervin reported on the meeting held in the church August 12 where clergymen and interested persons of the community organized to work for the defeat of the liquor-by-the-drink issue in November.

Mrs. Harvey's group will be hostess for the September meeting which will mark the 22nd anniversary of the society. Mrs. Steiding gave the closing prayer.

ARA Assistance Suggested For Existing Plants

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—An official of the State Commerce Department has proposed—unofficially—that the Area Redevelopment Administration change its methods of operations.

L. E. Ward, director of the planning and research division of the department, said the ARA should put more emphasis in helping existing small industries.

Ward said small industries "need expert assistance to grow and produce more jobs," while too much ARA attention has been focused on bringing in new industry.

Ward, who said he was speaking for himself not the government, said the ARA could work to the advantage of depressed areas by sending in teams of industrial specialists to aid small industries.

As it is, he said the organization is handicaped by the fact that its "potential for economic recovery has been grossly oversold. This was due in considerable part to the almost universal fallacy that there are innumerable and inexhaustible sources of new industries."

Ward backed up his stand by saying that "virtually all small industries in the employe range from 4 to 4,000 have an imperative need of many and varied types of assistance."

He noted that needs included working capital, marketing, research, sales and capital for expansion.

Ward said "tremendous and most worthwhile accomplishments are possible" if the ARA would concentrate at least 90 per cent of its program in this direction.

The planning director also proposed that the ARA begin a program to train industrial specialists to deal with specific local problems.

"In the industrial field, trained and competent manpower and a complete range of specific management skills could be concentrated on all existing industries," Ward said.

After noting that the total number of manufacturing industries in this nation has remained more or less constant since the turn of the century, Ward said "the brutal fact is that under no circumstances are there sufficient industries to account for any particular measure of economic growth."

Mortgage Burning Event Held By Augusta Firemen

AUGUSTA—The Augusta Volunteer Fire Company, which was organized November 25, 1955, held a mortgage burning ceremony and open house celebration in the fire hall.

The mortgage burning event represented the fact that the group is debt free and owns a modern concrete block building, truck and other fire fighting equipment.

The company was originally sponsored by the Augusta Ruritan Club, and was organized with the help of the Romney Volunteer Fire Company.

At present, plans are being made for securing a new truck and additional fire fighting apparatus.

Cincy Routs Cubs, 14-3; Angels Beat Yankees In 13th, 5-4

George Thomas' Double Beats Bill Stafford

34,133 See Series Finale; Tresh And Moran Belt Homers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Thomas broke up the game with a 13th inning double that brought the Los Angeles Angels a 5-4 victory over the league leading New York Yankees Thursday before 34,133.

The Yankees, however, won the important series, two games to one, and left town with a five-game advantage over the Angels.

Reliever Dan Osinki shut out the Yankees on two hits for the last five innings and picked up his fourth victory in six decisions.

Lee Thomas led off the Angel 13th with a line single off loser Bill Stafford (10-8), the fourth New York pitcher. Leon Wagner bunted Thomas to second and Bob Rodgers was walked intentionally to set up a possible double play, but George Thomas followed with his game winning double, a bouncing shot down the left field line.

The Yankees held a 4-0 advantage after two innings but the Angels caught up in the eighth when Billy Moran hit his second homer of the game. Tom Tresh hit a three-run homer for the Yankees.

Midland Takes One-Game Lead

Beats Westernport, Barton Wins, 2-1

Midland's Old Exports took a one-game lead in the Twilight Baseball League pennant race by defeating Westernport yesterday at Midland by the score of 10-6.

The win gave Midland a 21-7 record. Keyser, idle yesterday, trails with a 19-7 mark.

Barton (21-8) in third place nosed out Lonaconing by the score of 2-1.

In other league action, Zihlman nosed out the Cumberland Comets, 7-6, and Franklin defeated Gilmore, 6-1.

Paul "Bubbles" Thompson hit a three-run homer for Midland as Jim Winters recorded his 11th win of the season. Donnie Raines had three hits in four trips for Westernport.

Barton obtained only two hits in its victory over 'Coney, a triple by Ray Vinci and a single by George Lauder. Hank Winner collected a home run and two singles for Lonaconing.

"Kip" Montgomery of Franklin fanned 10 Gilmore batters and aided his cause with a home run. Vic Broy and Bill Bennett had two hits each for Franklin and Kenny McCormick belted a three-bagger for Gilmore.

Joe McGowan banged a pair of triples and a single and Bob Deffenbaugh hit a three-bagger and two singles for Zihlman. "Pooch" Lewis accounted for three of Cumberland's nine hits.

Dodgers Sink Phillies, 4-2

Score Four Runs In Eighth Inning

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Maury Wills singled home the tying run, stole a base and scored the lead run as the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers rallied for four runs in the eighth inning Thursday night to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2.

The Dodgers, who maintained their 3½ game lead over San Francisco, chased Dennis Bennett in the big inning which included a triple by John Roseboro and a two-run double by Frank Howard.

Roseboro, hitless in his last 28 times at bat, opened the eighth with a triple to the rightfield bullpen. Daryl Spencer batted for starter Johnny Podres and took a third strike, but then Wills singled the catcher home to tie the game 1-1.

Maury stole second for his 68th theft and a Dodger team record, and after Jim Gillian walked, Willie Davis singled to right, scoring Wills and sending Gilliam to third. Jack Baldschun replaced Bennett and fanned Tommy Davis, but then Howard looped a double to right scoring both runners to sew it up.

Moose Top Vets, 4-2, In Opener

Phillips Is Victor, Second Game Today

Hayden Phillips outpitched Floyd "Pete" Elliott yesterday to give the Loyal Order of Moose a 4-2 decision over the Veterans of Foregin Wars in the opening game of the best-of-five final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League at Stitcher Field.

Manager Herman Lewis' team collected ten hits, three of which were credited to Bob Keyser, who collected a double and two singles. Mickey Cunningham, Donnie Madden and "Bunk" Warnick collected two hits each for the winners.

In posting his 9th win in 10 outings, Phillips turned back the pennant winners with four hits, including a two-bagger by Ronnie Cage, fanned five and gave up one base on balls.

The win was the third straight scored by Phillips over the Vets this season. During the regular campaign he won by scores of 4-2 and 6-3.

Elliott walked three, gave up 10 blows and suffered his third loss of the campaign against 14 victories.

Lewis at short, Madden at second base, Pete Cecil at the initial hassock and "Bunk" Warnick behind the plate were the winning team's fielding stars. McGregor starred at the hot corner for the Vets.

The teams had split four games during the regular season.

Today at 6:15 p.m. the teams will tangle in the second game of their series at Stitcher Field.

Score:

Moose	001	030	0—	4	10	0

Pott, Dill Fire 68s In Oklahoma City Open Golf

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Veteran Johnny Pott and unknown Terry Dill fired four-under-par 68s Thursday to share the first round lead in the $35,000 Oklahoma City Open.

One stroke back at 69 were defending champion Gene Littler, Don Massengale and Gay Brewer Jr. Doug Sanders, showing no apparent effect from a leg injury suffered in practice earlier this week, and Freddie Leffingwell had 70s.

Six players shot one-under 71st on the sun-baked Quail Creek course, and eight were tied at 72. Thirteen others were bunched at 73.

Pott, a 26-year-old pro from Gulf Hills, Miss., made the turn at one-under 35, then fired a hot 33 on the back nine. His big break came on the 14th when he sank a three-foot putt for an eagle.

Twins Drop First Game To Senators

Daniels Wins, 6-4, On Retzer's Homer

MINNEAPOLIS-St. PAUL (UPI) — Ken Retzer smashed a two-run homer in the sixth inning Thursday night to back Bernie Daniels' strong relief pitching and give the Washington Senators a 6-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins in the first game of a twi-night double header.

Retzer's blast came off starter Reuben Gomez, who was making his first appearance for the Twins since being obtained from Cleveland. The round - tripper broke up a tie game and resulted in Gomez' third loss of the season against one victory.

Minnesota took a 4-0 lead on Bob Allison's three-run homer in the first and Harmon Killebrew's run scoring double in the third.

The Senators scored four in the fifth to tie the game when they combed Gomez for four hits and a walk.

Daniels got the win in relief, his fifth in 18 decisions. He allowed only one baserunner in the five innings he pitched.

Minnesota ace Camilo Pascual made his first appearance since being injured Aug. 11. He hurled the final three and two-thirds innings, allowing only one hit, and striking out six.

Pirates Hand Houston 7th Loss In Row

Colts Are Blanked By Vernon Law, 4-0

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sore-armed Vernon Law continued his mastery over the Houston Colts Thursday night, pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-0 victory.

Law, winning his 10th game against six losses, spaced four hits as he beat the Colts for the fifth straight time. All of his victories against the Texans were route-going performances and two of them were shutouts.

It was the Colts' seventh consecutive loss and second straight whitewash at the hands of the Pirates. Houston has been shut out 18 times this season.

Bill Virdon hit his fourth homer of the season with Law on base in the third inning to account for the first two Pittsburgh runs. A walk to Bob Skinner, losing pitcher Ken Johnson's wild pitch and a single by Donn Clendenon produced another run in the fourth inning.

Pittsburgh scored again in the eighth on Law's single, a sacrifice and a base hit by Dick Groat.

Law surrendered singles in each of the first four innings but was untouchable thereafter. He retired eight men in a row before walking Johnny Temple with two out in the sixth, then breezed through the final 10 batters.

The game was played in one hour and 50 minutes, shortest of the season at Forbes Field.

Sizzling Reds Register 4th Straight Win

Ohioans Get 21 Hits, Pinson And Coleman Hit Round-Trippers

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, hot as Chicago's 96-degree weather, sandwiched a four-run sixth inning between two three-run sprees Thursday to hang a 14-3 defeat on the Cubs.

It was the fourth straight victory for the sizzling third placers and their 16th conquest in the past 19 games.

The Reds sprayed 21 assorted hits around as well as out of Wrigley Field.

Catcher John Edwards' run-making single and Vada Pinson's safety for two more runs gave the Reds a 3-0 cushion in the fourth.

Cincinnati blended five singles with a passed ball for four more runs in the sixth.

Marty Keough's double was one of four hits the Reds stroked in scoring three times in the seventh. Pinson's 20th homer and Gordy Coleman's No. 26 climaxed the Reds' scoring in the eighth and ninth innings.

Steve Johnson Remains In Jaycee International

Cumberland Golfer's 150 Qualifies For Final 36 Holes

CATCHER SHOT — Former major league catcher with the Giants, Phils, Orioles and Indians, Valmy Thomas, 32, was reported in critical condition in Atlanta, Ga., after being shot by a 42-year-old man who then took his own life. The shooting followed a dispute over a woman, according to police. Thomas has been with the Atlanta club after starting this season with Jacksonville.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va., Aug. 23—Stephen L. "Steve" Johnson, of Cumberland, was among the 100 junior golfers who qualified for the last 36 holes of the 72-hole International Jaycee Tournament today when he reached the halfway mark with a card of 150. The cut off point was 157.

Johnson carded a 38-39—77 for today's second round. His score on opening day was 34-39—73.

The tourney winds up with 18 holes Friday and a like number on Saturday.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Wayne Downey of Alabama shot a one-under par 69 Thursday in the second round of the International Jaycee Junior Golf tournament to take medalist honors with a 36-hole total of 141.

Downey's sub par round also enabled the Alabama team to win team honors with a total score of 589. The score is based on 36-hole totals of the four man team.

California finished second with a 591 score as first day leader James Wiechers slipped to a 76 Thursday for a 145.

However, Downey's round wasn't the best of the day as two golfers fired three under par 67s. Mike Riley, California, who carded a 75 for his first round Wednesday came back Thursday with a 67 for a 142 total and a tie for second place.

Andy Nusbaum of Kansas shot the other 67, giving him a two-day score of 144 and fourth place. John Hogden of Wisconsin came up with an even par 70 for a 36-hole mark if 142 to tie Riley.

The other sub par rounds were shot by Jeff Alpert of Connecticut and Harry Lea of Virginia. Both had one-under par 69s.

The championship flight was pared to 100. The other 103 golfers will play in a "Class B" championship.

Braddock Park Playground To Close Today

Winners Of Sock Show Announced

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Ann Thomas, director of the Braddock Park Playground, announced the winners of the "Sock Show" held Wednesday afternoon. The socks were made into dolls and toys.

Winners were Shawnee Eisel, prettiest; Deborah Snelson, largest; Dwight Murphy, oldest, and Denni Dayton, littlest.

The show was held as a part of the Kiddies Day picnic and was attended by 85 children and 12 auxiliary members.

Mrs. Thomas announced that final organized and supervised play would be today at the playground which will close for the season at the end of the day. She said that the daily average attendance has been 60 with the highest being 120.

The playground is supported by a parents organization and by an annual donation from the city.

Officer Denies Participation In Burglaries

Cross Examination Continues Today

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — Bluefield patrolman Ted Land Thursday denied any participation in 20 burglaries in which two other policemen implicated him, and also denied breaking into a Bluefield auto agency.

Land was indicted specifically for the 1950 burglary of the agency. However, Police Lt. Charles Fox and Sgt. Robert Gibson, in earlier testimony, said Land aided them in numerous break - ins, some dating back a dozen years and more.

Land also denied he had any dealings with Ira Matheny, a convicted burglar who said he disposed of some stolen goods for Land and Fox. The patrolman also said Fox asked him to confess to one of the burglaries as it would go easier on Fox.

Land testified he replied, "I will not. I am not guilty."

Land's wife testified earlier that two appliances which the state claims the patrolman stole were delivered to their home in a Bluefield Hardware Co. truck.

Land, under cross examination, produced a note dated Sept. 1, 1948 from the Flat Top National Bank for a loan of $200 which he said he used to purchase the record player and sewing machine.

However, Prosecutor W. O. Bivens pointed out that Land had said previously he did not remember when he bought the items. Under questioning, Land admitted having the note in his possession for the entire trial.

Land also said he was not allowed to call his lawyer until his interrogation was almost completed. He said he told his wife to call Jerome Katz when he learned he was to be arrested.

The policeman said that during his questioning he heard the telephone ringing and a knocking on the door but no one answered either. Mrs. Land said it was Katz who was attempting to get to his client.

Bivens asked Land if it was not true that he offered the patrolman an opportunity to call his lawyer in the early morning hours. Land denied this and said he was not asked if he wanted counsel until questioning was almost completed.

Earlier, Bluefield Police Lt. Roy W. Humphries, who has long been in charge of records for the department, testified for the defense. He said the worksheet records contradicted much of the earlier testimony of Fox and Gibson regarding the time of day or night when Fox said he and Land together committed some 17 or 18 burglaries in the past dozen years.

Humphries said his records showed, for example, that Fox was acting as desk sergeant the night the Kammer Furniture Co. was burglarized in July, 1956. Fox had said he was patrolling a beat that night when he and Land entered the place.

Cross - examination will continue Friday and the case is expected to go to the jury Friday afternoon. Land is the first of seven Bluefield policemen indicted on burglary charges to stand trial.

Enrollment Drops In Two Schools

KEYSER — A sharp decline in pre-school enrollment in the Elk schools has resulted in the loss Garden and Piedmont elementary schools has resulted in the loss of one teacher from each and a reassignment of the instructors.

County Supt. S. T. McGee said the Board of Education took the action at the regular meeting Tuesday night and that names of the teachers were withheld pending their assignments elsewhere.

A substitute will be appointed for Mrs. Virginia Wright at Keyser High School until she has recovered from injuries sustained in an automobile - train collision near Bedford earlier this week. She is instructor in speech and English.

Two other vacancies also exist in the county: a home economics instructor at Ridgeley High School and a commercial teacher at Piedmont High.

WELLERSBURG — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Wellersburg Volunteer Fire Company met in the basement of the Zion Reformed Church with Mrs. Lena Witte, president, presiding.

The group decided to buy a pin for Mrs. Witte. Each member is working on a project to raise money for the fire company. The meeting closed with the recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dorothy Diehl, Mrs. Donna Witte and Mrs. Wanetta O'Baker.

The next meeting will be held September 10 at 8 p. m., at which time nomination of officers will take place.

Bicentennial Stage Show To Be Repeated

ROMNEY — Popular clamor for it has resulted in the Bicentennial Executive Committee's decision to stage the Romney Revue of '62 again the evenings of August 24-25-26.

The show features pretty girls in gorgeous costumes dancing and singing their way through an hour on a stage under the stars. The outdoor pavilion was especially constructed on the campus of the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind in Romney—a setting of extraordinary fascination.

The public is invited to see the Romney Revue of '62 at 9 p.m. fast time, Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening.

British Troops Will Drop Into Preston County Hills

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — Troops of Great Britain's 22nd Special Air Service Regiment, organized during World War II to fight behind enemy lines, will parachute Friday into the wooded hills of Preston County in northeastern West Virginia.

It will be the opening of 17 days of guerrilla warfare games with U.S. Army units. The base of the operations will be Camp Dawson, near Kingwood.

Two squadrons of the 22nd SAS will be joined in the exercises by troops of the U.S. Army's 7th Special Forces Group, the 101st Airborne Division, and U.S. officers studying techniques of unconventional warfare at the Army Special Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The 22nd SAS is a guerrilla type unit with enlisted personnel made up exclusively of volunteers from British Army units. Regardless of rank they begin again as privates, first class, on joining.

Emphasis in the games will be on night fighting and on the stealth, undercover raids and ambushes which are the mainstays of unconventional warfare.

Maroons Eliminate Barrelville; Eagles Win, 10-6, Tie Series

LaVale's Maroons marched into the finals of the playoffs in the Penu-Mar Little League by eliminating Barrelville yesterday at the latter place by the score of 8-3, behind Jim Evans, who scattered six hits and struck out ten batsmen.

It was LaVale's second straight win over Barrelville in the scheduled best-of-three series, the score being the same in the opening game.

Gary Dyck homered, Jeff Williams rapped a double and two singles and Jim Evans had a two-bagger and single for the winners. Pat Logsdon and John Helmick collected two hits each for Barrelville. John Knepp and Helmick blasted triples.

Cresaptown's Eagles whipped Tri-State Memorial at McKenzie Field, Cresaptown, by the score of 10-6, to knot their semi-final playoff series at one-all.

The third and deciding game is set for today at 6 p. m. at McKenzie Field.

Floyd Skelly belted a grand slam homer and single and Charles Pratt and David Brown also had two hits each for the Eagles. Howard Custer rapped a double and two singles, Larry Beachy pounded a homer and single and Don Nicoll also hit a round-tripper for Tri-State.

Billy Shoup went the route for the Eagles and notched his sixth win of the season.

Jockeys Slug It Out After Timonium Race

Pappas And Addesa Are Barred Pending An Investigation

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Apprentice Emanuel Addesa and Jockey Gus Pappas were ordered under escort from Timonium race track Thursday after a fight that started while they still were in their saddles at the end of the first race.

Stewards barred the two riders pending an investigation. They also warned the pair against resuming their fight on the outside.

Addesa already was under a 10-day suspension scheduled to begin Friday. The stewards ruled Wednesday that he was guilty of careless riding in a race Tuesday.

After Pappas and Addesa crossed the finish line on the one-two horses, the two jockeys shouted angrily at each other. Addesa's horse suddenly swerved against Pappas. Pappas struck out with his whip.

After they weighed out in the winner's circle, the two jockeys punched and kicked at each other. They fell to the ground and were separated by officials at the scale. Pappas' face was bleeding.

Uniformed attendants were told to take them out of the track.

Joseph F. Flanagan, steward representing the Maryland Racing Commission, said that while the two horses ridden by Addesa and Pappas were in close quarters during the last sixteenth of a mile in the race, there had been no interference.

Pappas' horse, Win With Wade, was the wiinner at odds of $8.20 for $2.

Giants Defeat Mets In Tenth

Marichal Scores 16th Victory, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Substitute second baseman Ernie Bowman homered in the fifth inning, then singled home the run in the 10th inning that gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets Thursday in the last meeting of the season between the two clubs.

Bowman's timely hitting backed up a strong pitching performance by Juan Marichal who went all the way with a five-hitter for his 16th triumph of the season. He struck out six and walked five.

Alvin Jackson suffered the loss, his 17th against six victories. The little left-hander allowed 12 hits and walked four but until the 10th the only run the Giants scored off him was on Bowman's home run, his first of the season. Bowman was a last minute substitute for Charlie Hiller, the regular second baseman.

Conley Masters Athletics, 8-2

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Big Gene Conley held Kansas City to six hits Thursday and the Red Sox clobbered the Athletics 8-2.

Conley exhibited rare control on a 100-degree afternoon in winning his 12th game. He has lost 11.

In contrast, the A's sent five pitchers to the mound. Diego Segui, who started, retired after one inning because his arm tightened. Dan Pfister succeeded him and lost his 11th against three victories.

Conley had a three-hitter until the eighth when Wayne Causey doubled. Ed Charles then walked but Jerry Lumpe hit into a double play. In the ninth George Alusik beat out a dribbler to Frank Malzone and Gino Cimoli hit his 10th home run, breaking his previous season's high of nine when he was with the Brooklyn Dodgers. That also robbed Conley of his shutout.

Sam Perlozzo Is Winner In Series Finale

Hollen, Davis Hit Homers, Dappers Win 7th Straight

A new champion was crowned in the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday when Manager Jim "Bromo" Ellsworth's Cardinals defeated the Indians in their third and deciding game of the series at Constitution Park by the score of 8-4.

Runner-up to the Phillies for the past two years in the playoffs, the Cardinals captured their first league title in the 13-year history of the circuit which has been in operation since 1950.

The Indians, managed by "Ozzie" Leasure, won the first game of the series, 4-2, and the Cardinals copped the second contest, 7-2. This marked the 7th straight year that a team from the Dapper Division had won the title. The Phillies won four in a row prior to this year and they were preceded by the Red Sox in 1957 and 1956. The Senators were the last Dan Division team to take the crown in 1955.

In yesterday's contest, the Indians sewed it up by scoring four runs in the third inning and three in the fifth. The Indians exploded for four runs in the top of the final frame after Manager Ellsworth had sent his scrub outfielders into action and several misjudged fly balls went for base hits before Sam Perlozzo got the side out.

Perlozzo went all the way for the Cardinals, yielded eight hits, struck out six and registered his fifth win of the campaign against a single loss. Mike Mullaney, Indians' hurler, gave up nine hits and struck out three.

Ed Hollen belted a homer over the centerfield fence with one aboard and also larruped a triple while Walter Davis socked a solo homer over the left field barrier and also had a double. Perlozzo collected two doubles, Dave Coffman rapped a two-bagger and single and Walter Orndorff blasted a triple. The homers were the 7th of the season for both Hollen and Davis. Ralph Leasure and Spangler with a double and single each shared four of the losers' eight blows.

The fielding star was Pat Adams, who turned in several nice plays for the Cardinals at the keystone hassock.

Score:

Braves Capture Fifth Straight

Raymond Has 10th Save In 3-2 Battle

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee won its fifth straight game Thursday with an eighth inning rally that defeated St. Louis 3-2 and pulled the Braves into a virtual tie with the Cardinals for fifth place in the National League.

Little Claude Raymond, the Braves' relief sensation, put the Redbirds down in the ninth to save the game for Bob Hendley and post his 10th save in 20 calls.

Hank Aaron extended his hitting streak to 23 games—longest in the major leagues this season—with a seventh inning single.

Ernie Broglio gave up a home run to Gus Bell in the fourth, then held the Braves until the eighth. Frank Bolling beat out an infield hit, Roy McMillan batting for Hendley, doubled him home and scored on an infield out after taking third on a wild pitch.

Weatherly Victor In Yacht Series

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) —The yacht Weatherly defeated Nefertiti by 1 minute, 26 seconds Thursday in the first race of the final trial series to select a United States defender for the America's Cup.

The selection committee of the New York Yacht Club, which has charge of the venerable cup, must select a defender by Sept. 8 to meet the challenge of Australia's Gretel. The cup races are scheduled to begin Sept. 15.

Among the interested spectators were the Australians aboard Gretel and her American trial horse, Vim. The two yachts were out sailing for most of the day, but joined the spectator fleet for the last half of the race.

Title Bound Pinto Rings Up 24-3 Win

Pinto Mennonite continued its drive toward the second half championship and the regular season championship of the Inter-Church Softball League by clobbering First Methodist by the score of 24-3 at Frederick Street Field.

The win gave Pinto a 9-0 record with one game remaining with Old Furnace on Monday. Old Furnace hold second place with a 6-1 record. Pinto won the first half title with a 9-1 record.

Dale Blauch was the batting star in yesterday's game with a triple, double and two singles. Pinto collected 14 hits and Hager, First Methodist pitcher, issued 19 bases on balls.

Dennis Ralston, Chuck McKinley Cop 5-Set Test

Defeat Britain's Sangster, Knight

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) —The United States' ranking tennis players, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, barely escaped their second humiliating defeat in a month Thursday in the National Doubles championships.

The nation's two top players were extended to five sets by Britian's Mike Sangster and Billy Knight before pulling out a 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 quarterfinal victory at Longwood Cricket Club.

McKinley and Ralston, victims of Mexico in an unprecedented Davis Cup American Zone loss recently, had to make an uphill climb for victory over the British team which is the fourth foreign seed here.

The favored United States women's team of Darlene Hard and Maria Bueno also advanced to the semifinals in a crushing 6-2, 6-2 sweep of the ranking British women, Deidre Catt and Elizabeth Starkie. So thorough was the American victory that it took only 32 minutes to complete.

In the only other women's match of the day, the South African team of Renee Schuurman and Mrs. Sandra Reynolds Price, the top foreign seed, thoroughly outclassed U.S. youngsters Lynn Haines and Andria Miller, 6-1, 6-1.

Detroit Whips Cleveland, 8-5

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline banged out two homers, a double and a single Thursday as the Detroit Tigers trounced the Cleveland Indians 8-5 with a 13-hit attack.

Hank Aguirre, staked to a 7-0 lead after four innings, picked up his 12th victory.

The Indians scored all five of their runs in the sixth. But all five were unearned as Aguirre bolstered his bid for the earned run average championship. He needed relief help from Terry Fox in the ninth.

Norm Cash drove in three Detroit runs with his 33rd homer and a single. Chico Fernandez also homered for Detroit.

Cincy Routs Cubs, 14-3; Angels Beat Yankees In 13th, 5-4

George Thomas' Double Beats Bill Stafford

34,133 See Series Finale; Tresh And Moran Belt Homers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Thomas broke up the game with a 13th inning double that brought the Los Angeles Angels a 5-4 victory over the league leading New York Yankees Thursday before 34,133.

The Yankees, however, won the important series, two games to one, and left town with a five-game advantage over the Angels.

Reliever Dan Osinki shut out the Yankees on two hits for the last five innings and picked up his fourth victory in six decisions.

Lee Thomas led off the Angel 13th with a line single off loser Bill Stafford (10-8), the fourth New York pitcher. Leon Wagner bunted Thomas to second and Bob Rodgers was walked intentionally to set up a possible double play, but George Thomas followed with his game winning double, a bouncing shot down the left field line.

The Yankees held a 4-0 advantage after two innings but the Angels caught up in the eighth when Billy Moran hit his second homer of the game. Tom Tresh hit a three-run homer for the Yankees.

Midland Takes One-Game Lead

Beats Westernport, Barton Wins, 2-1

Midland's Old Exports took a one-game lead in the Twilight Baseball League pennant race by defeating Westernport yesterday at Midland by the score of 10-6.

The win gave Midland a 21-7 record. Keyser, idle yesterday, trails with a 19-7 mark.

Barton (21-8) in third place nosed out Lonaconing by the score of 2-1.

In other league action, Zihlman nosed out the Cumberland Comets, 7-6, and Franklin defeated Gilmore, 6-1.

Paul "Bubbles" Thompson hit a three-run homer for Midland as Jim Winters recorded his 11th win of the season. Donnie Raines had three hits in four trips for Westernport.

Barton obtained only two hits in its victory over 'Coney, a triple by Ray Vinci and a single by George Lauder. Hank Winner collected a home run and two singles for Lonaconing.

"Kip" Montgomery of Franklin fanned 10 Gilmore batters and aided his cause with a home run. Vic Broy and Bill Bennett had two hits each for Franklin and Kenny McCormick belted a three-bagger for Gilmore.

Joe McGowan banged a pair of triples and a single and Bob Deffenbaugh hit a three-bagger and two singles for Zihlman. "Pooch" Lewis accounted for three of Cumberland's nine hits.

Dodgers Sink Phillies, 4-2

Score Four Runs In Eighth Inning

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Maury Wills singled home the tying run, stole a base and scored the lead run as the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers rallied for four runs in the eighth inning Thursday night to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2.

The Dodgers, who maintained their 3½ game lead over San Francisco, chased Dennis Bennett in the big inning which included a triple by John Roseboro and a two-run double by Frank Howard.

Roseboro, hitless in his last 28 times at bat, opened the eighth with a triple to the rightfield bullpen. Daryl Spencer batted for starter Johnny Podres and took a third strike, but then Wills singled the catcher home to tie the game 1-1.

Maury stole second for his 68th theft and a Dodger team record, and after Jim Gillian walked, Willie Davis singled to right, scoring Wills and sending Gilliam to third. Jack Baldschun replaced Bennett and fanned Tommy Davis, but then Howard looped a double to right scoring both runners to sew it up.

Moose Top Vets, 4-2, In Opener

Phillips Is Victor, Second Game Today

Hayden Phillips outpitched Floyd "Pete" Elliott yesterday to give the Loyal Order of Moose a 4-2 decision over the Veterans of Foregin Wars in the opening game of the best-of-five final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League at Stitcher Field.

Manager Herman Lewis' team collected ten hits, three of which were credited to Bob Keyser, who collected a double and two singles. Mickey Cunningham, Donnie Madden and "Bunk" Warnick collected two hits each for the winners.

In posting his 9th win in 10 outings, Phillips turned back the pennant winners with four hits, including a two-bagger by Ronnie Cage, fanned five and gave up one base on balls.

The win was the third straight scored by Phillips over the Vets this season. During the regular campaign he won by scores of 4-2 and 6-3.

Elliott walked three, gave up 10 blows and suffered his third loss of the campaign against 14 victories.

Lewis at short, Madden at second base, Pete Cecil at the initial hassock and "Bunk" Warnick behind the plate were the winning team's fielding stars. McGregor starred at the hot corner for the Vets.

The teams had split four games during the regular season.

Today at 6:15 p.m. the teams will tangle in the second game of their series at Stitcher Field.

Pott, Dill Fire 68s In Oklahoma City Open Golf

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Veteran Johnny Pott and unknown Terry Dill fired four-under-par 68s Thursday to share the first round lead in the $35,000 Oklahoma City Open.

One stroke back at 69 were defending champion Gene Littler, Don Massengale and Gay Brewer Jr. Doug Sanders, showing no apparent effect from a leg injury suffered in practice earlier this week, and Freddie Leffingwell had 70s.

Six players shot one-under 71st on the sun-baked Quail Creek course, and eight were tied at 72. Thirteen others were bunched at 73.

Pott, a 26-year-old pro from Gulf Hills, Miss., made the turn at one-under 35, then fired a hot 33 on the back nine. His big break came on the 14th when he sank a three-foot putt for an eagle.

Twins Drop First Game To Senators

Daniels Wins, 6-4, On Retzer's Homer

MINNEAPOLIS-St. PAUL (UPI) — Ken Retzer smashed a two-run homer in the sixth inning Thursday night to back Bernie Daniels' strong relief pitching and give the Washington Senators a 6-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins in the first game of a twi-night double header.

Retzer's blast came off starter Reuben Gomez, who was making his first appearance for the Twins since being obtained from Cleveland. The round - tripper broke up a tie game and resulted in Gomez' third loss of the season against one victory.

Minnesota took a 4-0 lead on Bob Allison's three-run homer in the first and Harmon Killebrew's run scoring double in the third.

The Senators scored four in the fifth to tie the game when they combed Gomez for four hits and a walk.

Daniels got the win in relief, his fifth in 18 decisions. He allowed only one baserunner in the five innings he pitched.

Minnesota ace Camilo Pascual made his first appearance since being injured Aug. 11. He hurled the final three and two-thirds innings, allowing only one hit, and striking out six.

Pirates Hand Houston 7th Loss In Row

Colts Are Blanked By Vernon Law, 4-0

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sore-armed Vernon Law continued his mastery over the Houston Colts Thursday night, pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-0 victory.

Law, winning his 10th game against six losses, spaced four hits as he beat the Colts for the fifth straight time. All of his victories against the Texans were route-going performances and two of them were shutouts.

It was the Colts' seventh consecutive loss and second straight whitewash at the hands of the Pirates. Houston has been shut out 18 times this season.

Bill Virdon hit his fourth homer of the season with Law on base in the third inning to account for the first two Pittsburgh runs. A walk to Bob Skinner, losing pitcher Ken Johnson's wild pitch and a single by Donn Clendenon produced another run in the fourth inning.

Pittsburgh scored again in the eighth on Law's single, a sacrifice and a base hit by Dick Groat.

Law surrendered singles in each of the first four innings but was untouchable thereafter. He retired eight men in a row before walking Johnny Temple with two out in the sixth, then breezed through the final 10 batters.

The game was played in one hour and 50 minutes, shortest of the season at Forbes Field.

Sizzling Reds Register 4th Straight Win

Ohioans Get 21 Hits, Pinson And Coleman Hit Round-Trippers

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, hot as Chicago's 96-degree weather, sandwiched a four-run sixth inning between two three-run sprees Thursday to hang a 14-3 defeat on the Cubs.

It was the fourth straight victory for the sizzling third placers and their 16th conquest in the past 19 games.

The Reds sprayed 21 assorted hits around as well as out of Wrigley Field.

Catcher John Edwards' run-making single and Vada Pinson's safety for two more runs gave the Reds a 3-0 cushion in the fourth.

Cincinnati blended five singles with a passed ball for four more runs in the sixth.

Marty Keough's double was one of four hits the Reds stroked in scoring three times in the seventh. Pinson's 20th homer and Gordy Coleman's No. 26 climaxed the Reds' scoring in the eighth and ninth innings.

Snyder's Wins, Evens Series

Beat Old Germans First Time, 4-2

Snyder's Grocery squared its Rec Softball League playoff series with the Old Germans by winning the second game yesterday at Naval Reserve Field by the score of 4-2 on a three-hiter by Bill Kenney.

It was Snyder's first victory over the league pennant winners in six games played this season. The Old Germans won the series opener on Tuesday by the score of 1-0.

Bill Kenney recorded his 16th win while Denny Knippenberg suffered his third setback against six victories.

Thee winners collected six hits with Deb Payton getting a pair while Dick Sites and John Lechliter rapped two-baggers. Terry Weltman accounted for two of the three blows yielded by Kenney.

The "rubber" games in both semi-final series are scheduled for today. The Sports Shoppe plays the Old Exports at Naval Reserve Field while the Old Germans and Snyder's clash at Post Field at 6 p.m.

Yesterday's score:

Old Germans	100	000	1—	2	3	4
Snyder's Grocery	020	101	x—	4	6	2

Denny Knippenberg and Terry Weltman. Bill Kenney and Dick Sites.

Cumberland Golfer's 150 Qualifies For Final 36 Holes

CATCHER SHOT — Former major league catcher with the Giants, Phils, Orioles and Indians, Valmy Thomas, 32, was reported in critical condition in Atlanta, Ga., after being shot by a 42-year-old man who then took his own life. The shooting followed a dispute over a woman, according to police. Thomas has been with the Atlanta club after starting this season with Jacksonville.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va., Aug. 23—Stephen L. "Steve" Johnson, of Cumberland, was among the 100 junior golfers who qualified for the last 36 holes of the 72-hole International Jaycee Tournament today when he reached the halfway mark with a card of 150. The cut off point was 157.

Johnson carded a 38-39—77 for today's second round. His score on opening day was 34-39—73.

The tourney winds up with 18 holes Friday and a like number on Saturday.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Wayne Downey of Alabama shot a one-under par 69 Thursday in the second round of the International Jaycee Junior Golf tournament to take medalist honors with a 36-hole total of 141.

Downey's sub par round also enabled the Alabama team to win team honors with a total score of 589. The score is based on 36-hole totals of the four man team.

California finished second with a 591 score as first day leader James Wiechers slipped to a 76 Thursday for a 145.

However, Downey's round wasn't the best of the day as two golfers fired three under par 67s. Mike Riley, California, who carded a 75 for his first round Wednesday came back Thursday with a 67 for a 142 total and a tie for second place.

Andy Nusbaum of Kansas shot the other 67, giving him a two-day score of 144 and fourth place. John Hogden of Wisconsin came up with an even par 70 for a 36-hole mark if 142 to tie Riley.

The other sub par rounds were shot by Jeff Alpert of Connecticut and Harry Lea of Virginia. Both had one-under par 69s.

The championship flight was pared to 100. The other 103 golfers will play in a "Class B" championship.

Cardinals Beat Indians, 8-4, Cop Little League Championship

Maroons Eliminate Barrelville; Eagles Win, 10-6, Tie Series

LaVale's Maroons marched into the finals of the playoffs in the Penu-Mar Little League by eliminating Barrelville yesterday at the latter place by the score of 8-3, behind Jim Evans, who scattered six hits and struck out ten batsmen.

It was LaVale's second straight win over Barrelville in the scheduled best-of-three series, the score being the same in the opening game.

Gary Dyck homered, Jeff Williams rapped a double and two singles and Jim Evans had a two-bagger and single for the winners. Pat Logsdon and John Helmick collected two hits each for Barrelville. John Knepp and Helmick blasted triples.

Cresaptown's Eagles whipped Tri-State Memorial at McKenzie Field, Cresaptown, by the score of 10-6, to knot their semi-final playoff series at one-all.

The third and deciding game is set for today at 6 p. m. at McKenzie Field.

Floyd Skelly belted a grand slam homer and single and Charles Pratt and David Brown also had two hits each for the Eagles. Howard Custer rapped a double and two singles, Larry Beachy pounded a homer and single and Don Nicoll also hit a round-tripper for Tri-State.

Billy Shoup went the route for the Eagles and notched his sixth win of the season.

Jockeys Slug It Out After Timonium Race

Pappas And Addesa Are Barred Pending An Investigation

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Apprentice Emanuel Addesa and Jockey Gus Pappas were ordered under escort from Timonium race track Thursday after a fight that started while they still were in their saddles at the end of the first race.

Stewards barred the two riders pending an investigation. They also warned the pair against resuming their fight on the outside.

Addesa already was under a 10-day suspension scheduled to begin Friday. The stewards ruled Wednesday that he was guilty of careless riding in a race Tuesday.

After Pappas and Addesa crossed the finish line on the one-two horses, the two jockeys shouted angrily at each other. Addesa's horse suddenly swerved against Pappas. Pappas struck out with his whip.

After they weighed out in the winner's circle, the two jockeys punched and kicked at each other. They fell to the ground and were separated by officials at the scale. Pappas' face was bleeding.

Uniformed attendants were told to take them out of the track.

Joseph F. Flanagan, steward representing the Maryland Racing Commission, said that while the two horses ridden by Addesa and Pappas were in close quarters during the last sixteenth of a mile in the race, there had been no interference.

Pappas' horse, Win With Wade, was the wiinner at odds of $8.20 for $2.

Giants Defeat Mets In Tenth

Marichal Scores 16th Victory, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Substitute second baseman Ernie Bowman homered in the fifth inning, then singled home the run in the 10th inning that gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets Thursday in the last meeting of the season between the two clubs.

Bowman's timely hitting backed up a strong pitching performance by Juan Marichal who went all the way with a five-hitter for his 16th triumph of the season. He struck out six and walked five.

Alvin Jackson suffered the loss, his 17th against six victories. The little left-hander allowed 12 hits and walked four but until the 10th the only run the Giants scored off him was on Bowman's home run, his first of the season. Bowman was a last minute substitute for Charlie Hiller, the regular second baseman.

Conley Masters Athletics, 8-2

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Big Gene Conley held Kansas City to six hits Thursday and the Red Sox clobbered the Athletics 8-2.

Conley exhibited rare control on a 100-degree afternoon in winning his 12th game. He has lost 11.

In contrast, the A's sent five pitchers to the mound. Diego Segui, who started, retired after one inning because his arm tightened. Dan Pfister succeeded him and lost his 11th against three victories.

Conley had a three-hitter until the eighth when Wayne Causey doubled. Ed Charles then walked but Jerry Lumpe hit into a double play. In the ninth George Alusik beat out a dribbler to Frank Malzone and Gino Cimoli hit his 10th home run, breaking his previous season's high of nine when he was with the Brooklyn Dodgers. That also robbed Conley of his shutout.

Sam Perlozzo Is Winner In Series Finale

Hollen, Davis Hit Homers, Dappers Win 7th Straight

A new champion was crowned in the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday when Manager Jim "Bromo" Ellsworth's Cardinals defeated the Indians in their third and deciding game of the series at Constitution Park by the score of 8-4.

Runner-up to the Phillies for the past two years in the playoffs, the Cardinals captured their first league title in the 13-year history of the circuit which has been in operation since 1950.

The Indians, managed by "Ozzie" Leasure, won the first game of the series, 4-2, and the Cardinals copped the second contest, 7-2. This marked the 7th straight year that a team from the Dapper Division had won the title. The Phillies won four in a row prior to this year and they were preceded by the Red Sox in 1957 and 1956. The Senators were the last Dan Division team to take the crown in 1955.

In yesterday's contest, the Indians sewed it up by scoring four runs in the third inning and three in the fifth. The Indians exploded for four runs in the top of the final frame after Manager Ellsworth had sent his scrub outfielders into action and several misjudged fly balls went for base hits before Sam Perlozzo got the side out.

Perlozzo went all the way for the Cardinals, yielded eight hits, struck out six and registered his fifth win of the campaign against a single loss. Mike Mullaney, Indians' hurler, gave up nine hits and struck out three.

Ed Hollen belted a homer over the centerfield fence with one aboard and also larruped a triple while Walter Davis socked a solo homer over the left field barrier and also had a double. Perlozzo collected two doubles, Dave Coffman rapped a two-bagger and single and Walter Orndorff blasted a triple. The homers were the 7th of the season for both Hollen and Davis. Ralph Leasure and Spangler with a double and single each shared four of the losers' eight blows.

The fielding star was Pat Adams, who turned in several nice plays for the Cardinals at the keystone hassock.

Score:

Indians	000	004—	4 8 4
Cardinals	014	03x—	8 9 4

Mike Mullaney and C. Rice, Sammy Perlozzo and Walter Davis.

HR—Hollen, Davis (Cardinals).

Braves Capture Fifth Straight

Raymond Has 10th Save In 3-2 Battle

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee won its fifth straight game Thursday with an eighth inning rally that defeated St. Louis 3-2 and pulled the Braves into a virtual tie with the Cardinals for fifth place in the National League.

Little Claude Raymond, the Braves' relief sensation, put the Redbirds down in the ninth to save the game for Bob Hendley and post his 10th save in 20 calls.

Hank Aaron extended his hitting streak to 23 games—longest in the major leagues this season—with a seventh inning single.

Ernie Broglio gave up a home run to Gus Bell in the fourth, then held the Braves until the eighth. Frank Bolling beat out an infield hit, Roy McMillan batting for Hendley, doubled him home and scored on an infield out after taking third on a wild pitch.

Weatherly Victor In Yacht Series

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) —The yacht Weatherly defeated Nefertiti by 1 minute, 26 seconds Thursday in the first race of the final trial series to select a United States defender for the America's Cup.

The selection committee of the New York Yacht Club, which has charge of the venerable cup, must select a defender by Sept. 8 to meet the challenge of Australia's Gretel. The cup races are scheduled to begin Sept. 15.

Among the interested spectators were the Australians aboard Gretel and her American trial horse, Vim. The two yachts were out sailing for most of the day, but joined the spectator fleet for the last half of the race.

Title Bound Pinto Rings Up 24-3 Win

Pinto Mennonite continued its drive toward the second half championship and the regular season championship of the Inter-Church Softball League by clobbering First Methodist by the score of 24-3 at Frederick Street Field.

The win gave Pinto a 9-0 record with one game remaining with Old Furnace on Monday. Old Furnace hold second place with a 6-1 record. Pinto won the first half title with a 9-1 record.

Dale Blauch was the batting star in yesterday's game with a triple, double and two singles. Pinto collected 14 hits and Hager, First Methodist pitcher, issued 19 bases on balls.

Dennis Ralston, Chuck McKinley Con 5-Set Test

Defeat Britain's Sangster, Knight

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) —The United States' ranking tennis players, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, barely escaped their second humiliating defeat in a month Thursday in the National Doubles championships.

The nation's two top players were extended to five sets by Britian's Mike Sangster and Billy Knight before pulling out a 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 quarterfinal victory at Longwood Cricket Club.

McKinley and Ralston, victims of Mexico in an unprecedented Davis Cup American Zone loss recently, had to make an uphill climb for victory over the British team which is the fourth foreign seed here.

The favored United States women's team of Darlene Hard and Maria Bueno also advanced to the semifinals in a crushing 6-2, 6-2 sweep of the ranking British women, Deidre Catt and Elizabeth Starkie. So thorough was the American victory that it took only 32 minutes to complete.

In the only other women's match of the day, the South African team of Renee Schuurman and Mrs. Sandra Reynolds Price, the top foreign seed, thoroughly outclassed U.S. youngsters Lynn Haines and Andria Miller, 6-1, 6-1.

Detroit Whips Cleveland, 8-5

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline banged out two homers, a double and a single Thursday as the Detroit Tigers trounced the Cleveland Indians 8-5 with a 13-hit attack.

Hank Aguirre, staked to a 7-0 lead after four innings, picked up his 12th victory.

The Indians scored all five of their runs in the sixth. But all five were unearned as Aguirre bolstered his bid for the earned run average championship. He needed relief help from Terry Fox in the ninth.

Norm Cash drove in three Detroit runs with his 33rd homer and a single. Chico Fernandez also homered for Detroit.

Soviets Believed Trying To Force Berlin Crisis Showdown

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Berlin situation is getting hotter by the hour. The latest Soviet move points to an attempt to tighten diplomatic screws and head the crisis toward some sort of showdown.

The Soviet government and Defense Ministry have announced formally the abolition of the Soviet commandant's office in Berlin. This is not a new tactic, by any means. But at this moment it can be taken as a warning of new pressures to come.

In effect, this brings the international quarrel over Berlin back to where it was in 1948, when Josef Stalin blockaded the city in an attempt to drive out the Western Allies. A massive airlift broke the blockade.

But things are more dangerous now. The Soviet Union is feeling its oats. Its latest space stunts and its boasts of vast superiority in military rocketry indicate it is using the prospect of its military potential as a weapon to frighten and stampede the world into supporting demands for a quick settlement.

The Soviet Union is insisting that the West no longer has any legal right to retain occupation troops in West Berlin. It said the same thing in 1948 before clamping down the blockade. It claimed then that the West surrendered its rights when it set up a separate administration in West Germany.

When Moscow ended the blockade in May 1949, the U.S.S.R. consented in effect to the continued Allied military presence in West Berlin. There was little else the Russians could do about it then.

Thereafter, the U.S.S.R. went through a period of internal political nervousness which continued until well after Stalin died in 1953. The Berlin situation remained relatively quiet.

However, in 1955 the Russians were on the move again, prodded by a Western decision to bring West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Moscow announced it had signed a treaty declaring the Red East German regime sovereign and "free to decide its own domestic and foreign policies."

The West warned that it held the Kremlin responsible for maintaining the four-power postwar arrangement agreed for Berlin.

Moscow countered that the East German regime had full jurisdiction over its territory, including communications between Berlin and West Germany. Berlin is 110 miles inside Communist territory. The Russians said then that the authority their military exercised was regarded as "only temporary."

This line now, suddenly, is repeated. The Russians said their military is confined—and "only temporarily"—to matters relating to movement of military supplies and personnel to Western Allied occupation garrisons, to manning the Soviet war memorial in the British sector, and to supplying guards for the war crimes prison at Spandau.

In effect, Moscow is saying again that a four-power command as such does not really exist. Once again by the word "temporarily" it hints it will eventually relinquish all military responsibilities, too, but it has not yet done so.

Boys Are Fined In Motor Case

Two Bowman's Addition area youths were given suspended 90-day sentences in Allegany County Jail Wednesday in Trial Magistrates Court when they were found guilty of taking a motor vehicles without the owner's consent.

Truman Edward Livingood, 16, and David Stevenson Hott, 17, also were fined $5 each plus costs on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a license by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

According to testimony at the hearing the youths had taken Livingood's father's car for a ride in the Bowman's Addition section early Friday morning.

The car stalled and they took another car parked along Valley Road and used this car to push the Livingood vehicle. While trying to get the car started the Livingood car was backed into the other car, causing some damage.

The boys fled, leaving the cars on the road. They were arrested later in the morning at their homes by State Trooper Richard Brown. They were released in the custody of their parents until the hearing.

The jail sentences were suspended by Magistrate Weatherholt on condition that the Hott youth obtain employment and make restitution for damage to the car, and that the Livingood boy return to school and also make restitution for damage.

Although alcoholism cannot be inherited, the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program says the presence of an alcoholic parent in a child's environment may sometimes produce emotional conflicts in the child which can cause him to be susceptible to alcoholism later in life.

Hampson-Shryock Wedding Saturday

The marriage of Miss Judith Ann Shryock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meridith C. Shryock, 22 Somerville Avenue to James Lee Hampson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Hampson, Gramlich Road, will be performed Saturday. The ceremony will be at 7:30 p. m. in Second Baptist Church by Rev. Marvin Simpson.

Members of the bridal party are Mrs. Robert DeLozier, matron of honor; Deborah Shryock, junior maid of honor; Miss Alicia Crews, Miss Mary Jane Adams, Miss Patricia Mitchell, bridesmaids; Joy Anderson, flower girl, David Yutzy, ring bearer; John DelaGrange, best man; Gary Hampson, Edward Weaver and Larry Fresh, ushers.

Friends and relatives will be welcome to attend the ceremony and reception following.

Schedules Discussed

Plans to increase membership and devote one day's work each week for the church were discussed at a meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Carrie Gephart. Mrs. Orville Gilkey and Mrs. Connell Chaney were named to arrange the work schedule, which will begin October 1. Announcement was made that the truck from New Windsor will be here September 6. Contributions will be picked up at First Presbyterian Church or at Living Stone Church.

When Tunisia became independent in 1956, French settlers held one million acres of Tunisia's richest land. An initial take-over of nearly half a million acres occurred in 1957. Last year the Tunisian government bought 250,000 acres more from French holders.

Mine Project Is Urged

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Mines Director Leonard J. Timms Thursday recommended that abandoned mines be filled immediately to prevent explosions similar to the one that claimed two lives at Grant Town July 16.

The recommendation followed formal inquiries July 17 and Aug. 6 into the explosion at the abandoned coal mine owned by United Gas and Fuel Associates.

Evidence presented at the hearings indicated that the explosion was caused when a cutting torch used in dismantling the mine ignited methane gas or coal dust seeping from the mine shaft.

Gay W. Ice, 41, and Robert L. Jones, 36, who were standing on the shaft's concrete cover at the time of the explosion fell to their deaths.

If abandoned mines cannot be filled, Timms further recommended that "bleeder" pipes, not less than 10 feet long, be installed above the shaft cover so that escaping gasses could not come in contact with other combustible materials.

In addition, Timms urged that trained rescue personnel be on hand when mine dismantling operations are in progress.

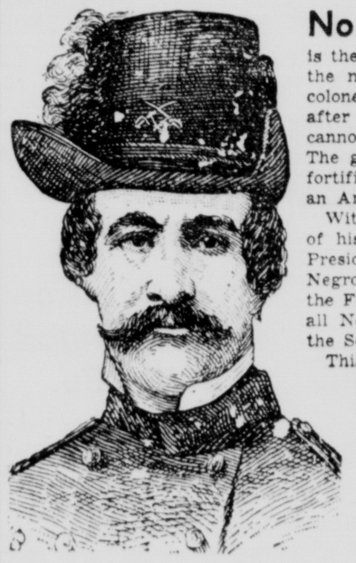
To Entertain Elk Visitors

Wives of the local Elks will entertain the women accompanying their husbands to the Elks convention at a buffet luncheon. It will be held tomorrow in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland hotel. Lunch will be served at 11:15, 12:15 and 1:15.

Mrs. Virginia Mackert is chairman of arrangements. Her committee consists of Mrs. Joan Eshelman, Mrs. Jean Raupach, Mrs. Nancy Williams and Mrs. Billie Zeller.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures



No. 158 "We fought until the outer wall of two casements was entirely down. . . . Fort Pulaski is the first work that has ever been exposed to the fire of the newly invented rifled cannon," Charles L. Olmstead, colonel, 1st Georgia Volunteer Regiment, wrote to his wife after the fort's fall in April 1862. He referred to the rifled cannon Adm. John H. Dahlgren had invented for the Navy. The guns were on Tybee Island and capture of the Rebel fortification of the sea approach to Savannah was purely an Army operation, a victory for Maj. Gen. David Hunter.

Within 48 hours after Hunter reported this new capture of his to Washington, he made trouble for himself with President Lincoln. Hunter issued an order liberating all Negro slaves who had fallen into the hands of the Army in the Fort Pulaski area. On May 9, he extended the order to all Negro slaves within his command, the Department of the South.

This order aroused a political furor in Washington. President Lincoln had not as yet been pressed into issuing an emancipation proclamation; he was not to reach that point until Sept. 22, 1862. On May 19, he cancelled Hunter's emancipation order with the explanation the general had exceeded his authority.

Most interesting aspect of Hunter's order was that he knew what had happened to his predecessor in the Western Department, John C. Fremont. In proclaiming martial law in Missouri in August 1861, Fremont declared the liberation of all slaves owned by persons who resisted the Union government. Lincoln had countermanded this emancipation.

Hunter might have assumed he knew the Lincoln mind. An Illinois native, he had made Lincoln's acquaintanceship before the latter's election and was one of the men invited by Lincoln to accompany him to the inauguration.

Hunter took another decisive step without prior knowledge of Lincoln: he authorized the enlistment of the first regiment of Southern Negroes for the Union Army. This time Congress upheld his course.

—CLARK KINNAIRD

David Hunter and official signature. Appointed from Illinois to West Point in his teens, he was graduated in 1822. He served in dragoons against Western Indians and in the Mexican War, and was a cavalry colonel in May 1861.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 159 "A talented but coarse and demagogic congressman from Massachusetts, when he lost his seat in 1874, he was so hated by his own party, as well as his opponents, that one Republican wired concerning the Democratic sweep, 'Butler defeated, everything else lost.'" — From "Profiles in Courage," by John F. Kennedy (Cardinal paperback).

Hatred of Benjamin Butler went back to 1862. He was not the only Union general the Confederate government had ordered to be hanged wherever captured. (A similar ukase had been issued against David Hunter after he instigated the first enlistment of Southern Negroes into Union regiments to fight the Rebels.) But Butler was the one Confederates denounced most savagely.

There was substance to accusations of murder, theft, blackmail, maltreatment of women, arson and lesser crimes leveled at Butler after his army became an occupation force in New Orleans. Commodore D. D. Porter, whose mortar boats accompanied Admiral Farragut's ships in effecting the capture of New Orleans, said, "God save me from such generals as Butler."

Initial action of Butler's to outrage the Confederates was his seizing William B. Mumford, trying him for treason, and hanging him publicly. Mumford had led a mob which tore down the Union colors raised over the old U. S. Mint by a detachment from Farragut's ships. Mumford's dragging of the "old rag of the United States" through the streets had been hailed in the New Orleans press. To Butler he was a menace to good order and safety. To the Confederates Mumford was a martyr. President Davis ordered Butler executed upon capture.

Master Plan Hearing Brings 75 Spectators

Objections Made To Certain Points

About 75 interested citizens of Allegany County attended a public hearing last night at the Court House to hear an explanation of a proposed master plan for the highways and roads of the county.

This hearing was arranged by the County Planning and Zoning Commission to consider the plan as drawn up by Julian Tarrant, Richmond, Va., a representative of the planning firm of Ladislas Segoe and Associates of Cincinnati, Ohio.

James A. Perrin, vice chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, presided at the hearing. Two other members, Carl O. Belt of Narrows Park and Ralph Race of Frostburg, attended. Two other members, Richard Winer, the chairman, and County Commissioner John T. Mason, were absent.

Detailed Explanation

Mr. Tarrent began the hearing with a detailed explanation of the master plan and how it was determined. He noted that it is anticipated that by the year 1975 that Allegany County will have 50,000 motor vehicles, three times as many as today. He showed a diagram which emphasized the roads in the county which are considered adequate, those which are considered average and those deemed sub-standard.

The planning consultant said that it is readily agreed that Allegany County does not have as good roads as most counties in Maryland.

After Mr. Tarrant completed his explanation, Mr. Perrin asked for questions from the audience. In general they followed two types, those from home owners who did not want their areas changed drastically, and from business operators who do not want traffic funneled away from their enterprises.

For instance, two residents of Weires Avenue spoke in opposition to a plan which would extend State Route 35 south from Corriganville along Cash Valley Road and then westerly to take in part of Weires Avenue before reaching present U.S. Route 40 in the neighborhood of the State Police barracks.

The Weires Avenue spokesmen were Donald E. Marang and Kendrick Hodgdon. They emphasized that their street, which extends about four blocks, is strictly residential. They said that 119 children live along its four blocks.

Oppose Rerouting

Spokehmen who seemed to oppose the plan for rerouting U. S. Route 40 south of its present location west of LaVale included George Waingold, rental agent for the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center; Hugh Kifer, who operates a liquor store across the highway from the shopping center; Clyde Vogtman, operator of the Continental Motel, and a Mrs. Klavuhn, who operates a service station in the same area.

County Commissioner John J. Rowan attended the hearing and volunteered a number of comments about the plans for future developments, especially Route 40. He predicted a specific development of interest to the entire area.

Mr. Race attempted to put the hearing into perspective when he explained the purpose of a master plan. The basic idea is to reconcile differences among people who want residential development, those who seek new industry and those with commercial interests.

Mr. Perrin said the commission will give the proposed master plan more thorough study at a subsequent meeting before deciding whether to recommend it in whole or in part to the Board of County Commissioners.

New Delegates Take Oath

Fred H. Anderson and J. Glenn Beall Jr. receive the oath of office as new Republican delegates from Allegany County from Del. Perry O. Wilkinson, right, Prince Georges County Democrat who is Speaker of the House of Delegates. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Beall also were present for the ceremony. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Beall were appointed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes on recommendation of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee to fill the unexpired terms of Dels. Fred B. Driscoll and Estel C. Kelley, who died on successive days in July. The new delegates are candidates in the November general election, and must win if they are to serve in a regular legislative session.

Ronald Adams Winner In Tractor Competition

Ronald Adams, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Adams, Mill Road, won the annual 4-H tractor operators' contest yesterday afternoon at the Cumberland Fair.

Young Adams, who will be a senior at Fort Hill High School next month, gained the right to represent Allegany County at the Timonium State Fair next Friday by defeating eight other boys in yesterday's competition at Fairgo. He also wins a $15 premium.

RONALD ADAMS

Other winners, as announced by Assistant County Agent Charles Babich, are Wesley Gordon, RFD 1, Flintstone, $12 second; James Robison, Mt. Savage, $10 third; Larry Silber, RFD 4, $8 fourth; James Cosgrove, RFD 3, $5 fifth; George Raines, RFD 2, Flintstone, $5 sixth; Donald Irons, Spring Gap, $5 seventh; Larry Robey, Spring Gap, $5 eighth, and James Paul, Mt. Savage, ninth.

Ronald, who lives on a 100-acre farm just off Bedford Road, entered the tractor competition several years ago but did not place among the winners.

Church Will Break Ground

A grounbreaking ceremony for a new McKendree Methodist Church on Paca Street just west of Smallwood Street will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, according to Rev. C. Edward Johnson, pastor.

The Methodist Men of the church are in charge of arrangements for the service Sunday. George Ashby is president and Raymond Bartlett secretary of the Methodist Men.

Members of McKendree Methodist Church have been worshiping in the Church of God on South Lee Street since they sold their former church to Centre Street Methodist Church. They will walk from the Church of God to the new church site for the groundbreaking ceremony.

Mrs. Johnson directs the choir which will sing for the groundbreaking. Earle L. Bracey is the lay leader of the congregation.

The church will be built by Russell G. Robeson, local contractor. Construction is not expected to start until after September 1.

ABL Employe Leaves Hospital

Donald E. Davis, 948 Center Street, LaVale, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital Tuesday with injuries sustained in an explosion at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, has been discharged from the hospital.

In a previous report, ABL listed him as Donald L. Davis of 230 Mary Street.

Order Of Arrow Meeting Slated At Butler, Pa.

Twenty Boys Scouts of Potomac Council will travel to Butler, Pa., today to join in an area meeting of the Order of The Arrow.

They plan to leave for scout camp in Butler about 1 p. m. today and will return on Sunday. Some 600 scouts from about 10 councils of the area plan to attend.

Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council executive, said the local group dressed in full Indian regalic, will be present the tapping out of the brotherhood ceremony and will also compete in swimming events to be held at the meeting.

Gordon Carpenter, Ahtuhquog Lodge chief will be in charge of the local group and will be accompanied by Joseph Monahan, adult adviser.

The winners of the 4-H Boys and Girls Fitting and Showing contest held Wednesday at the Cumberland Fair have been announced.

Enrollees in 4-H Dairy Cattle Clubs throughout Allegany and Garrett counties participated in the annual contest and entered calves and heifers which they raised and trained.

Winners in the senior division which includes youths about 14 years and older are: John W. Wildeson, Gormania, W. Va., who attends high school in Garrett County, first place; Jay Steger, RD 4, city, second; James J. Robison, Mt. Savage, third; Frank Greise, RD 3, city, fourth; and James Cosgrove, RD 3, city, fifth.

Junior division winners consisting of youths about 14 and younger include Michael Whittaker, Shawnee Road, Westernport, first; John J. Robison, Mt. Savage, second; Glenn E. Lepley, Mt. Savage, third; Sharon Myers, RD 3, city, fourth; and Gene Paul, Mt. Savage, fifth.

Church Unit Plans Car Wash Saturday

The Young Married Class of Evangelical United Brethren Church, Ridgeley, will sponsor a car wash tomorrow from noon until 6 p.m. in back of the church on Knobley Hill.

Model Contest Winners Named

Winners in an automobile model building contest sponsored by G. C. Murphy Company were announced last night.

James Hast took first place with a modified Corvette. Norney Williams, 912 Piedmont Avenue, was second with a dragster, and Mike Graham was third with a customized truck.

All three will get a free trip to Connellsville, Pa., Sunday to see sports car races there and to enter their models in the tri-state regional competition. The winner of that contest will get a trophy like the one to be presented to the winning driver in the feature race Sunday.

About 100 youngsters 14 or younger entered the contest. The entries were judged by Misses Kathryn and Margaret Skitarelic, West Virginia University students who are fromer prize winners in similar contests. They were assisted in judging by their father, Dr. Benedict Skitarelic.

ICC Hearing On Speedliner Scheduled Here

B&O Wants To Abandon Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday set a hearing for Oct. 1 on an application of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for authority to discontinue two daily passenger trains linking Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh.

The hearing will open in Washington, then move to Cumberland for an Oct. 4 session and to Pittsburgh for an Oct. 5 session.

The hearing will be conducted by ICC Examiner Elden J. Miller. The trains involved are No. 21, which leaves Baltimore at 9:35 a.m. (EST), arrives in Washington at 10:15 a.m. and Pittsburgh at 4:40 p.m., and No. 22 which leaves Pittsburgh at 11:30 a.m., arrives in Washington at 6 p.m. and Baltimore at 6:40 p. m.

The trains are called the daylight Speedliners.

The railroad has proposed to substitute another daily train on the Washington-Baltimore leg of the run. This would leave Washington at 6 p.m. and arrive in Baltimore at 6:40 p.m.

The Cumberland hearing will be held at the Court House and the Pittsburgh hearing at the Hilton Hotel.

Larry Patton Is Ordered Extradited

Governor J. Millard Tawes granted extradition Wednesday of four persons wanted in other states on criminal charges.

Among them is Larry Patton, who has been held in the Allegany County jail for Mineral County (W. Va.) authorities who want him in connection with a breaking and entering.

Some time ago Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey who refused a motion for the release of Patton, ordered him committed to the county jail to await the extradition hearing by the governor.

On June 18 the defendant was tried for breach of parole before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, was given a two-year suspended sentence and was placed under supervision of James Lewis, state parole and probation officer, under the same probation conditions.

Under a writ of detainer from West Virginia prior to the hearing, Patton was detained in the county jail.

He refused to waive extradition to West Virginia and requested a hearing before the governor of Maryland.

Three Calves Born At Local Fair

The livestock population at the Cumberland Fair being held this week has increased by three calves since the Fair opened on Monday.

Tuesday night a red and white speckled Ayrshire calf was born to "Heather," owned by William I. Shank and Sons of Hagerstown, who also had two calves born last week at the Washington County Fair.

A Guernsey calf was born Tuesday night to a cow owned by A. A. McCauley and Sons of Hagerstown, and on Monday evening a Jersey calf was born to a cow owned by Braden King of Boonsboro.

Judge Affirms Frostburg On Permit Action

Had Authority To Prevent Work

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris filed a seven-page opinion and order in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday denying an application for writ of mandamus to Roy Lawrence Warn and Virginia Lee Warn in a case against the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg.

In his opinion, Judge Harris concluded that the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg did not act in an unreasonable, prejudicial and discriminatory manner in refusing a building permit to the Warns for the Hen House restaurant which they operate at 65 Bowery Street in Frostburg.

On June 21, Mrs. Warn filed an application with the city clerk of Frostburg for a building permit for an addition to the Hen House, which she said was to be used for storage purposes. When she returned home, she called the city clerk and told him that the purpose of the proposed building was for take-out orders for hotdogs and hamburgers.

Six days later, the Frostburg police chief advised the Warns that they should cease further construction until the Mayor and Council had acted on the building permit application.

On July 9, after a hearing, the Mayor and Council denied the building permit.

Judge Harris noted in his opinion that Mayor Joseph James stated that he was opposed to the permit because he had received complaints of disorder in the place of business and he thought it would deflate the value of the property in the area and would have an adverse effect on the children. He stated that it would be against the general welfare of the Town of Frostburg. The councilmen had similar objections to granting the permit.

Frostburg does not have a zoning ordinance, Judge Harris noted in his opinion.

When testimony in this case was heard August 14, the Warns were represented by Attorney Miller Bowen. John C. Sullivan represented the Town of Frostburg.

Driver Hurt In Crash At Wiley Ford

Fred B. Borror, 73, of RD 1, Ridgeley, was hospitalized yesterday with injuries sustained when two pickup trucks collided on West Virginia Route 28 at Johnson's Restaurant in Wiley Ford.

Mr. Borror, driver of one of the trucks, was admitted to Memorial Hospital where his condition last night was reported as "fair."

Attaches said the man sustained scalp lacerations and was admitted for observation and X-rays of his head today.

The other truck driver, Ira D. Alkire, 47, of Hendricks, W. Va., in Tucker County, apparently was unhurt in the collision at 3:55 p.m.

Trooper Donald L. Elmore from the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police, said Borror was driving north on Route 28 and was attempting a left turn into the restaurant parking lot when Alkire traveling south collided with the Borror truck.

The injured man was taken to the local hospital in McDonald's ambulance. No charges have been preferred pending a full investigation, said Trooper Elmore.

Fatal Accident Trial Tuesday In Oakland

Robert S. Bowser, of Eckhart, who was the driver of an auto involved in a fatal accident last December in Garrett County, will be given a hearing Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney in Oakland.

Killed in the accident was Bernard D. Byrnes, 39, also of Eckhart, who died on December 11 the day after the accident occurred on the New Germany Road about six miles from Grantsville.

Bowser, who posted $500 bond pending the hearing, is charged with manslaughter by automobile and reckless driving, authorities said.

Zoning Board Will Permit Jack Business

Three Conditions Must Be Met

The Allegany County Board of Appeals has filed an opinion giving A. W. Chaney of Oldtown permission to operate a hydraulic jack-repair service on Mexico Farms Road about 300 feet west of State Route 51, the Oldtown Road, provided that three specific conditions are met.

The three conditions enumerated in the order signed by Everett G. Partridge, chairman of the board, are as follows:

1. That the hydraulic jack repair business be confined to the interior of the building with no storing of parts, tools or equipment outside.

2. That the property not be used for the storing of junk, automotive parts or objectionable trash of any kind.

3. That the outside toilet closest to the R. H. Whetsel residence be dismantled and the excavation properly filled.

The three-man board held a hearing on the application of Mr. Chaney on July 12. At that time a number of persons living nearby protested. They contended that the deeds under which they acquired their property prohibits them from using their property for business purposes.

Mr. Chaney has been using the premises the past three years for the sale of coal. Residents complained at the July 12 hearing that he allowed pieces of junk to accumulate on the premises.

Bike Registration Deadline Is Set

Youngsters in Cumberland who own bicycles and have neglected to purchase the new license tags have until September 1 to do so, said Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney.

He said that after that date any bicycle seen being pedaled on city streets without tags will be picked up. In recent days, he said, some 100 tags have been sold although the sale of tags has been lagging.

Area Elks Open Anniversary Convention

Mayor Welcomes Delegates To City

Delegates to the 42d annual convention of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association were welcomed to Cumberland yesterday by Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Present at the welcoming ceremony held on the steps of City Hall were Street Commissioner Lucille Roeder and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Mayor Chaney thanked the association for selecting Cumberland as the site of its convention for the second time in four years.

He said it was an honor to have the association as a part of the city and that Cumberland was proud of the record it has made here.

Mayor Chaney pledged that city officials stand ready to make the association's stay here enjoyable and invited delegates to visit the area's historical attractions and enjoy its scenic beauty.

Registration Begins

Harry S. Tracy, general chairman said last night about 550 Elks and their wives had registered for the convention. About 1,000 persons are expected to attend.

Registration will continue at 10 a. m. today at which time a regular association business meeting will be held in the ballroom.

At noon today the ladies will entertain in the Anniversary Cotillion Room at the Elks Home on South Centre Street.

A golf tournament is scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club and at 1:30 p. m. Lee A. Donaldson, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will arrive at the local club.

At 2 p. m. entertainment will begin in the Gay Nineties Gaslight Lounge with Ann Moore at the organ. At the same time a style show "Star in Crepe' will be held in the Anniversary Cotillion Room.

Miss Maryland To Attend

The publicity committee will meet at 4 p. m. in the ballroom. Cocktails preceding the grand exalted ruler's banquet at 6 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club will be served at the Elks Home at 5:30 p. m.

Miss Beverly Ann Smith, Baltimore, who was chosen as "Miss Maryland" in Salisbury last month, will be a guest of the association tonight.

Tiger To Open Plant In Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Plans were announced Thursday to open a tractor production plant here.

The Tiger Tractor Co. of Keyser, W. Va., leased a 57,000-square-foot dockside building from Gulf Shipyard Industrial Park to produce tractors, with operation expected to begin within 60 days.

The lease for the building is for 10 years at a total rent of $380,000.

President Frederick Pittera of Tiger Tractor said plans call for production of about 25,000 tractors a year at the plant. He said the company will employ about 50 workers to start and progress to 200 within six or seven months.

According to Pittera the firm now has commitments to produce 9, 10 and 12.5 horsepower tractors for shipment to the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Spain, Angola, Argentina, Paraguay, The Philippines and India.

The total commitment is for 14,000 tractors, he said.

He said annual sales were expected to total $25 million, with the annual payroll of the mobile facility at about $1 million.

Wallet, $80 Stolen Here

City police yesterday received a report of the theft of a ladies wallet containing about $80 in cash, cards, operator's license, pictures etc. and also a case of vandalism.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van reported that Mrs. James Beacham, 744 National Highway, was in People's Drug Store at the prescription counter when she laid her pocketbook down.

It was apparently opened at the time and someone snatched the wallet with money and other items. She said she saw no one on either side of her at the time.

Van also reported that someone shot an air rifle pellet through the rear glass of a station wagon belonging to Luther Cox, 518 Maryland Avenue while it was parked in front of his house. The entire window was shattered, he said.

Audit Of City Books Is Started

The annual audit of the financial records of the City of Cumberland for the fiscal year which ended June 30 is being made, according to Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

The audit is being conducted at City Hall by John W. Rollins Jr. and William Torkington, local certified public accountants.

Mayor Welcomes Elks Association

Mayor Earl D. Chaney, third from left, welcomes William Wise, Cambridge, president of the Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia Elks Association, in a ceremony held yesterday on the steps of City Hall. In the delegation which witnessed the ceremony are, first row, left to right, Claude S. Martin, Washington, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Clarence M. Mullican, Annapolis, president-elect of the association, Mayor Chaney, Mr. Wise, R. Edward Dove, Annapolis, secretary, and Thompson J. Kimmell, Dover, Del., third vice president; second row, Bruce M. Mackey, Cumberland, district deputy grand exalted ruler (west); Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder; Thomas D. Noeth, Towson, second vice president; Joseph E. PONTIAC
Don't consider any car for $30.00 monthly until you see and drive this beautiful 1957 Pontiac. It's the best Starchief Hardtop model and is modernly equipped with power brakes, steering and automatic transmission. Its fine condition makes it appear like a much newer car and the previous owner reports 19 trip miles per gallon.

Soviets Believed Trying To Force Berlin Crisis Showdown

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Berlin situation is getting hotter by the hour. The latest Soviet move points to an attempt to tighten diplomatic screws and head the crisis toward some sort of showdown.

The Soviet government and Defense Ministry have announced formally the abolition of the Soviet commandant's office in Berlin. This is not a new tactic, by any means. But at this moment it can be taken as a warning of new pressures to come.

In effect, this brings the international quarrel over Berlin back to where it was in 1948, when Josef Stalin blockaded the city in an attempt to drive out the Western Allies. A massive airlift broke the blockade.

But things are more dangerous now. The Soviet Union is feeling its oats. Its latest space stunts and its boasts of vast superiority in military rocketry indicate it is using the prospect of its military potential as a weapon to frighten and stampede the world into supporting demands for a quick settlement.

The Soviet Union is insisting that the West no longer has any legal right to retain occupation troops in West Berlin. It said the same thing in 1948 before clamping down the blockade. It claimed then that the West surrendered its rights when it set up a separate administration in West Germany.

When Moscow ended the blockade in May 1949, the U.S.S.R. consented in effect to the continued Allied military presence in West Berlin. There was little else the Russians could do about it then.

Thereafter, the U.S.S.R. went through a period of internal political nervousness which continued until well after Stalin died in 1953. The Berlin situation remained relatively quiet.

However, in 1955 the Russians were on the move again, prodded by a Western decision to bring West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Moscow announced it had signed a treaty declaring the Red East German regime sovereign and "free to decide its own domestic and foreign policies."

The West warned that it held the Kremlin responsible for maintaining the four-power postwar arrangement agreed for Berlin.

Moscow countered that the East German regime had full jurisdiction over its territory, including communications between Berlin and West Germany. Berlin is 110 miles inside Communist territory. The Russians said then that the authority their military exercised was regarded as "only temporary."

This line now, suddenly, is repeated. The Russians said their military is confined—and "only temporarily"—to matters relating to movement of military supplies and personnel to Western Allied occupation garrisons, to manning the Soviet war memorial in the British sector, and to supplying guards for the war crimes prison at Spandau.

In effect, Moscow is saying again that a four-power command as such does not really exist. Once again by the word "temporarily" it hints it will eventually relinquish all military responsibilities, too, but it has not yet done so.

Boys Are Fined In Motor Case

Two Bowman's Addition area youths were given suspended 90-day sentences in Allegany County Jail Wednesday in Trial Magistrates Court when they were found guilty of taking a motor vehicles without the owner's consent.

Truman Edward Livingood, 16, and David Stevenson Hott, 17, also were fined $5 each plus costs on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a license by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

According to testimony at the hearing the youths had taken Livingood's father's car for a ride in the Bowman's Addition section early Friday morning.

The car stalled and they took another car parked along Valley Road and used this car to push the Livingood vehicle. While trying to get the car started the Livingood car was backed into the other car, causing some damage.

The boys fled, leaving the cars on the road. They were arrested later in the morning at their homes by State Trooper Richard Brown. They were released in the custody of their parents until the hearing.

The jail sentences were suspended by Magistrate Weatherholt on condition that the Hott youth obtain employment and make restitution for damage to the car, and that the Livingood boy return to school and also make restitution for damage.

Although alcoholism cannot be inherited, the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program says the presence of an alcoholic parent in a child's environment may sometimes produce emotional conflicts in the child which can cause him to be susceptible to alcoholism later in life.

Hampson-Shryock Wedding Saturday

The marriage of Miss Judith Ann Shryock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meridith C. Shryock, 22 Somerville Avenue to James Lee Hampson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Hampson, Gramlich Road, will be performed Saturday. The ceremony will be at 7:30 p. m. in Second Baptist Church by Rev. Marvin Simpson.

Members of the bridal party are Mrs. Robert DeLozier, matron of honor; Deborah Shryock, junior maid of honor; Miss Alicia Crews, Miss Mary Jane Adams, Miss Patricia Mitchell, bridesmaids; Joy Anderson, flower girl, David Yutzy, ring bearer; John DelaGrange, best man; Gary Hampson, Edward Weaver and Larry Fresh, ushers.

Friends and relatives will be welcome to attend the ceremony and reception following.

Schedules Discussed

Plans to increase membership and devote one day's work each week for the church were discussed at a meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Carrie Gephart. Mrs. Orville Gilkey and Mrs. Connell Chaney were named to arrange the work schedule, which will begin October 1. Announcement was made that the truck from New Windsor will be here September 6. Contributions will be picked up at First Presbyterian Church or at Living Stone Church.

When Tunisia became independent in 1956, French settlers held one million acres of Tunisia's richest land. An initial take-over of nearly half a million acres occurred in 1957. Last year the Tunisian government bought 250,000 acres more from French holders.

Mine Project Is Urged

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Mines Director Leonard J. Timms Thursday recommended that abandoned mines be filled immediately to prevent explosions similar to the one that claimed two lives at Grant Town July 16.

The recommendation followed formal inquiries July 17 and Aug. 6 into the explosion at the abandoned coal mine owned by United Gas and Fuel Associates.

Evidence presented at the hearings indicated that the explosion was caused when a cutting torch used in dismantling the mine ignited methane gas or coal dust seeping from the mine shaft.

Gay W. Ice, 41, and Robert L. Jones, 36, who were standing on the shaft's concrete cover at the time of the explosion fell to their deaths.

If abandoned mines cannot be filled, Timms further recommended that "bleeder" pipes, not less than 10 feet long, be installed above the shaft cover so that escaping gasses could not come in contact with other combustible materials.

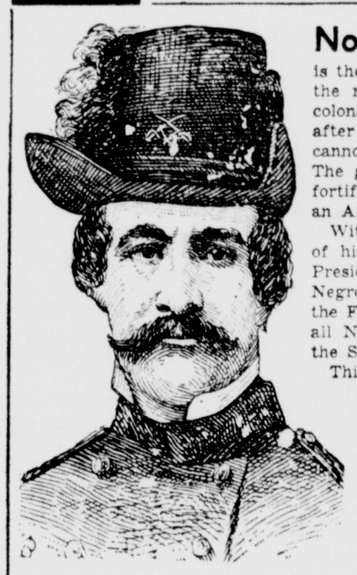
In addition, Timms urged that trained rescue personnel be on hand when mine dismantling operations are in progress.

To Entertain Elk Visitors

Wives of the local Elks will entertain the women accompanying their husbands to the Elks convention at a buffet luncheon. It will be held tomorrow in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland hotel. Lunch will be served at 11:15, 12:15 and 1:15.

Mrs. Virginia Mackert is chairman of arrangements. Her committee consists of Mrs. Joan Eshelman, Mrs. Jean Raupach, Mrs. Nancy Williams and Mrs. Billie Zeller.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK
The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures



No. 158 "We fought until the outer wall of two casements was entirely down. . . . Fort Pulaski is the first work that has ever been exposed to the fire of the newly invented rifled cannon," Charles L. Olmstead, colonel, 1st Georgia Volunteer Regiment, wrote to his wife after the fort's fall in April 1862. He referred to the rifled cannon Adm. John H. Dahlgren had invented for the Navy. The guns were on Tybee Island and capture of the Rebel fortification of the sea approach to Savannah was purely an Army operation, a victory for Maj. Gen. David Hunter.

Within 48 hours after Hunter reported this new capture of his to Washington, he made trouble for himself with President Lincoln. Hunter issued an order liberating all Negro slaves who had fallen into the hands of the Army in the Fort Pulaski area. On May 9, he extended the order to all Negro slaves within his command, the Department of the South.

This order aroused a political furor in Washington. President Lincoln had not as yet been pressed into issuing an emancipation proclamation; he was not to reach that point until Sept. 22, 1862. On May 19, he cancelled Hunter's emancipation order with the explanation the general had exceeded his authority.

Most interesting aspect of Hunter's order was that he knew what had happened to his predecessor in the Western Department, John C. Fremont. In proclaiming martial law in Missouri in August 1861, Fremont declared the liberation of all slaves owned by persons who resisted the Union government. Lincoln had countermanded this emancipation.

Hunter might have assumed he knew the Lincoln mind. An Illinois native, he had made Lincoln's acquaintanceship before the latter's election and was one of the men invited by Lincoln to accompany him to the inauguration.

Hunter took another decisive step without prior knowledge of Lincoln: he authorized the enlistment of the first regiment of Southern Negroes for the Union Army. This time Congress upheld his course.

—CLARK KINNAIRD

David Hunter and official signature. Appointed from Illinois to West Point in his teens, he was graduated in 1822. He served in dragoons against Western Indians and in the Mexican War, and was a cavalry colonel in May 1861.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK
The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 159 "A talented but coarse and demagogic congressman from Massachusetts, when he lost his seat in 1874, he was so hated by his own party, as well as his opponents, that one Republican wired concerning the Democratic sweep, 'Butler defeated, everything else lost.'" — From "Profiles in Courage," by John F. Kennedy (Cardinal paperback).

Hatred of Benjamin Butler went back to 1862. He was not the only Union general the Confederate government had ordered to be hanged wherever captured. (A similar ukase had been issued against David Hunter after he instigated the first enlistment of Southern Negroes into Union regiments to fight the Rebels.) But Butler was the one Confederates denounced most savagely.

There was substance to accusations of murder, theft, blackmail, maltreatment of women, arson and lesser crimes leveled at Butler after his army became an occupation force in New Orleans. Commodore D. D. Porter, whose mortar boats accompanied Admiral Farragut's ships in effecting the capture of New Orleans, said, "God save me from such generals as Butler."

Initial action of Butler's to outrage the Confederates was his seizing William B. Mumford, trying him for treason, and hanging him publicly. Mumford had led a mob which tore down the Union colors raised over the old U. S. Mint by a detachment from Farragut's ships. Mumford's dragging of the "old rag of the United States" through the streets had been hailed in the New Orleans press. To Butler he was a menace to good order and safety. To the Confederates Mumford was a martyr. President Davis ordered Butler executed upon capture.

Master Plan Hearing Brings 75 Spectators

Objections Made To Certain Points

About 75 interested citizens of Allegany County attended a public hearing last night at the Court House to hear an explanation of a proposed master plan for the highways and roads of the county.

This hearing was arranged by the County Planning and Zoning Commission to consider the plan as drawn up by Julian Tarrant, Richmond, Va., a representative of the planning firm of Ladislas Segoe and Associates of Cincinnati, Ohio.

James A. Perrin, vice chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, presided at the hearing. Two other members, Carl O. Belt of Narrows Park and Ralph Race of Frostburg, attended. Two other members, Richard Winer, the chairman, and County Commissioner John T. Mason, were absent.

Detailed Explanation

Mr. Tarrent began the hearing with a detailed explanation of the master plan and how it was determined. He noted that it is anticipated that by the year 1975 that Allegany County will have 50,000 motor vehicles, three times as many as today. He showed a diagram which emphasized the roads in the county which are considered adequate, those which are considered average and those deemed sub-standard.

The planning consultant said that it is readily agreed that Allegany County does not have as good roads as most counties in Maryland.

After Mr. Tarrant completed his explanation, Mr. Perrin asked for questions from the audience. In general they followed two types, those from home owners who did not want their areas changed drastically, and from business operators who do not want traffic funneled away from their enterprises.

For instance, two residents of Weires Avenue spoke in opposition to a plan which would extend State Route 35 south from Corriganville along Cash Valley Road and then westerly to take in part of Weires Avenue before reaching present U.S. Route 40 in the neighborhood of the State Police barracks.

The Weires Avenue spokesmen were Donald E. Marang and Kendrick Hodgdon. They emphasized that their street, which extends about four blocks, is strictly residential. They said that 119 children live along its four blocks.

Oppose Rerouting

Spokehmen who seemed to oppose the plan for rerouting U. S. Route 40 south of its present location west of LaVale included George Waingold, rental agent for the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center; Hugh Kifer, who operates a liquor store across the highway from the shopping center; Clyde Vogtman, operator of the Continental Motel, and a Mrs. Klavuhn, who operates a service station in the same area.

County Commissioner John J. Rowan attended the hearing and volunteered a number of comments about the plans for future developments, especially Route 40. He predicted a specific development of interest to the entire area.

Mr. Race attempted to put the hearing into perspective when he explained the purpose of a master plan. The basic idea is to reconcile differences among people who want residential development, those who seek new industry and those with commercial interests.

Mr. Perrin said the commission will give the proposed master plan more thorough study at a subsequent meeting before deciding whether to recommend it in whole or in part to the Board of County Commissioners.

New Delegates Take Oath

Fred H. Anderson and J. Glenn Beall Jr. receive the oath of office as new Republican delegates from Allegany County from Del. Perry O. Wilkinson, right, Prince Georges County Democrat who is Speaker of the House of Delegates. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Beall also were present for the ceremony. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Beall were appointed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes on recommendation of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee to fill the unexpired terms of Dels. Fred B. Driscoll and Estel C. Kelley, who died on successive days in July. The new delegates are candidates in the November general election, and must win if they are to serve in a regular legislative session.

Judge Affirms Frostburg On Permit Action

Had Authority To Prevent Work

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris filed a seven-page opinion and order in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday denying an application for writ of mandamus to Roy Lawrence Warn and Virginia Lee Warn in a case against the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg.

In his opinion, Judge Harris concluded that the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg did not act in an unreasonable, prejudicial and discriminatory manner in refusing a building permit to the Warns for the Hen House restaurant which they operate at 65 Bowery Street in Frostburg.

On June 21, Mrs. Warn filed an application with the city clerk of Frostburg for a building permit for an addition to the Hen House, which she said was to be used for storage purposes. When she returned home, she called the city clerk and told him that the purpose of the proposed building was for take-out orders for hotdogs and hamburgers.

Six days later, the Frostburg police chief advised the Warns that they should cease further construction until the Mayor and Council had acted on the building permit application.

On July 9, after a hearing, the Mayor and Council denied the building permit.

Judge Harris noted in his opinion that Mayor Joseph James stated that he was opposed to the permit because he had received complaints of disorder in the place of business and he thought it would deflate the value of the property in the area and would have an adverse effect on the children. He stated that it would be against the general welfare of the Town of Frostburg. The councilmen had similar objections to granting the permit.

Frostburg does not have a zoning ordinance, Judge Harris noted in his opinion.

When testimony in this case was heard August 14, the Warns were represented by Attorney Miller Bowen. John C. Sullivan represented the Town of Frostburg.

Fatal Accident Trial Tuesday In Oakland

Robert S. Bowser, of Eckhart, who was the driver of an auto involved in a fatal accident last December in Garrett County, will be given a hearing Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney in Oakland.

Killed in the accident was Bernard D. Byrnes, 39, also of Eckhart, who died on December 11 the day after the accident occurred on the New Germany Road about six miles from Grantsville.

Bowser, who posted $500 bond pending the hearing, is charged with manslaughter by automobile and reckless driving, authorities said.

Zoning Board Will Permit Jack Business

Three Conditions Must Be Met

The Allegany County Board of Appeals has filed an opinion giving A. W. Chaney of Oldtown permission to operate a hydraulic jack-repair service on Mexico Farms Road about 300 feet west of State Route 51, the Oldtown Road, provided that three specific conditions are met.

The three conditions enumerated in the order signed by Everett G. Partridge, chairman of the board, are as follows:

1. That the hydraulic jack repair business be confined to the interior of the building with no storing of parts, tools or equipment outside.

2. That the property not be used for the storing of junk, automotive parts or objectionable trash of any kind.

3. That the outside toilet closest to the R. H. Whetsel residence be dismantled and the excavation properly filled.

The three-man board held a hearing on the application of Mr. Chaney on July 12. At that time a number of persons living nearby protested. They contended that the deeds under which they acquired their property prohibits them from using their property for business purposes.

Mr. Chaney has been using the premises the past three years for the sale of coal. Residents complained at the July 12 hearing that he allowed pieces of junk to accumulate on the premises.

Area Elks Open Anniversary Convention

Mayor Welcomes Delegates To City

Delegates to the 42d annual convention of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association were welcomed to Cumberland yesterday by Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Present at the welcoming ceremony held on the steps of City Hall were Street Commissioner Lucille Roeder and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Mayor Chaney thanked the association for selecting Cumberland as the site of its convention for the second time in four years.

He said it was an honor to have the association as a part of the city and that Cumberland was proud of the record it has made here.

Mayor Chaney pledged that city officials stand ready to make the association's stay here enjoyable and invited delegates to visit the area's historical attractions and enjoy its scenic beauty.

Registration Begins

Harry S. Tracy, general chairman said last night about 550 Elks and their wives had registered for the convention. About 1,000 persons are expected to attend.

Registration will continue at 10 a. m. today at which time a regular association business meeting will be held in the ballroom.

At noon today the ladies will entertain in the Anniversary Cotillion Room at the Elks Home on South Centre Street.

A golf tournament is scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club and at 1:30 p. m. Lee A. Donaldson, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will arrive at the local club.

At 2 p. m. entertainment will begin in the Gay Nineties Gaslight Lounge with Ann Moore at the organ. At the same time a style show "Star in Crepe' will be held in the Anniversary Cotillion Room.

Miss Maryland To Attend

The publicity committee will meet at 4 p. m. in the ballroom. Cocktails preceding the grand exalted ruler's banquet at 6 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club will be served at the Elks Home at 5:30 p. m.

Miss Beverly Ann Smith, Baltimore, who was chosen as "Miss Maryland" in Salisbury last month, will be a guest of the association tonight.

Ronald Adams Winner In Tractor Competition

Ronald Adams, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Adams, Mill Road, won the annual 4-H tractor operators' contest yesterday afternoon at the Cumberland Fair.

Young Adams, who will be a senior at Fort Hill High School next month, gained the right to represent Allegany County at the Timonium State Fair next Friday by defeating eight other boys in yesterday's competition at Fairgo. He also wins a $15 premium.

RONALD ADAMS

Other winners, as anounced by Assistant County Agent Charles Babich, are Wesley Gordon, RFD 1, Flintstone, $12 second; James Robison, Mt. Savage, $10 third; Larry Silber, RFD 4, $8 fourth; James Cosgrove, RFD 3, $5 fifth; George Raines, RFD 2, Flintstone, $5 sixth; Donald Irons, Spring Gap, $5 seventh; Larry Robey, Spring Gap, $5 eighth, and James Paul, Mt. Savage, ninth.

Ronald, who lives on a 100-acre farm just off Bedford Road, entered the tractor competition several years ago but did not place among the winners.

Church Will Break Ground

A grounbreaking ceremony for a new McKendree Methodist Church on Paca Street just west of Smallwood Street will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, according to Rev. C. Edward Johnson, pastor.

The Methodist Men of the church are in charge of arrangements for the service Sunday. George Ashby is president and Raymond Bartlett secretary of the Methodist Men.

Members of McKendree Methodist Church have been worshiping in the Church of God on South Lee Street since they sold their former church to Centre Street Methodist Church. They will walk from the Church of God to the new church site for the groundbreaking ceremony.

Mrs. Johnson directs the choir which will sing for the groundbreaking. Earle L. Bracey is the lay leader of the congregation.

The church will be built by Russell G. Robeson, local contractor. Construction is not expected to start until after September 1.

ICC Hearing On Speedliner Scheduled Here

B&O Wants To Abandon Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday set a hearing for Oct. 1 on an application of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for authority to discontinue two daily passenger trains linking Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh.

The hearing will open in Washington, then move to Cumberland for an Oct. 4 session and to Pittsburgh for an Oct. 5 session.

The hearing will be conducted by ICC Examiner Elden J. Miller. The trains involved are No. 21, which leaves Baltimore at 9:35 a.m. (EST), arrives in Washington at 10:15 a.m. and Pittsburgh at 4:40 p.m., and No. 22 which leaves Pittsburgh at 11:30 a.m., arrives in Washington at 6 p.m. and Baltimore at 6:40 p. m.

The trains are called the daylight Speedliners.

The railroad has proposed to substitute another daily train on the Washington-Baltimore leg of the run. This would leave Washington at 6 p.m. and arrive in Baltimore at 6:40 p.m.

The Cumberland hearing will be held at the Court House and the Pittsburgh hearing at the Hilton Hotel.

Larry Patton Is Ordered Extradited

Governor J. Millard Tawes granted extradition Wednesday of four persons wanted in other states on criminal charges.

Among them is Larry Patton, who has been held in the Allegany County jail for Mineral County (W. Va.) authorities who want him in connection with a breaking and entering.

Some time ago Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey who refused a motion for the release of Patton, ordered him committed to the county jail to await the extradition hearing by the governor.

On June 18 the defendant was tried for breach of parole before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, was given a two-year suspended sentence and was placed under supervision of James Lewis, state parole and probation officer, under the same probation conditions.

Under a writ of detainer from West Virginia prior to the hearing, Patton was detained in the county jail.

He refused to waive extradition to West Virginia and requested a hearing before the governor of Maryland.

Three Calves Born At Local Fair

The livestock population at the Cumberland Fair being held this week has increased by three calves since the Fair opened on Monday.

Tuesday night a red and white speckled Ayrshire calf was born to "Heather," owned by William I. Shank and Sons of Hagerstown, who also had two calves born last week at the Washington County Fair.

A Guernsey calf was born Tuesday night to a cow owned by A. A. McCauley and Sons of Hagerstown, and on Monday evening a Jersey calf was born to a cow owned by Braden King of Boonsboro.

Driver Hurt In Crash At Wiley Ford

Fred B. Borror, 73, of RD 1, Ridgeley, was hospitalized yesterday with injuries sustained when two pickup trucks collided on West Virginia Route 28 at Johnson's Restaurant in Wiley Ford.

Mr. Borror, driver of one of the trucks, was admitted to Memorial Hospital where his condition last night was reported as "fair."

Attaches said the man sustained scalp lacerations and was admitted for observation and X-rays of his head today.

The other truck driver, Ira D. Alkire, 47, of Hendricks, W. Va., in Tucker County, apparently was unhurt in the collision at 3:55 p.m.

Trooper Donald L. Elmore from the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police, said Borror was driving north on Route 28 and was attempting a left turn into the restaurant parking lot when Alkire traveling south collided with the Borror truck.

The injured man was taken to the local hospital in McDonald's ambulance. No charges have been preferred pending a full investigation, said Trooper Elmore.

Tiger To Open Plant In Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Plans were announced Thursday to open a tractor production plant here.

The Tiger Tractor Co. of Keyser, W. Va., leased a 57,000-square-foot dockside building from Gulf Shipyard Industrial Park to produce tractors, with operation expected to begin within 60 days.

The lease for the building is for 10 years at a total rent of $380,000.

President Frederick Pittera of Tiger Tractor said plans call for production of about 25,000 tractors a year at the plant. He said the company will employ about 50 workers to start and progress to 200 within six or seven months.

According to Pittera the firm now has commitments to produce 9, 10 and 12.5 horsepower tractors for shipment to the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Spain, Angola, Argentina, Paraguay, The Philippines and India.

The total commitment is for 14,000 tractors, he said.

He said annual sales were expected to total $25 million, with the annual payroll of the mobile facility at about $1 million.

Wallet, $80 Stolen Here

City police yesterday received a report of the theft of a ladies wallet containing about $80 in cash, cards, operator's license, pictures etc. and also a case of vandalism.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van reported that Mrs. James Beacham, 744 National Highway, was in People's Drug Store at the prescription counter when she laid her pocketbook down.

It was apparently opened at the time and someone snatched the wallet with money and other items. She said she saw no one on either side of her at the time.

Van also reported that someone shot an air rifle pellet through the rear glass of a station wagon belonging to Luther Cox, 518 Maryland Avenue while it was parked in front of his house. The entire window was shattered, he said.

Audit Of City Books Is Started

The annual audit of the financial records of the City of Cumberland for the fiscal year which ended June 30 is being made, according to Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

The audit is being conducted at City Hall by John W. Rollins Jr. and William Torkington, local certified public accountants.
